Head of Family and His Wife, Both Injured, Are Taken Out by Son—He and She Succumb Later at Hospital.

Two children and their parents were burned to death in an explosion of kerosene, used in a heating stove, at their home, 3619 Cleaves avenue, Lemay, at 5:45 o'clock this morning.

Irene Shelton, 8 years old, and Virginia, 6, were trapped in a bedroom of the three-room frame house, and died in the flames. The mother, Mrs. Edna Shelton, 36, died of burns at St. Anthony's Hospital at noon. Ausby Shelton, husband and father, who was rescued by a son, George, died a few hours after his wife. Five other persons in the home escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton were eating breakfast in the kitchen when George Shelton, a 20-year-old quarry worker, and his wife and baby, the son and his family live in a cottage at the rear of the parent home.

Leaves Table to Start Fire. The elder Shelton, a machine operator at a cement plant, complained that the house was chilly and left the table to start a fire in a heating stove in the bedroom. George Shelton told a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"We heard him at the stove, and then there was an explosion and the bedroom was in flames," the son said. "My mother ran in the room and, when I started to follow, she and my father crashed against the door, slamming it. They pressed against the closed door and I had to push hard, throwing both of them to the floor, to open it." George Shelton rushed his father and dragged him through the kitchen and outside, and then returned for his mother, suffering a burn on the right hand in the rescue. The flames prevented him from reaching his mother, who was lying on the floor. He had poured kerosene in the stove to kindle the fire.

Youth Jumps Out Window. Another son, Edward, 18, awoke and escaped by jumping out a window after receiving a burn on the leg. Mrs. George Shelton ran outside with her baby, Mary Lee Shelton, 13, also escaped. John, 3, the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Ausby Shelton, was outside when the explosion occurred.

Neighbors called the Dewey Heights Volunteer Fire Department and ambulances. The firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the kitchen and the third room of the house. The charred bodies of the girls, clasped in an embrace when found, were taken to the Fiedler Undertaking establishment, 744 Lemay Ferry road.

DEATH CHAIR TOO DANGEROUS TO OPERATE, TWO GET RESPIRE

60 Days More of Life for Condemned Men Because of Obsolete Instrument.

BOSTON, May 3 (AP).—An official report that the electric chair in Massachusetts State prison was obsolete that it might kill the intended victims, today gave two convicted murderers two additional months to live.

The State Executive Council unanimously approved recommendations of State Correction Commissioner Arthur T. Lyons and Gov. Leverett Saltonstall that respite be granted until the first week in July to Walter St. Sauveur and Wallace Green, who were sentenced to die next week for the robbery killing of a storekeeper in suburban Somerville.

Robert Elliott, official executioner for several states, recently wrote to Massachusetts officials, after officiating at an execution here last October, that the chair was dangerous and that he "didn't breathe easily until after it was over."

A member of the Governor's staff said there was about a 50-50 chance that powerful voltage escaping from a faulty switch would kill everyone in the death chamber.

DOCTOR ARRESTED IN INVESTIGATION OF MURDER RING

Philadelphia Physician's Medicines Seized for Checking Against Story Told by Morris Bolber.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3 (AP).—Detectives arrested a Philadelphia physician today on a charge of accessory to murder in the investigation of a ring that killed to collect insurance. The warrant named him as Dr. Horace D. Perlman.

Police Captain James Kelly said all the doctor's medicines and office records had been seized for checking against information given police by Morris Bolber, held as one of the leaders in the ring. Bolber surrendered Monday and has been charged with murder.

Kelly earlier described a scheme of the ring's "master mind" to kill not only men on whom they could collect insurance, but also widows who could be witnesses.

Bought "Magic Potion." He quoted two confessed woman killers as saying they took small doses of poison they gave their husbands in the belief it was a "magic potion" and would harm only those "bewitched."

The poison, investigators have said, was peddled by the ring as "witch's brew" and sold for a high price.

"It was diabolically ingenious, as the two women and others of the principals told the story in their confessions," Kelly said. "When a woman purchased the 'witch's brew' she was told the charms would not work on her husband unless she took some of the liquid herself."

"Emphasis was placed on the magic properties of the fluid. A number of bottles would be given to the women, who paid $300 for the lot. They were instructed to take a teaspoonful of each bottle themselves, give the rest to their husbands."

Slow Death for Widows. "Apparently the master minds figured that the husbands would die quickly, the wives live to collect the insurance, but die of the slowly cumulative effects of the poison—after they paid the ring its percentage."

Meanwhile, with 14 persons already in custody and approximately 35 known deaths recorded by investigators, District Attorney Charles F. Kelly said Bolber had "thrown new light on many murders of which we had no knowledge, not only in Philadelphia, but in other states as well."

He said a detective had been sent to California in connection with the investigation, but refused further information other than that "every one (of the murders) was committed to collect insurance."

Detectives still are seeking Mrs. Rose Carina, whom they describe as a "professional widow" and a leader in the ring.

PENDERGAST BLOC CONTINUES LOSING
POLICE BILL FIGHT

But Coalition Supporting Governor Wins Today Even More Decisively Than Yesterday.

TIME LIMIT PLAN

Republican Minority Voting Solidly With Anti-Machine Democrats Against Amendments.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—The Kansas City Pendergast group in the House resumed today its fight on Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's anti-crime State police bill for Kansas City, after suffering a series of decisive defeats yesterday afternoon. On the first test today its defeat was even more decisive than on the amendments presented yesterday in an effort to wreck the bill.

With the Republican minority voting solidly with the Governor's supporters on the Democratic side, the bill saved from sabotage time after time, a majority of the Democrats going with the machine politicians.

Beaten yesterday on its most damaging amendment, which would have submitted the bill to a vote of Kansas City under control of the existing police force and machine politicians, the Pendergast men came back today with a proposal to limit the life of the State-controlled police force, proposed in the bill, to Dec. 1, 1943, when it would automatically return to the municipal control.

A similar amendment presented late yesterday was defeated by a vote of 61 for to 75 against. The defeat of the amendment today being 55 for to 88 against.

Another Setback, 56-64. After the rejection of this amendment, the Kansas City group offered another to require that the present police department, which has been shown by a mass of evidence, centered its efforts on the retention of corrupt influence, be retained, officers and all under the new law. Representative Edgar J. Keating of Kansas City, a Pendergast man, offered the amendment which was defeated by a vote of 54 to 64.

Several other unimportant amendments were offered and the House adjourned for the noon recess.

The political machine, facing virtual certain defeat when a vote on the perfection of the bill was reached, centered its efforts on crippling amendments, chief of which was the one to submit the bill to a vote in Kansas City before it became effective. It was recognized as an attempt to kill the effectiveness of the bill.

Representative Suggert Edwards of Mexico and J. A. Gray of Atchison County, the latter a Republican, said such an election would be held while the present police force was in control of the city, and that an honest election would be impossible.

Real Test on Amendment. Representative William R. Smart of Kansas City, also a Pendergast man, and John D. Taylor of Keyesville supported Keating in the debate, and Representatives William B. Weakley of Pike County, in charge of the bill, and G. Purd Hays of Christian County joined Edwards and Gray in vigorous opposition to it.

Have charged that Keating's only purp in offering the amendment is to kill the bill, and it was recognized that the vote on the amendment would be the actual test, rather than the vote on perfection, which would come later.

Consequently the lineup of members on the amendment afforded the real evidence of those who supported the machine and those who supported the Governor in his campaign to clean up crime and vice in Kansas City.

When the roll call was taken, the 49 Republicans who were present, with the exception of four, refrained from voting, making something of a "grandstand" play, and then spectacularly directed attention to the fact that they held the balance of power and saved the bill by voting solidly against the amendment when there was a call of the absentees.

Defeat of Amendment. With only the Democrats and four Republicans voting on the first call, the amendment was shown to have carried by a vote of 44 for to 37 against. Leaving out the four Republicans, the count of the 77 Democrats voting was 44 for and 33 against. With 49 Republicans voting, the amendment was defeated by a vote of 46 for and 84 against.

Following Keating's defeat, Representative V. E. Phillips of Kansas City offered another amendment.

CENTRAL STATES HIRED CASEY TO
'HOLD' O'MALLEY

Concern Paid Senator and St. Louis Lawyer $8944; Wanted to Appease State Insurance Chief.

ITS ASSET FIGURES
FINALLY PREVAILED

Company Wished to Avert Receivership It Didn't Consider Justified; License Refused, Restored.

Backed into a corner by R. Emmet O'Malley when he was State Superintendent of Insurance, the management of the Central States Life Insurance Co., in the autumn of 1934, hired State Senator Michael E. Casey, a lieutenant of Boss Tom Pendergast and a member of the Casey-Kinney-Brogan triumvirate which rules the Senate, in an effort to "hold off" O'Malley, the Post-Dispatch was informed today.

Employment of Casey, an attorney, along with Anthony A. Buford of St. Louis, lawyer and Democratic lobbyist, was for the avowed purpose of representing the company in its dealings with O'Malley and resulted in a total payment of $8944 to the pair in a little more than a year. This is shown in annual reports of the company, filed with the Insurance Department.

The company paid $6319 to Casey from October, 1934, to a time early in 1938 when his employment was ended in a reorganization of the management, sought by O'Malley, which ousted the late George Graham as president and Harvey H. Sims as vice-president. Buford received $2625 as his pay.

Two Companies Taken Over. By the fall of 1934 O'Malley already had taken over in receivership the other two large St. Louis life insurance companies chartered in Missouri, the Continental and the Missouri State Life.

While the dispute over assets was smoldering, O'Malley demanded that the management, notably Graham and Sims, take substantial salary cuts. Later, after O'Malley, in March, 1935, refused to renew the company's license to do business in Missouri, the controversy flared into an exchange of scorching letters between Graham and the Insurance Superintendent.

Meanwhile, the company was permitted to continue its business and the license was restored in June, 1937. That was during the presidency of Alphonse L. McCormack, who became a director and vice president in the 1936 changes. O'Malley had suggested him as a director. As president of Central States for a year, McCormack received a salary of $12,000.

"Improved Conditions." In announcing the restoration, O'Malley said the total valuation claimed by the company, about $21,000,000, had been accepted "in view of improved conditions."

O'Malley told a Post-Dispatch reporter about Feb. 3, 1938, that he believed a receivership for the Central States was imminent.

RUSSIA REVEALS

Official Moscow News Agency Says Action Is at Veteran Diplomats' Request—Mozotov to Succeed Him in Post.

Previously Conference May 15 at Geneva Had Been Announced With Soviet, Britain and France Taking Part.

MOSCOW, May 3 (AP).—Tass (official Soviet news agency) today announced Maxim Litvinov, the Soviet Union's veteran Foreign Affairs Commissar, had been "released" from his post.

V. Y. Molotov, chairman of the Council of the People's Commissars—equivalent to Premier, was appointed to hold the Foreign Affairs post in addition to his previous position.

Tass said Presidium of the Supreme Soviet "released Litvinov upon the latter's request."

The League of Nations Council is meeting there then.

It was stated that Maxim Litvinov of Russia, Georges Bonnet of France and Viscount Halifax of Britain had agreed to take the opportunity for negotiations to end the present deadlock over the extent of the alliance. (This disclosure was made before the announcement in Moscow that Litvinov had been "released" as foreign commissar.)

The Cabinet early today was reported to have rejected Russia's proposal for a British-French-Russian guarantee to all Baltic and Black Sea states.

The Cabinet was reported, however, to have decided to urge Russia to "reinsure" British-French commitments to Poland and Rumania after Poland told Britain she preferred to make a separate agreement with Russia.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that the "British" Government would be ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German Government.

He Denies Encirclement. Denying that there was any ground for German charges that the Government had adopted a policy of "encircling Germany," Chamberlain said:

"What President Roosevelt proposed (in his April 14 peace appeal) and Herr Hitler offered (in his April 23 speech) was an exchange of assurances of non-aggression rather than a guarantee on a reciprocal basis, such as was recently given by the British Government to Poland."

The British Government is certainly ready to consider proposals for the exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German Government."

ROOSEVELT SIGNS
FOR ARMY, NAVY

Authorizes Purchase of Contracts for $110,000,000 in Tanks, Guns, Gas Masks, Ammunition.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed a bill today providing $153,000,000 immediately in appropriations and contract authorizations for "critical" defense items for the army, sea-coast defense and fleet expansion.

The bill will let the army buy and contract for $110,000,000 of tanks, anti-tank guns, semi-automatic rifles, gas masks, anti-aircraft guns, artillery and ammunition.

The Navy's ship construction program gets $39,500,000, while $8,330,000 is included in appropriations and contract authorizations for sea-coast defenses of the continental United States, Panama Canal Zone and insular possessions.

Other Items in Bill. Relatively small sums to meet unforeseen expenses of additional Government agencies brought the total of appropriations in the bill up to $162,319,059, while contract authorizations aggregated $46,801,000.

Among the smaller items in the bill were: $10,000,000 for grants to states for administration of unemployment compensation laws; $4,000,000 for the Parker power project in Arizona to continue construction of a power plant, transmission lines, substations and appurtenant works; $5,000,000 for administration of the 1937 sugar control act; and $450,000 for added personnel expenses of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The House Naval Committee recommended, meanwhile, legislation to authorize expenditure of $6,660,000 for complete modernization of five battleships. The ships involved are the Tennessee, California, Colorado, Maryland and West Virginia.

Enlistment Lengthened. In another move to strengthen the nation's defense system, the navy ordered first enlistments lengthened from four to six years.

The order, effective July 1—the date the navy starts enlisting an additional 5000 men—will assure greater permanency of personnel, officials explained. The navy announced that in future no youth under 18 would be enlisted, regardless of parental consent.

Officials said the four-year original enlistment, in effect for several decades, was the shortest of any major naval force. Sailors in other navies enlist for from five to seven years.

The 5000-man increase in personnel was ordered to man new warships.

JOINT REPLY TO BERLIN EXPECTED

Nazis Trying to Display Peaceful Intentions but at Same Time Isolate Poland—They Already Count on Hungary's Help

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
BERLIN, May 3 (AP).—Chancellor Hitler today sought to form a neutral bloc of at least six nations extending across Northern Europe.

He offered identical non-aggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, made similar approaches to Latvia and Estonia, and there were reasons to believe that proposals of like nature had been submitted to a number of other European countries.

Lithuania was not included in the Reichsfuehrer's proposed combination because its relations to Germany are regulated by a separate treaty which contains non-aggression pledges.

The Government agreed to proposals of the Swedish and Finnish governments for fortification of the southern group of the Aaland Islands, but attached a condition of neutrality by Sweden and Finland in the event of "possible warfare entanglements" involving the "Baltic Sea area." The Aaland Islands dominate the entrance to Bothnia Gulf, northern extension of the Baltic. The Islands have autonomy under the Finnish Government.

Aims to Isolate Poland. One object of this diplomatic activity is to isolate Poland. Hitler already has assured that Hungary has cast its lot with Germany, even to the extent of forsaking a historic friendship with Poland, as a consequence of the Berlin visit of the Hungarian Premier and Foreign Minister last week.

Another objective of the present maneuver is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the British-French system of alliances.

A third object is said to be to show that the Nazi Government is animated only by peaceful intentions.

Hopes were high in German quarters, meanwhile, that Poland would have to come to terms acceptable to Germany.

Papers printed at midday carried reports from England and France indicating that the British and French publics were criticizing the Polish press for exaggerated demands for territory now German.

Light on Hungary's Stand. From a man in a position to know what Hitler and the Hungarian Premier and Foreign Minister—Count Teleky and Czakany—discussed, the writer ascertains that the Hungarian position is as follows:

Hungary and Poland have been traditional friends.

Sentimental scenes on the Polish Carpathian front last March, when Hungarian troops were battling their way across Carpatho-Ukraine (Czechoslovakia) to establish a common frontier between Poland and Hungary, were genuine.

But sentiment and tradition cannot stand in the way of the hard facts of politics. The fact is that the Poles have rejected an offer from Hitler which the Hungarian Government considers to have been magnanimous.

Hungary fears secure in its friendship with Germany.

ADMINISTRATION TO BACK PITTMAN NEUTRALITY BILL

Recommendation Which Officials Will Make to Be Considered Reply to Hitler's Speech.

HULL TO SUGGEST MINOR CHANGES

Legislation Would Include Arms Among Articles That Could Be Shipped on Cash and Carry Basis.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Administration recommendations for a new "cash and carry" neutrality law will constitute President Roosevelt's only reply to Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech, authoritative sources said today.

After discussion among Federal officials, it was learned, the President gave up the idea of making a "fireside chat" or issuing a statement in rebuttal.

This was confirmed by Stephen Early, a White House secretary. Early was asked whether the President would go on the air or send a special message to Congress by way of counter-reply to Hitler. "Many have been urging the President say something, but I don't see it," Early said. "In other words, when you get a situation that seems to be a little better balanced, why tip the scales?" Secretary of State Hull, however, is preparing an outline of administration views on American neutrality to be made before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee next Monday or Tuesday.

Hull for Pittman Bill. Reliable sources said Hull would support the basis of the Pittman neutrality bill, which would extend the "cash and carry" principle so as to cover sale of arms and munitions to warring nations.

This would be in the nature of a reply to Hitler, officials added, because it would make American arms available to Great Britain and France, which presumably would control the seas in a European war and would have the cash to pay for supplies. At present armshipments are automatically forbidden the moment the President invokes the neutrality law.

The "cash and carry" provision, which embraces only articles to be enumerated by the President, expired at midnight Monday, Senator Pittman (Dem., Nev.) would reinstate this section, as the foundation of his bill.

Secretary Hull will suggest, however, some modifications which would give the President a little more discretion than the Pittman bill allows.

Would Delay Action. One point State Department officials would like to change is Pittman's clause making the neutrality law applicable within 30 days after the outbreak of hostilities. This, they believe, would force the President's hand. It would have required him, for instance, to have invoked the Neutrality Act in the Chinese-Japanese war. This has never been done, on the ground that it would be disadvantageous to the United States.

The State Department also would like to see a clause to permit continuance of shipping to the outlying portions of a belligerent's territory, if not in danger zones. This would allow American shipping lines to continue to operate to outlying portions of the British Empire in the event of application of the Neutrality Act to the United Kingdom.

Flea for Pan-American Union. The Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice-president of Georgetown University, warned the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that if the United States attempts to aid one set of European nations against another by "methods short of war," it might not be able to prevent European intervention in South America.

"Can we have both advantages—that of preferred and inviolable position in South America, and at the same time offer resistance to a policy exercised overseas by European and Asiatic powers in pursuance of what they deem national welfare and national interests?" the Catholic educator asked.

Asserting that "it may be the better part of wisdom to admit that no satisfactory neutrality law is possible," Father Walsh said he placed "more hope and confidence" in a closer union with the 21 American nations.

GERMANY OFFERS NEUTRALITY PACT TO SIX NEIGHBORS

Poland and Germany, Hungary is ready to side with Germany. Meanwhile, Hungary fervently hopes that Poland, through Foreign Minister Joseph Beck's speech to Parliament Friday, will prove "reasonable." It has reason to believe that Premier Mussolini is urging moderation upon both Poland and Germany.

As to Slovakia, the Hungarian dream of seeing it incorporated in a greater Hungary still persists but at present difficulties of realizing it are so great that it is the part of wisdom not to press it.

Hitler Took Initiative. Hitler himself apparently took the initiative in the offers to the Scandinavian nations (Sweden, Denmark and Norway).

Identical notes offering non-aggression pacts were delivered to the ministers of the Scandinavian countries, it was said, and the envoys immediately forwarded the notes to their governments.

Scandinavian diplomatic quarters in Berlin took it for granted that the foreign ministers of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden would formulate a joint reply to the proposal of non-aggression pacts.

It was known that Scandinavian diplomats accredited to Berlin had been in close communication with each other.

In this connection it was recalled that the Scandinavian countries, even as far back as the World War, have acted in unison on all matters affecting them jointly.

A Difficult Position. The chances for success of Hitler's move could not yet be foretold.

Generally speaking, as one diplomat pointed out, any small nation is glad to have its inviolability guaranteed by formidable neighbor.

For small nations there is a big proviso, however—namely their aversion to obligations of a nature which would restrict severely their independence of action in event the big nation guarantor became involved with third Powers.

For instance, considerations of this kind prevented Denmark in 1934 from following the suggestion of Poland that it sign a pact with Germany similar to the 1934 10-year Polish-German non-aggression accord—an agreement which was denounced last Friday by Hitler.

"Phantasies About Danzig." The German propaganda machine emphasized to Warsaw today that suggestions in the opposition press there of a "Polish protectorate" over Danzig were regarded in Berlin as "insane."

Signs which appear when Germany has diplomatic trons in the fire turned up in profusion in the press, which prepared the public for whatever Polish Foreign Minister Beck may have to say when he addresses Parliament.

Newspapers were laden with editorials on "phantasies about Danzig."

They called the idea of a Polish protectorate over the one-time German port, now a free city for Poland's trade, "European well poisoning" and "catastrophic ignorance."

The provincial press contributed to the campaign, and long dispatches from Warsaw described what the Boersenszeitung called a "program of megalomania."

The general effect was an attempt to show that Poland intended to seek something it had no right to and that London and Paris were backing it.

Officially, there was no comment on the question which Hitler left hanging in mid-air in his Reichstag speech when he announced Poland had rejected his "one and only" offer of a solution—incorporation of Danzig as a free city within the Reich and Germany's demand for a military highway across the Polish corridor.

Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter cited Polish dispatches, which it said demanded not only a protectorate over Danzig, but also cession of Silesia and East Prussia as "pure Polish territories" in the German element is maintained artificially," and said: "We would not wonder at all if

POLES CRY 'DOWN' WITH HITLER' TO PARADING TROOPS

Warsaw Crowds Shout 'Hurrah for Polish Danzig!' and 'East Prussia Must Be Polish!'

WARSAW, May 3 (AP).—Cries of "Down with Hitler" mingled with cheers for Polish troops parading through Warsaw today in celebration of the 14th anniversary of Poland's first constitution.

There were other shouts of "Hurrah for Polish Danzig!" and "East Prussia must be Polish!"

East Prussia is a part of Germany separated from the Reich proper by the Polish Corridor. Both Germany and Poland have claims concerning the Free City of Danzig, at the head of the Corridor.

Crowds jammed sidewalks along the eight-mile route of the parade and threw flowers at the clattering cavalry units and rumbling mechanized army groups.

Defense preparations in the face of tense relations with Germany otherwise marked the anniversary. The traditional army parades of the occasion were on a smaller scale than usual because so many soldiers were on duty at frontier posts.

Instead of holding the usual reception at the presidential palace, President Ignace Moscicki was busy writing a decree permitting the extension of maneuvers for reserve officers from four to 10 weeks, and attending life duties.

Foreign Minister Joseph Beck completed the draft of the speech in which he will reply before the Sejm (Parliament) to Adolf Hitler's denunciation of the Polish non-aggression treaty, and deal with German demands for Danzig and a 15-mile-wide German road across the Polish Corridor.

The reply will be delivered in a 30-minute address at noon (5 a. m. St. Louis time) Friday. Arrangements were made to broadcast in several languages, including English, with a special transmission to the United States.

The press predicted Beck would answer Hitler's demands with a clear "No" but there was no indication he would join the opposition press in demanding a protectorate over the Free City of Danzig.

The Government has said it was willing to negotiate on facilities for Germany to cross the corridor with commercial traffic but not willing to surrender control of any of the strip. It also has expressed willingness to negotiate on the status of Danzig but insists on protection of Poland's rights there.

This also was the eighteenth anniversary of the uprising in the former German area of Upper Silesia which resulted in attachment to Poland of the district's industrial sections.

To determine the disposition of Upper Silesia under the Treaty of Versailles, a plebiscite was held in which a majority voted for continued union with Germany. Because of a rumor that only two districts of Upper Silesia were to be assigned to Poland, Adolf Hitler had led an armed force in occupation of Southeastern Upper Silesia. On Oct. 20, 1921, a League of Nations commission awarded the southeastern districts to Poland.

Today's ceremonies there were marked by a speech by the Polish-German problem to the rest of the Reich. Polish reaction consists of furious extravagance which does not even shrink from threats against East Prussia.

The official news agency, DNB, noted that "anti-German agitation of the Polish press and its demands for the annexation of the German city of Danzig and of German territory have led to very strong language in the German press."

Polish Press Comment. The Ilustrowany Kurjer of Krakow, close to Silesia, declared any real solution of the problem would mean cession of East Prussia to Poland by Germany because of East Prussia's Polish population and historical ties with this country.

In Kurjer Warszawski, Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, a former Premier, expressed confidence Great Britain and France would remain true to their Polish guarantees and the Polish nation's led an armed force in occupation of Southeastern Upper Silesia.

On the other hand Germany refused to grant transit visas to 600 Polish workmen bound from Silesia to France. They will have to leave from the Polish port of Gdynia.

Arrangements were completed for a Polish airline to London by way of Gdynia and Copenhagen. The present airline is by way of Berlin.

Poland's first constitution followed the revolution of May 3, 1794, after the first partition of the country in 1772 by Russia, Prussia and Austria. The constitution converted Poland into an hereditary limited monarchy with a form of parliamentary government, curtailed privileges of the gentry and brought mitigation of serfdom and Prussian invasions followed and the constitution was abolished as a "dangerous novelty."

SCANDINAVIAN NATIONS WEIGH REPLY TO HITLER

Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland Consult by Telephone on Making Joint Answer.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 3 (AP).—The foreign ministers of the Scandinavian countries discussed a common answer to Germany's effort to erect a neutral bloc of northern European states in a series of conversations by telephone today.

One usually reliable source said the foreign ministers of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland had intended to meet in Stockholm tomorrow but found difficulty in assembling so rapidly and decided to substitute the telephone talks on the sudden German offer of non-aggression pacts to them.

There was still a possibility of a face-to-face meeting before an answer to Germany is dispatched. The Danish Foreign Minister was engaged in the telephone conversations for three full hours during the day.

Comment was withheld by all the ministers, but a statement was expected after further negotiations. The Scandinavian countries long have proclaimed their aloofness from European blocs.

Responsible quarters here, however, stressed the difference between the German non-aggression offer and the type of guarantees which Britain and France offered Poland, Rumania and Greece. The same kind of French-British guarantees have been mentioned in connection with Scandinavia.

Denmark alone has a land frontier with the Reich. Norway's Foreign Minister, Halvdan Koht, in a speech only yesterday stressed the necessity for small states to maintain armed neutrality.

Along with its offer of non-aggression treaties Germany also told Sweden and Finland it had no objection to their proposed fortification of the Aaland Islands in the Baltic.

By a convention of 1920 the neutrality and demilitarization of the islands, which have local autonomy under Finnish sovereignty, were guaranteed by the Baltic Powers.

ed in by any governments prepared in good faith to renounce aggression?"

Chamberlain replied: "Certainly. They are guarantees against aggression and solely aggression, and with regard to their extension I have no doubt that the Government will be glad to consider any proposals for the extension."

Guarantees Not Reciprocal. R. A. Butler, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, said in answer to questions that Britain did not plan to make her guarantees of the independence of Rumania and Greece reciprocal.

Thus, although Britain has pledged her aid to these countries if their independence is threatened, she does not expect a similar pledge from them.

In response to an assertion that former Prime Minister Lord Baldwin had pledged the present national Government against conscription in 1935, Chamberlain replied in defense of the Government's April 26 decision to introduce conscription:

"At that time (in 1935) there was no intention to increase armaments. Since then the march of events has made necessary the most costly rearmament program ever undertaken by this country when not at war, and the same consideration compelled us to adopt the limited measure of compulsory training."

Halifax Recommendations. The Foreign Secretary, Viscount Halifax, after reviewing separate contacts with Poland, Rumania, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, was said to have recommended that Russia be notified that—

Britain cannot enter into a triple entente guarantee of these states when Poland and Rumania do not want a flat guarantee by Russia without provision for them to specify when it will operate; and Britain is eager to continue discussions with Russia with a view to eventual formation of a British-French-Russian alliance of mutual military aid.

Halifax was said to have recommended that Britain urge Russia to declare readiness to support the British-French guarantees to Poland and Rumania "if, as and when" such support is desired.

It was expected that these views would be sent today or tomorrow to Sir William Seeds, Ambassador in Moscow. They had not been given to the Russian Embassy early this afternoon.

Russian quarters here maintained that the position outlined was "not concrete enough." The Russians visualized a specific, detailed agreement by which the three great Powers would settle precisely how they are to help one another in the event of war.

Despite this difference of position, however, it was believed the conversations would not be allowed to break down.

The impression was growing that the German-Polish dispute over Danzig would be settled without resort to force, but the situation had to be examined by the Cabinet for all eventualities because of the British-French pledge to defend Poland's integrity if Poland considered itself threatened.

Press Comment on Danzig. Some thought the official British feeling on Danzig was reflected in editorials in the London press. The Daily Mail said that "the rival aspirations of Poland and Germany are not irreconcilable. It will be hard to convince the democracies that a solution safeguarding Polish commercial interests cannot be found by negotiation. It is well known that the French are not prepared to engage in a European conflict of this character. The British people take the same view."

The Daily Sketch said, "the reports suggested that Poland, lately threatened and alarmed, now feels strong enough in the support of Britain and France to pass to a truculent attitude. It cannot be said too soon or too firmly that such a transformation was never intended here. We have guaranteed defense of Poland against aggression... but our guarantee is not meant ever to exclude discussion of reasonable differences in a reasonable way."

Sources close to the Government, said no suggestions had been made to Warsaw to modify diplomatic moves with Germany.

The belief became stronger in official circles that Germany would not start a major conflict over Danzig, especially now that Britain has strengthened defenses and initiated a conscription measure.

The British Cabinet also considered how matters stood between Elze and Britain following Irish Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's declaration of resistance to any British conscription in Northern Ireland.

British Arranges $7,000,000 Loan to Rumanian Business.

BUCHAREST, May 3 (AP).—A British economic mission negotiating a new trade treaty with Rumania yesterday arranged details of a $15,000,000 ($7,000,000) loan to Rumanian industries and businesses.

The trade mission resumed its negotiations after a three-day pause during which British experts investigated enterprises seeking Rumanian capital.

It was announced that the chief of the mission, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, would depart for Athens Thursday and return in a few days to continue discussions here.

SENATE DEFEATS PLAN TO ABOLISH 3 COURTS

Rejects Proposed Constitutional Change Favored by Judicial Council.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—A proposed constitutional amendment, which would have abolished the three Courts of Appeals in Missouri and merged their jurisdiction with that of the State Supreme Court, and would have increased the membership of the Supreme Court from seven judges to 16, was defeated by the Senate today, 14 to 17, when called up for passage. The 14 yeas were four short of the required majority.

The joint and concurrent resolution proposing submission of the proposed constitutional amendment to the people of the State in the 1940 election was introduced by Senator Donaldson of Lebanon, at the instance of the Judicial Council of Missouri, a group appointed by the Supreme Court to make a continuing study of judicial and legal reforms. Donaldson said it was a step forward in court procedure, and would result in one appellate jurisdiction, with the harmonizing of higher court rulings.

Senator Allison of Rolla asserted the amendment would be a backward move. He said it would make a "veritable police court of the Supreme Court" because the appeals in misdemeanor cases, which now go to the St. Louis, Kansas City or Springfield Courts of Appeals, "would clutter up the Supreme Court docket" if the amendment were adopted.

PHYSICIAN FORCED TO OPERATE ON WOUNDED ROBBER

Taken to Apartment in Chicago After Tavern Holdup Fight—Man Killed, Two Policemen Shot.

WORKS WITH RAZOR AT POINT OF PISTOL

Extracts Bullet Near Base of Spine—Patient and Pal Tell Him They Will Leave Him $250.

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP).—Pals of a holdup man wounded in a fight at a tavern forced a physician at pistol point today to remove a bullet from the robber's back.

Alex Ferguson, 57 years old, a customer of the tavern, was killed and two policemen, Edwin McIntyre, 42, and Philip Kelly, 35, were wounded in the fight.

Soon afterward Dr. Siegmund Hirschfeld notified police he was called from his home, driven to an apartment and compelled to extract a bullet near the base of the spine of a young man. When the bullet was removed, he said, the wounded man snatched it from the doctor's hand and said: "I'm going to send it back to that guy that shot me and see how he likes it."

The doctor said he used a safety razor blade in the operation because he had brought no cutting instrument with him. The wounded man was in great pain, but remained conscious. The bullet was out in about 25 minutes.

Dr. Hirschfeld said the wounded man drew a pistol and kept him covered while another man and a woman packed their clothes and apparently loaded the grips in an automobile. They helped the wounded man dress and left the apartment after warning the physician not to summon police for at least 15 minutes.

As the wounded man walked across the living room he collapsed and had to be helped down the stairs, the doctor said.

Descriptions of the men tallied with those supplied by witnesses of the tavern holdup.

Dr. Hirschfeld said the woman was a blonde, about 24, and attractive. The wounded man, he said, was dark-haired and handsome. Had the bullet gone another inch to one side, the physician said, it would have paralyzed the lower limbs completely. The other man was light complexioned.

Police investigation showed the wounded man and the woman used the name Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson in renting the apartment and that their companion was known as Edward Riley.

Riley checked out of his hotel hurriedly about ten minutes before police arrived and left a pekinese dog with a friend, who is janitor of an apartment building.

Riley told the janitor he was going to Milwaukee for a few days, but told the hotel clerk he was en route to La Crosse to work for a fountain pen concern.

Fingerprints showed the two men were former convicts who served in the Jackson (Mich.) prison, police said.

The tavern holdup, at 4623 North Weston avenue, occurred shortly before midnight. Office McIntyre, his wife, and Kelly were sitting at the bar when two gunmen entered. Both policemen, off duty at the time, drew their pistols and opened fire when the robbers announced, "This is a stickup."

Ferguson was mortally wounded by the robbers' first shots. McIntyre suffered a head wound. Kelly was hit in the abdomen, shoulder and wrist.

The robbers got away in an automobile.

MAY TERM COUNTY GRAND JURY TO BE DRAWN BY CORONER

Circuit Judge Holds Sheriff and County Court Disqualified; Orders Panel for May 11.

Selection of a grand jury for the May term of St. Louis County Circuit Court was ordered today by Judge John J. Wolfe, to whom the members are to report Thursday morning, May 11.

Judge Wolfe's order specified that the Coroner, Dr. John O'Connell, should draw and select the grand jury, as "it appears to the Court that the Sheriff and County Court are not qualified to do so."

Coroner O'Connell is a Democrat, as is Judge Wolfe. The Sheriff and members of the County Court are Republicans. Circuit Judge Wolfe previously taken from the Sheriff and County Court the power of selecting grand juries, but has usually appointed jurors to the grand jury.

Among the matters which may be taken before the grand jury by Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach is the controversy between Senator Martin L. Neaf and the County Board of Equalization, over the assessment of personal property of the St. Louis County Gas Co.

JOHN BARRYMORE SUES STATE SUES 11 HERE WIFE FOR ACCOUNTING FOR BACK INCOME TAX

Accuses Her of Conspiracy to Get Money; He Also Seeks Separation.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP).—John Barrymore, the actor, filed suit today against his wife, Elaine Barrie, for separation, and at the same time named her and two other persons as defendants in an action for an accounting of his funds, estimated at $300,000.

The defendants in addition to Miss Barrie—who last Saturday left the cast of Barrymore's play at St. Louis—are her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, and David Fisher, described in the suit as a confidential financial adviser.

The actor's complaint alleged that the three had conspired "maliciously" to defraud him of funds which he claimed had been put in their hands to purchase certain property for him.

They were given power, the suit contended, to draw on three bank accounts, and subsequently bought a Hollywood home and "wrongfully" entered the title in Mrs. Barrymore's name.

The papers in the separation action were not made public. Maurice Hotchner, Barrymore's counsel, said the actor had told him by telephone from Omaha yesterday: "In every other divorce proceeding brought against me by my previous wives, I have always, out of a sense of chivalry, not contested these suits. But this is different. This time I am taking the initiative."

In connection with the demand for an accounting, Barrymore's suit asserted specifically that the defendants have been given the power under a 1935 agreement to draw on bank accounts here and in Los Angeles and Hollywood banks. The three, the actor alleged, neglected to turn over to him any money remaining in their possession as well.

Among property acquired he listed a house at Bel Air, West Los Angeles; two automobiles, works of art, statuettes, paintings, rugs, books, manuscripts, furniture, pianos, guns, fishing tackle, fur, wearing apparel and "other things of value."

Omaha Performance Not Up to Par, Barrymore Admits.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 3 (AP).—John Barrymore, starring in "My Dear Children," admitted after an appearance here last night that his Omaha performance Monday night was "not up to par" and said he was "sorry." Theater managers and others in Omaha had said it was "disgraceful."

"I've had a lot on my mind the last few days," said Barrymore, sniffling from a cold and plainly tired. "It didn't happen to be a very auspicious occasion and I am sorry."

"You know when a fellow gets to be my age the loss of a wife is a much more serious matter than it used to be. It kind of gets you."

New Registration Checkup.

INCREASE IN 1938 COUNTY INCOMES IN LOW BRACKET

All Higher Groups in Returns to State Show Decreased Number From the 1937 Total.

A decrease of 15 per cent in the 1938 average net taxable income of St. Louis County taxpayers of the State income tax, as compared with 1937, and a decrease of 27 per cent as compared with 1936, are shown by a computation made from the 17,219 taxable returns on last year's income, in the hands of County Assessor Martin L. Neaf.

The total taxable income shown for 1938 is $44,119,343, as compared with $51,785,888 for 1937, and $52,147,647 for 1936. The percentage of decrease from the 1937 total is 14.8 per cent, and from 1936, 15.3 per cent.

The number of 1938 taxable returns, 17,219, is slightly above the 1937 number, 17,143, but the increase is all in the bracket under $2000, all the higher brackets showing a decreased number of reported incomes.

In the six upper brackets between $2000 and $100,000, there is a uniform decrease in total incomes reported, and in the average individual income. In the $100,000-and-over classification, there were seven 1937 incomes, but only 2 in 1938; however, the two incomes reach a total 45 per cent larger than that of the total of the incomes, $26,980,020, is 2.5 per cent less than the corresponding 1937 figure.

Incomes of more than $10,000 are 27.3 per cent fewer in number, and 28 per cent less in total amount, than in the previous year.

Average for All Drops.

For all taxpayers the average was $2562, compared with $3020 in the 1937 tabulation, and $3519 in 1936.

In view of the increased number and the slightly increased average income of those in the lowest classification, and the decreases in the numbers and income totals above, it would appear that a considerable number of those who were in high brackets for 1937 slipped back into the less-than-$2000 classification in 1938.

Net taxable income, under the State law, is computed by subtracting from gross income all the deductions and exemptions allowed by law. Because of varying individual circumstances, net taxable income is not an accurate index of gross income.

All residents of St. Louis County, including many executives of St. Louis corporations, make their State income tax returns at Clayton. Bills have gone out for the tax payments, due not later than June 1 and payable to the County Collector.

PARK ROAD CLOSED 5 MONTHS

To Open Link Between Des Peres and Forsythe in 3 Weeks.

The road on the north side of Forest Park between Des Peres avenue and the Forsythe boulevard entrance on the west, which has been closed for repairs since early last December, will be opened to traffic in about three weeks, Thomas La Cour, engineer of the Public Welfare Department in charge of WPA projects, said today.

The road has been reconstructed with an eight-inch rock base. This will be covered with two inches of asphalt. The eastern half of the road, which goes from Des Peres avenue to the Jefferson Memorial, was also closed all winter, although it has concrete paving. That section has now been opened.

U. S. STEEL CUTS OFF WORKERS' TIME AFTER SLUMP

Pay Reduction of 8.1 Per Cent; No Saturday Work; Operations Only 48 Per Cent.

PITTSBURGH, May 3 (AP).—Following seven consecutive weeks of dwindling operations, the United States Steel Corporation notified more than 10,000 of its white-collar workers yesterday their operations would be closed Saturdays with a corresponding reduction of 8.1 per cent in their weekly pay.

The notifications went to operating subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation, including Carnegie-Illinois, the National Tube, American Bridge, American Steel & Wire and H. C. Frick Coke Co., where office employees have been on a five and one-half day week. Workers in the mills were unaffected.

The corporation first inaugurated the shorter work week in February, 1938, when the national operating rate was running around 30 per cent of capacity, but on Jan. 1 restored the extra half day's work week, with mill operations running higher than 50 per cent. Early in March both the bookings and operating rate began slumping from a peak of around 56 per cent, until now it is below 48 per cent.

SELECTION OF JURY TO TRY WALTER W. BULLOCK BEGUN

Selection of a jury to try Walter W. Bullock on a charge of perjury growing out of his qualification as a juror at the bombing trial of Isadore Londe, gangster and former convict, last December, began today in Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin's court. A panel of 50 veniremen will be examined.

Bullock, a union hotel worker, answered "no" when asked before the Londe trial whether he knew the gangster, last December, began today in Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin's court. A panel of 50 veniremen will be examined.

Bullock was removed as a juror. Londe was found guilty and was sentenced to 25 years in prison. He has appealed.

EXTORTION SCHEME WORKED ON PAIRS IN PARKED AUTOS

County Prosecutor Reports Robbers Use Discarded Deputy Badges and Fake Notices.

Young persons sitting in parked automobiles in St. Louis County have been accosted several times recently by fake deputies who, under threat of prosecution "and attendant publicity," Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach warned today, "have fleeced the motorists and his companion of all money available."

When the victims refused to pay up, Wallach related, the extortionists had issued fake notices of arrest, signed with initials or a printed false name, and on outdated forms. Somehow, he said, robbers had got hold of these forms and discarded deputy constables' badges.

Persons so accosted should refuse to pay, take the fake summons and report immediately to the nearest Constable's office or the Sheriff's office in Clayton, the Prosecuting Attorney urged. No legally qualified deputy will take money from motorists, he said; all sign their full names in script and most Constable's deputies in the county are in uniform.

M'ELROY SECRET FUND RECEIVED $420,000 IN YEAR

Kansas City Accounts Commissioner Says He Has No Record of How Money Was Spent.

MAYOR SMITH HAS NO IDEA, EITHER

Expects Audit to Show Use Made of Resigned City Manager's 'Emergency Account.'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3 (AP).—Richard Steele, City Commissioner of Accounts, said today $420,000 was paid to a secret fund, known as the "City Manager's Emergency Fund" during the last year.

The commissioner said he had no records to show how the money was expended by H. F. McElroy who resigned as City Manager last month.

His records show the following transfers: $10,000 from Blue River sewer bonds, $50,000 from hospital bonds, $360,000 from traffic bonds.

In addition, he said, $2500 was transferred to the city manager's fund from the general fund.

"I don't know what the money was spent for, but I'm sure Judge McElroy spent it for the good of the city."

Audit to Show Where It Went. Mayor Bryce B. Smith said a city audit was expected to show where the money went. He said he had not idea for what it was expended.

Mayor Smith ordered the account closed when he took the reins of the government April 13 in a move which led to McElroy's resignation. The money remaining in the account, $1827, was returned to the general fund.

City officials said McElroy did not profit personally by this fund and several who were familiar with some of the transactions think every dime can be accounted for, but they did not dispute the records showing books were juggled and transfers of money were made from bond funds and general funds to the secret fund.

One official volunteered the opinion that most of the money was used to save the city money in purchasing right-of-way for needed improvements. It was said the fund was maintained for six or eight years or perhaps longer.

A preliminary examination of the city's books indicates money from the fund was used for salaries on secret payrolls.

"Evidence of Political Favor." The Kansas City Star said the incomplete findings of Francis A. Wright, a public accountant, who has conducted a part audit for the Board of Education, shows "evidence of political favors at the expense of the school system, the county and the State." The Wright findings are the basis of the School Board's demand for a completely new system of tax collections and a complete, scientific re-assessment.

Marriage Predicted

LOS ANGELES friends of Mrs. L. James and George Palmer Putnam, husband of the late Amelia Earhart, said they expected their marriage in June.

The Star says highlights of the auditor's investigation so far show: "Each year only about $600,000, or 40 per cent of the personal taxes are collected in Jackson County. The others are added to the delinquent tax books at the rate of about $800,000 a year, for an estimated total of $4,000,000 due in back taxes."

"The persons charged with collecting these back personal taxes turn over to the County Collector only about $4000 a year. Their bookkeeping system is so loose that nobody knows what still is left on the delinquent tax books and there is no way of finding out without a complete audit. There is no check to show whether the money collected is actually turned over to the County Collector."

The Star says although the Wright audit did not attempt to go into real estate assessments, "its study shows the effect of inequitable assessments, politics and State laws that have held out hope of abatements."

Suit for Back Pay.

Unpaid city employees today arranged to file suit to collect $633,049 for salaries due them. They assigned their claims to the First National Bank, as trustee, and it will file the action in an effort to force the city to issue judgment bonds. Between Jan. 1 and April 30, 1939, 1942 municipal employees received either no pay or only part of their salaries.

Mayor Smith and Acting City Manager Eugene C. Zachman have expressed hope the employees can be paid by the issuance of judgment bonds.

A. L. Darby, City Finance Director, announced he soon would have available a complete list of the city's unpaid bills. Zachman estimated these total between $1,100,000 and $1,200,000. The charter provided a warrant may be issued by the Finance Director only when funds are available.

TWO DENY MURDERING DRIVER OF CAB THAT KILLED BROTHER

Floridians Plead Not Guilty After Coroner's Jury Names Them in Verdict.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., May 3 (AP).—Everett and Earl Blackwelder, accused of killing the Negro driver of a taxicab which struck and killed the 12-year-old brother, Benny, pleaded not guilty to murder charges late yesterday and were held without bail. The men waived a preliminary hearing and entered their plea before a Justice of the Peace shortly after a coroner's jury investigating the death of Lee Snell, the Negro driver, returned a verdict of murder against them.

The coroner's jury heard Constable James Durden identify the Blackwelders as the men who took Snell from him and shot him to death Saturday. Snell was being removed to the county jail at Deland when seized.

TESTIMONY GIVEN ON POISON IN DEATH OF MRS. LA MANCE

Admitted, After It Been Excluded, as of Osteopath Accused Wife Murder.

EVIDENCE ON MANCE ON VICTIM'S

KEYTESVILLE, Mo.,

(AP).—Defense testimony traces of poison were found in bottle of fluid said to have been taken from the stomach of Ella La Mance was admitted at the trial of Dr. William Mance, osteopath, charged with murder of his wife, after the first had ruled against its admission.

Circuit Judge James S. first sustained the State's motion to the evidence. The contention that the sequence of the pickle jar containing the men progressed from Mance's body to the official clinical pathologist in Kansas had not been clearly defined.

After the defense called Mance and Mrs. Everett La Mance, wife of a Tins (Mo.) osteopath, testified that Mance had not been clearly defined. B. C. Morrow, a chemist testified he found approximately one-hundredth of a grain of lent poison in six ounces of fluid. He estimated one-half a grain was a lethal dose, and the amount found in a lemon indicated how much had been taken.

Testimony About "Streaks." He was followed to the stand by Dr. J. Frank Hall, Kansas City pathologist, who employed chemist and supervised his for the poison.

Dr. Hall said "streaks" found on the bodies of the two women were found on swollen composed bodies. When Mance's body was taken to the fruit cellar in the rear of the LaMance (Mo.) home Aug. 15, 1938, the bodies were reported "streak" or crease was reported apparent on her neck.

Dr. John S. Lucas, Linn County Coroner, testified last week "streak" was an indication of strangulation and said Mance was a patient and strangled. The State contends Dr. Lucas, a former amateur boxer, killed his wife with his hands and covered her body in the fruit cellar defense seeks to prove she self-administered poison.

Woman Asked About C. Mrs. Cross testified she saw the LaMance kitchen much the day and that only she and Smith had been in the room the fluid from Mrs. La Mance's stomach was kept in the refrigerator 11 hours.

Mrs. Cross testified she spent the entire day cleaning the kitchen and always was in sight of the defense. She said she served breakfast numerous persons, but that she approached the ice box where was there.

Francis Reagan, an Assistant Attorney-General, again examined Mrs. Cross about the alleged conversation with Tombee, LaMance milkman, in the witness was quoted as saying "we've got to save Doc (LaMance) because saving him means money."

"Do you recall talking with Barbree shortly after the time Mrs. LaMance's body?" asked her. "No, I don't recall talking to him he didn't say anything out of me because I was saying anything," Mrs. Cross sharply.

"Didn't Mr. Barbree ask you there was Mr. you and Asa (husband) to worry about?" asked. "No, he didn't."

Fluid Well Protected. Mrs. Smith testified she saw the lid screw on a LaMance home wrapped in a paper sack. Morrow said it was sealed with paraffine wax and was further fastened by a tape when brought to him the day. He said it was protected in a round, cardboard oatmeal can.

Dr. Everett L. Smith of the jury yesterday he obtained fluid Aug. 16, the day after Mance's body was found in the fruit cellar of her LaMance home. He got it at the undertaker's at LaMance, put it in the glass and left it in the icebox. LaMance home for about 11 before he took it to Brookfield, then to Kansas City.

George S. Koch Jr., State way patrol chemical expert, filed a week ago he found no of poison in specimens he received.

Robbed of $81 and Floor. B. J. Hunt, 3947 Westmore place, a salesman, reported State Highway Patrol that he had been robbed of $81 and three bundles of floor paper by three men in an automobile. He forced him to stop his car on way 40, about a mile from Wentzville. Hunt said the men stood on the running board and pointed a revolver at him. He said he did not have plates, Hunt said.

EVIDENCE ON MARK ON VICTIM'S NECK

Witness at Keytesville, Mo., Says 'Streaks' Are Often Found on Swollen Bodies.

KEYTESVILLE, Mo., May 3
(AP)—Defense testimony that traces of poison were found in a bottle of fluid said to have been taken from the stomach of Mrs.
Ella La Mance was admitted today at the trial of Dr. William F. La Mance, osteopath, charged with the murder of his wife, after the Court first had ruled against its admission.

Circuit Judge James S. Rooney first sustained the State's objection to the evidence. The State contended the sequence in which the pickle jar containing the specimen progressed from Mrs. La Mance's body to the office of a clinical pathologist in Kansas City had not been clearly defined.

After the defense called Mrs. Asa Cross and Mrs. Everett L. Smith, wife of a Tina (Mo.) osteopath, the contested testimony was introduced.
B. C. Morrow, a chemist at the General Hospital in Kansas City, testified he found approximately one-hundredth of a grain of a virulent poison in six ounces of the fluid. He estimated one-eighth of a grain was a lethal dose, but said the amount found in a body seldom indicated how much had been taken.

Testimony About "Streak."
He was followed to the stand by Dr. J. Frank Hall, Kansas City clinical pathologist, who employed the chemist and supervised his search for the poison.

Dr. Hall said "streaks" frequently were found on swollen and decomposed bodies. When Mrs. La Mance's body was taken from a fruit cellar in the rear of her Laclede (Mo.) home Aug. 15, a "streak" or crease was reported apparent on her neck.

Dr. John S. Cross, Linn County Coroner, testified last week the "streak" was an indication of strangulation and said Mrs. La-Mance was beaten and strangled.
The State contends Dr. LaMance, a former amateur boxer, killed his wife with his hands and concealed her body in the fruit cellar. The defense seeks to prove she died of self-administered poison.

Woman Asked About Chat.
Mrs. Cross testified she was in the LaMance kitchen much of the day and that only she and Mrs.
Smith had been in the room where the fluid from Mrs. La Mance's stomach was kept in the refrigerator 11 hours.

Mrs. Smith said she had spent the entire day cleaning the kitchen and always was in sight of the ice box.
She said she served breakfast to numerous persons, but that none approached the ice box while she was there.

Francis Reagan, an Assistant State Attorney-General, again cross-examined Mrs. Cross about an alleged conversation with Tom Barbee, Laclede milkman, in which the witness was quoted as saying
"we've got to save Doo (LaMance) because saving him means saving me."

"Do you recall talking with Tom Barbee shortly after the finding of Mrs. LaMance's body?" Reagan asked her. "No, I don't and if I did talk to him he didn't get anything out of me because I am not saying anything," Mrs. Cross replied sharply.

"Didn't Mr. Barbee ask you what there was for you and Asa (her husband) to worry about?" Reagan asked. "No, he didn't."

Fluid Well Protected.

Mrs. Smith testified the pickle jar with the lid screwed on left the LaMance home wrapped in a brown paper sack. Morrow said the lid was sealed with paraffine wax and was further fastened by adhesive tape when brought to him the next day. He said it was protected by a round, cardboard oatmeal box.

Dr. Everett L. Smith of Tina told the jury yesterday he obtained the fluid Aug. 16, the day after the woman's body was found in the fruit cellar of her Laclede home.
He got it at the undertaker's parlor at Laclede, put it in the glass jar and left it in the icebox at the LaMance home for about 11 hours before he took it to Brookfield and then to Kansas City.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FOR BARRING BERGDOLL

Constitution Gives Rights, but Demands Citizens Do Duty, It Says.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Saying "Service in the armed forces of the country is one of the paramount responsibilities of American citizenship," the House Military Affairs Committee urged yesterday the passage of a bill designed to prohibit Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, convicted draft dodger, from returning to the United States from Germany.

The bill, by Representative Harness (Rep.), Indiana, would deny re-entry to persons convicted of wartime desertion, who fled the jurisdiction of the United States and have remained out of this country to escape punishment.

The bill does not specifically mention Bergdoll, who recently indicated a desire to return to the United States, but Harness said it was aimed at him.

"Our Constitution guarantees to citizens certain rights, privileges and opportunities," the committee said, "and it likewise demands of the citizens certain duties and obligations, among others, the defense of the nation when it is imperiled."

Any person affected by the bill, voluntarily abandonment and rejection of its laws."

Girls Best Father in Rifle Match

LAWRENCE LENDRINE of Jersey City found that his daughter BILLIE (left) and JANET, were more than a match for him at the fathers and daughters tournament recently at Jenkintown, Pa.

The committee said, "is one who has voluntarily exiled himself for such a period that there can be no reasonable doubt of his deliberate and voluntary abandonment and rejection of its laws."

ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES CARIBBEAN DEFENSE

Says Development of Aviation Made It Necessary to Create New Department.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt, on his return trip to Washington from Hyde Park, N. Y., last night, told reporters that rapid strides in the development of aviation made it necessary to strengthen the nation's Panama Canal defense by creating an army department of the Caribbean.

He said the new department was established under the command of Brigadier-General Edmund L. Daley at San Juan as a result of two years of observations of the defense needs in that area.

The President said his observations on his cruise with the fleet in the February-March maneuvers emphasized the need for the new department. Before the development of swift attack planes with long cruising radius, he pointed out, it was comparatively easy to protect the Caribbean against a raiding squadron of surface ships by placing two or three guns on the headlands of San Juan, but now the maintenance of bases is made more precarious and it is necessary to plan against air attacks.

The chief executive said in the observation compartment of his private car as he replied to questions at his first press conference in a week and the first since Chancellor Hitler replied to his message asking for a 10-year non-aggression pledge from Germany.

He made no comment on the Hitler address to the Reichstag last Friday and said he had only read the text carried in the newspapers and state department summaries. He asked if an English translation had been made available in Berlin and was told by the reporters it had been.

When asked about Washington reports that the Treasury had worked out a four-point tax program to remove "tax deterrents" to business, the President said he knew to what extent the revenue laws would be changed at this session of Congress beyond extension of expiring nuisance and corporate income levies.

He advised against saying the Treasury was making "recommendations," adding that the department was preparing only factual reports on what revenues might be derived under various proposed changes. On previous occasions he has stated that existing revenues must be maintained under any tax revision program.

He said the first he heard of the reported four-point Treasury schedule was when he read about it in newspapers.

Going to San Francisco. Asked about plans for the summer, Mr. Roosevelt said he would go to the San Francisco exposition after Congress adjourned, but could spend only a day there.

He said he was looking over charts for a possible sea trip to or from the exposition and some time after that would make another visit to the New York World's Fair. What little he had seen of the fair during his brief trip there Sunday was quite a spectacle, he commented.

As for a sea voyage to or from the West coast he laughingly asked the reporters whether they wanted to go to Hawaii or make another trip to Rio de Janeiro where he visited in November, 1938.

He said he might return to Hyde Park for a weekend beginning May 25.

OZARK OUTLAW RETURNED TO EDWARDSVILLE FOR TRIAL

Claude Dickerson of Perkins Gang Charged With Murder of Two Men in Tavern.

Claude Dickerson, survivor of the Perkins gang of Ozark outlaws, was returned to Edwardsville on extradition from Indiana last night to stand trial. He is charged with the murders of two men in a tavern holdup in 1934 at St. Jacob, on U. S. 40 near Highland, Ill.

Extradition forestalled Dickerson's attempt by habeas corpus to obtain release from Indiana authorities, who were unable to connect him with a murder and bank robbery at Bloomington, Ind., in 1936. He was arrested in New York and waived extradition to Indiana for questioning in that case.

YOUTH, BITTEN BY DOG, FOUND

Anti-Rabies Treatment Given Him
In County.

A police search for a youth who was bitten by a rabid dog in Valley Park Monday ended last night when his identity was learned and he was taken to St. Louis County Hospital for anti-rabies treatment. He is Howard Cook, 16 years old, 5109 Washington avenue.

Cook was attacked when distributing samples of yeast. Later a 12-year-old boy was bitten by the dog, and the animal was destroyed. When tests showed the dog was infected with rabies the search for Cook began.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt sent a telegram of friendship to President Ignace Moscicki of Poland today on the occasion of Polish National day. "On behalf of my fellow citizens and in my own name," the President said, "I send to Your Excellency hearty felicitations on Polish National day, with the earnest wish that the ties of friendship and good understanding existing between your country and mine may continue to increase and prosper."

JUDGE SAYS LAWYER "BEFUDDLED" JURY AND FINES HIM $250

Contempt Sentence Follows Mistrial in New York Robbery Case.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP).—When a jury disagreed last night on the guilt of a defendant in a $14,000 jewelry robbery trial, the judge charged that the defendant's lawyer had "befuddled" the jury contrary to the orders of the court and fined the attorney $250 for contempt.

Judge George L. Donnellan said that in his 12 years on the General Sessions Court bench he had not seen a more nearly perfect case than that against Morris Haberman, accused of the daylight robbery of a store in the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last Oct. 20.

Telling Haberman's lawyer, Samuel Segal, that "I am going to put an end to your tactics," the judge ordered him to pay his fine within one week or go to prison. He remanded Haberman, whom he called a "cowardly, no-account fellow," to Tombs prison with a request he be given a new trial quickly.

IRISH BOMBERS, SENTENCED IN LONDON, DEFY COURT

"I'll Try to Do Same Thing Again," One Tells Judge, After Attempt to Blow Up Bridge.

LONDON, May 3 (AP).—Shouting "God save Ireland!" two members of the outlawed Irish Republican army were sentenced today to long prison terms for attempting to blow up Hammersmith Bridge in London.

As warders hustled him away after his 10-year sentence was pronounced, William Browne cried: "At the end of my sentence—whether it is 10, 20 or 40 years—I'll try to do the same thing again."

John Connell, who was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment, told the Central Criminal Court judge: "The fight will continue until the British Government has withdrawn its forces from Ireland. Come what may, prison or death, I will stand by the proclamation of the Irish Republican army."

Steel girders of the bridge were shattered by an explosion March 29, after a London court had sentenced nine extremists for an earlier bomb plot.

Central States Hired Casey In Order to Hold Off O'Malley

Central States was inevitable, and that he had talked with officers of the company. He said he had not determined whether the receivership would be for liquidation of the company's business, or whether it would be aimed at rehabilitating the company and continuing the business. This, he said, would depend on the result of a convention examination which was then nearing completion. O'Malley said it would be necessary for the officers and stockholders of the insurance company to raise $400,000 or more to avert receivership. He said he had advised against the granting of a second $1,000,000 loan sought by the company from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and that the RFC did deny the loan.

Case of McCormack

McCormack, head of the Charles L. Crane (Insurance) Agency Co., has been in the public eye recently as go-between in the $460,000 payoff on the notorious O'Malley fire insurance rate compromise of 1935, which resulted in the recent indictment of Pendergast and O'Malley for evasion of Federal income taxes. The Government alleges Pendergast received $315,000 and O'Malley $82,500. McCormack, a witness before the grand jury, got $82,500, but no action has been taken against him.

Referring to the employment of Casey, a former Central States director, who would not permit use of his name, told the Post-Dispatch one of the State Senator's chief duties was to appease O'Malley and avert a possible receivership which the management did not consider justified.

"We knew both Casey and O'Malley were close to Pendergast," he said, "and we thought Casey could get somewhere with O'Malley and take him off our backs."

Couldn't "Handle" O'Malley

Casey, the former director related, reported that he found he could not "handle" O'Malley and then went to Pendergast, who asserted he could not control the Insurance Superintendent.

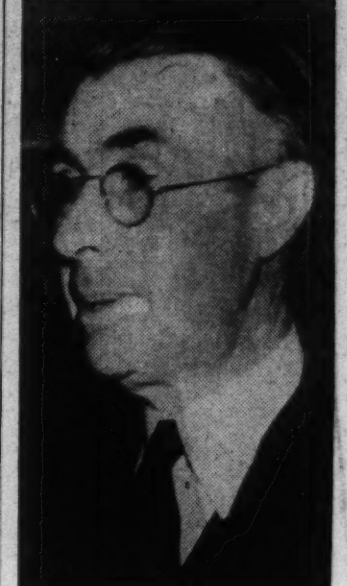

"Finally Casey reported he had got to the point he couldn't hold off O'Malley any longer," the former director went on, "and that Graham and Sims would have to get out."

That was not long before the annual stockholders' meeting in February, 1938, at which the so-called Arnold Stifel group, which had obtained working control of the company through an option on 25,000 of its 80,000 shares, elected seven of 13 directors. McCormack was among the seven. The new board then elected Walter Crunden president and McCormack vice-president.

Wanted McCormack

More than a year before McCormack went on the board, the

Failed as Appeaser

STATE SENATOR MICHAEL E. CASEY

former director recounted, was received by the management that O'Malley wanted McCormack as his representative in the directors' office.

"The management was told McCormack would be of some help to us but Graham wouldn't have it," the informant said.

After O'Malley announced Feb. 12, 1938, that he had served notice on the new board of directors that it would have to replace Graham and Sims as the ranking officers, Graham declared the company had "lived under threats" of O'Malley for nearly three years, because the Insurance Superintendent did not like him and sought to "force his will" on the company.

Alfred Fairbank, who succeeded McCormack as president in March, 1938, and G. P. Henderson, secretary-treasurer for many years, declined to comment on the employment of Casey and Buford. The Post-Dispatch was informed neither had any connection with it. McCormack resigned as a director last month.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States appeared before the Senate today during a session of the Senate to discuss the Wagner Labor Board "public enemy No. 1."

Burke asserted at a luncheon meeting of the chamber that it was a better than 50-50 chance that the Wagner Act would be revised at this session of Congress if the Chamber of Commerce were permitted to continue hearings enough to measure nationwide sentiment accurately.

He referred to Garner, whose nomination as the Democratic presidential candidate in 1940 has advanced in some quarters, as the "great mind" of the day. Garner once told him, he said, that even a bad law did not produce harmful results if men were placed in charge of administration. Conversely, he said the Vice-President thought the administration would thwart good law.

The reference to Garner's great mind brought the audience to a halt. Garner made no direct reference to the views of the War or other administration assurances. Burke said any policy assured

Charred Wreckage of Newspaper Plane

Wreckage of the Memphis Commercial Appeal plane after it crashed and burned at Grenada, Miss., killing John Crump, George Stokes and Ted Northington.

NEWSPAPER PLANE CRASHES, 3 KILLED AT GRENADA, MISS.

John Crump, Son of Memphis (Tenn.) Political Boss, One of Victims of Unexplained Plunge.

GRENADA, Miss., May 3 (AP).—John Crump, 28 years old, son of Tennessee's Democratic National Committeeman, and two Memphis newspaper men were killed here yesterday in an airplane crash.

Victims with Crump were: George Stokes, 34, photographer-pilot for the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Ted Northington, 31, reporter.

Crump was the youngest of three sons of E. H. Crump, former Congressman and for 30-odd years leader of the Shelby County (Memphis) political organization. Young Crump was secretary of E. H.

Crump & Co., his father's investment firm, real estate and insurance firm.

The ship, owned by the Commercial Appeal, and decorated with gaily-painted comic-strip characters, was part of a five-plane trip in parts of Missouri, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi to boost the Memphis Cotton Carnival May 9-14.

Mayor E. C. Neely, who witnessed the crash, said there was no apparent cause for the accident.

"There was no one on the field in the way of the landing plane," he asserted. "The field was wide open."

Stokes, a graduate of the Army flying school at Kelly Field, Tex., seven years ago, spent his first year after graduation as a pilot with the Fifteenth Observation Squadron at Scott Field before taking the job with the Memphis newspaper. He was an officer in the Army air reserve.

Nine Killed in Crash of French Plane in Morocco.

MARRAKECH, Morocco, May 3 (AP).—Six passengers and three members of the crew of an Air France passenger liner were killed last night when the plane crashed 15 miles south of Chichaoua.

The passenger victims were not identified immediately. The plane was on the way to Dakar, Senegal, from Casablanca, French Morocco.

This radio message was flashed from the plane as it fell: "We are falling! We are falling! Ice and snow are forcing us down!"

OF C. PPLAUDS BURKE'S MENTION OF GARNER'S NAME

Senator Refers to Texan as One of 'Great Minds' of Country in Speech at National Meeting.

ASSAILS NLRB AS 'PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1'

W. G. Carey, Probable Next President of Organization Calls Wagner Act 'National Blight.'

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States applauded mention of Vice-President Garner today during a speech by Senator Burke (Dem., Nebraska), denouncing the Wagner Labor Act Board "public enemy No. 1."

Burke asserted at a luncheon meeting of the chamber that there was a better than 50-50 chance of revising the Wagner Act satisfactory at this session of Congress if congressional committees were permitted to continue hearings long enough to measure nationwide sentiment accurately.

He referred to Garner, whose nomination as the Democratic presidential candidate in 1940 has been advocated in some quarters, as one of the "great minds" of the country. Garner once told him, Burke said, that even a bad law might not produce harmful results if good men were placed in charge of its administration. Conversely, he said, the Vice-President thought that administration would thwart a good law.

The reference to Garner as a great mind brought the applause. Burke made no direct reference to Garner's views on the Wagner Act or other administration features.

Burke said any policy government, business or other interests which created discord between workers and employers deserved to be ranked as public enemy No. 1 and that the Wagner Act, despite some valuable provisions, and the board qualified for such a ranking.

He urged abolition of the present board, effective next February, and revision of the act to outlaw unfair labor practices committed by unions as well as employers.

Wagner Act "National Blight."

Earlier in the day, W. Gibson Carey Jr., industrialist who is expected to become the next president of the chamber, castigated the Wagner Act as a national blight which reduced productivity and lessened jobs.

Carey told a meeting of the chamber: "I make the unqualified statement that this legislation has induced unrest, built bad feeling, decreased productivity, and displaced thousands of men in private employment."

As it stands, and as it has been administered, Carey charged, the Wagner act should be described in its preamble as a law "to destroy the individual and minority rights of working men, to undermine the natural and proper sense of employer responsibility for high pay and good working conditions, and to bring suffering to the nation by lower productivity and decreasing jobs."

The law's stated purpose is to make it possible for employees to bargain collectively with their employers on wages and working conditions, through representatives of their own choosing.

Carey is president of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co. of New York City. His election as president of the Chamber of Commerce is expected tomorrow.

Prefers State to U. S. Control.

His remarks today were introductory to speeches by E. C. Heacock, president of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria, Ill., who said legislation in the labor relations field should be entirely abandoned by the Federal Government and left to the several states.

The Wagner act had gone far, Heacock asserted, to keep "many a badly needed investment dollar quarantined in our overflowing banks."

"It can be said positively that the majority of strikes which we have had, are strikes which we would not have had except for the law, and that therefore the law has, as a matter of fact, acted to generate labor disturbances."

Changes Demanded.

Heacock said Chamber committeemen and directors hoped that, as a minimum, proposed amendments to the act would accomplish these results:

"1. Right of the employer to demand of the Labor Board that it determine who represents whom as a labor bargainer.

"2. That the act not interfere with, nor diminish, the right of free speech.

"3. Assure employees and the affected public that employees may join or resign from, or refuse to join, anything and all things without coercion or intimidation from any source.

"4. Elimination of the so-called 'majority rule' so citizens of America may claim their own souls and even retain the right to discuss, as they please, terms and conditions under which they sell their services.

"5. Repeal of the closed shop provision.

"6. Fix it so the Labor Board can't continue to be prosecutor, judge, jury and hangman."

Speaker after speaker at the annual meeting blamed New Deal policies, particularly taxes, for the failure of capital to flow freely into industry.

CURB PUT ON CLOSED SHOP BY NEW WISCONSIN LAW

75 Per Cent of Employees in a Bargaining Unit Must Favor It to Establish It.

MADISON, Wis., May 3 (AP).—Gov. Julius P. Heil signed last night a bill which prohibits the closed shop unless 75 per cent of the employees in a bargaining unit so vote and requires 10 days' notice where strikes involve perishable products.

The measure, sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, also abolishes the "Little Wagner Act," enacted under the Progressive administration, and the present State Labor Relations Board and sets up a new three-man body with curtailed powers.

Labor organizations bitterly assailed the legislation, asserting it would set back the labor movement "at least 50 years in Wisconsin."

MISS PERKINS' ALIEN POLICY CRITICISED IN THE HOUSE

Allen of Illinois Says Her Department Has Shown Inefficiency in Such Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Representative Allen (Rep.), Illinois, said in the House yesterday that the Department of Labor was totally unfit for the job of assuming new duties that would be assigned to it under proposed alien detention legislation.

Allen spoke in support of a bill which would authorize the Secretary of Labor to place in detention camps aliens whose deportation has been ordered, but who have not left the country because of passport difficulties. He said that under existing laws aliens ordered deported in many cases can "continue to go out and prey on American citizens."

Allen added, however, that it was regrettable that Secretary of Labor Perkins would be given greater authority in alien matters, asserting that the Labor Department had "demonstrated its inefficiency to deal with these aliens."

UNDULANT FEVER ON THE RISE

Number of Cases in Illinois Double That of Last Year.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 3 (AP).—An upward trend of undulant fever in Illinois was reported in a communication to local health officers yesterday by Acting State Health Director A. C. Baxter.

Dr. Baxter said seven new cases reported last week brought the total so far this year to 72, more than twice the 34 cases reported for the first four months of last year.

as his representative in the directorate.

"The management was told McCormack would be of some help to us but Graham wouldn't have it," the informant said.

After O'Malley announced Feb. 12, 1936, that he had served notice on the new board of directors that it would have to replace Graham and Sims as the ranking officers, Graham declared the company had "lived under threats" of O'Malley for nearly three years, because the Insurance Superintendent did not like him and sought to "force his will" on the company.

Alfred Fairbank, who succeeded McCormack as president in March, 1938, and G. P. Henderson, secretary-treasurer for many years, declined to comment on the employment of Casey and Buford. The Post-Dispatch was informed neither had any connection with it. McCormack resigned as a director last month.

SENATOR SAYS BOOK SHOWS ROOSEVELT WON'T RUN AGAIN

Toby Finds White House Recently Borrowed Volume on "How to Get a Position."

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 3 (AP).—Easing his assertion on information gleaned in a recent visit to the Congressional Library, Senator Charles W. Toby (Rep., New Hampshire), said today President Roosevelt would not seek a third term.

"I was recently going through a number of books and came across one which bore the label 'By Transfer of White House,' denoting that the book recently had been in the White House. The title was: 'How

TWO BILLS TO WEAKEN BOOKMAKING LAW KILLED

Offered by Kennedy and Brady, St. Louis, They Would Have Made Violation Misdemeanor.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 3 (AP).—Two bills under which violation of the horse race bookmaking law would have been reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor were killed last night by the House Judiciary Committee.

They were introduced by Representatives Michael R. Kennedy and Edward M. Brady, St. Louis Democrats.

Opposing European Camps Selling Each Other Materials of War

Britain Paying Germany Royalties on Czech Machine Gun Patents—Russia Having Cruiser Built in Italy.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The European crisis presents the anomaly of countries currently at odds selling one another arms or engaging in business transactions affecting military strength.

In the House of Commons yesterday British War Secretary Horne-Bellish disclosed the Government was paying royalties to Germany on patents of the Bren machine gun, formerly held by Czechoslovakia. These guns are now being made in England. Laborite T. M. Sexton demanded:

"Is the Minister aware that we are not only increasing German military strength by raw materials but also the financial strength of that country by continuing these payments?"

"That may be so," replied Horne-Bellish, "but it is not customary for this country to repudiate payments which have been legally contracted."

Trade in Raw Materials.

Sexton's mention of raw materials presumably had to do with a matter raised in Commons on March 30. At that time Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, asked Prime Minister Chamberlain if he would propose that the British Empire and friendly states withhold from Germany many materials essential to rearmament.

Chamberlain replied merely, "No." Herbert Williams, Conservative, interposed with the remark that such action "would involve us in war at once."

Speaking of Czechoslovakia, on Feb. 3, before the dismemberment, it was made known that the little republic—home of the vast Skoda munitions works—was selling off its "unnecessary" arms, ammunition and other military equipment, mainly to Germany. After that the Skoda works continued to turn out war supplies and it was no secret that the bulk of these manufactures went to Germany.

On April 23 the English counties of Yorkshire and Lincolnshire were all set for an air-raid blackout test. Then somebody discovered the thousands of oil lamps which were part of the blackout equipment were marked "made in Germany." The experiment was called off and officials are investigating.

The other day Germany offered to sell France the warplanes obtained when Czechoslovakia was absorbed. It was understood that the French were rejecting the offer. It was stated, however, that Czech war materials had been sold in other countries.

Italian-Russian Pact.

One of the cardinal tenets of both Germany and Italy is anti-Communism—as witness the famous anti-Comintern pact. Relations between Germany and Russia and Italy and Russia at times have been strained.

On Feb. 7 Italy and Russia signed an agreement restoring their trade relations which had been suspended for more than a year. Russia stopped deliveries of oil and other raw materials and payment of commercial debts to Italy in 1937. At that time the Soviet Union charged Italian submarines with sinking Russian shipping in the Spanish war zone.

Under the renewed agreement Russia was to resume debt payments, and deliveries of raw materials, including oil for the Italian navy.

The Soviet was counting on the early delivery of a small cruiser built in Italy.

Russia is understood to have curtailed greatly its purchases from Germany, but last November the Reich was listed as third in the Soviet trade standings.

Claimants and Trustee.

The trustees are two daughters of Peck, Mrs. Rebecca Dusenberry and Mrs. Belle Peck Bryant; Mrs. Bryant's husband, Max M. Bryant; and Mrs. Elizabeth Peck, widow of John A. Peck, a son. The great-great-grandchildren named as plaintiffs in the suit filed in 1926 were Patricia Mary Peck, Charles Henry Peck and Robert L. Peck Jr. The fathers of the children, Austin W. Peck and R. L. Peck, appeared as "next friends" in the suit.

Under the will of Charles H. Peck, the $700,000 trust estate is to terminate 15 years after the death of the last descendant who was living at the time of Peck's death in 1899, and to be distributed among all the descendants living.

$30,000 in Lawyers' Fees.

In the petition, it was charged that the ultimate interest of the minor plaintiffs was impaired by the method of administration. It charged that Mrs. Dusenberry and the Bryants were incompetent as trustees because of age and physical infirmities. It was charged that distribution of the income to the immediate heirs had been in so large an amount as to impair the principal amount. These charges were withdrawn in the stipulation filed yesterday.

Judge Oakley approved total legal fees of $30,000 to be divided equally by counsel for the plaintiffs and defense attorneys. The petitioners were represented by Jesse W. Barrett, Thomas L. Anderson, Ellison A. Poulton and the firm of Burnett, Stern & Liberman. The firms of McDonald, Bartlett & Muldoon, and Stamm, Stewart & Pfleger, represented the trustees.

EXCITED TEXANS SEE STRANGE SIGNS IN METEOR'S FLASH

'War,' 'Hitler,' 'Mars,' 'F.D.R.' Some of Spellings Reported in the Sky.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 3 (AP).—A big meteor streaked across the Texas sky last night and excited hundreds of persons. Some of the tales of what people saw were as wild as they were different.

Here are a few of the reported observations.

"War" was spelled out plainly. "Hitler" was in letters 10 miles high.

"Mars" stood out clearly. A Townsend planner saw this: "200."

A Democrat saw "F. D. R." To some the Nazi swastika was too plain to miss.

The only man who thought to take a picture of the phenomenon was Paul Peters, a newspaper photographer. He got four shots of the meteor's trail of light. At first it appeared as a broad streak. Then it began to waver and zig-zag.

School Building Taxes Vote

The Ritenour and the Maple Richmond Heights school districts in St. Louis County, approved school building levies in elections yesterday. The levies defeated in the April 4 election Ritenour levy of 65 cents passed by a vote of 582 to 38 the 70-cent levy of the Maple Richmond Heights district vote of 492 to 13.

Functions of the schools, of police and social agencies, the prevention of crime were discussed today in a symposium at the sixth annual meeting of the Central States Probation and Parole Association.

Miss Sarah Schorr of the Social Service Bureau, Chicago, said service agencies should regard task as stimulative of good of community response rather than acceptance of sole responsibility for community conditions.

Chicago social service agency said, interested itself in a law enforcement, which final result in the police department shouldering most of the responsibility onto the agency.

In discussing effects of public relief, Miss Schorr said: "Care whether one agrees that crime the result of personality disorganization, or a social disorganization we can agree that uncertain, adequate relief, poor housing, the strains of frustration, and from ill-planned relief are to well-balanced personalities."

Schools as Clearing House. Lloyd King, State Superintendent of Schools, in discussing the "tion of schools, declared it was coming increasingly important that schools be organized in to make them "happy place children." He added that carrying out their fundamental purpose of supplementing other agencies, should become "clearing house of information on children and homes," and develop an adequate program of guidance.

Sergeant Thomas J. Moran, charge of the St. Louis Police Department Parole Bureau, said the work of his bureau with parolees had been effective in eliminating fear and hate of police from the minds of former convicts.

The convention, begun Sunday was to close today with an address by Austin J. McCormick, Commissioner of Corrections of New York City and president of the American Prison Association. About delegates from nine states are attending the sessions.

Probation Executive Speaks. Although legalized parole in 1878, several years before the institution of systematic probation, latter service has spread more widely than parole. Charles L. Chute, New York executive director of the National Probation Association, said at last night's session of the conference.

"Parole is not as far along a system of real case supervision," Chute said. "It has remained many quarters as an adjunct of our backward prison system, based on the theory of punishment rather than reformation, or been a subordinate adjunct to Governor's office and therefore litigious."

Today the sporadic and national co-operation of probation parole departments has been persisted in an increasing number of jurisdictions by co-ordinating the two services under one administration.

Chute said the principal cause of probation's present predicament, lack of trained personnel and inadequate funds. He said that his organization was preparing a model bill for states to co-ordinate parole and probation services in an effort to attain a unified administration.

Indiana Man President. John Klingler of Indiana, State Director of Correction, Indiana, was elected president of the conference yesterday to succeed A. C. Lindholm of St. Paul, Minn., of the Minnesota State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Other officers are: Hilmerlein of Lansing, Mich., Commissioner of Corrections; Robert C. of Jefferson City, Mo., Missouri rector of Probation and Parole; Charles L. Sherwood of Columbia, Director of the Ohio Department of Welfare; and Joseph E. Rag Joliet, Superintendent of the Illinois Prison System, vice-president.

A. Ross Pascoe of Lansing, Mich., man of the Michigan Board of Probation and Parole, secretary; Frank D. Hope of Indiana, Supervisor of Paroles in Indiana; and John Landers, Chicago, member of the Board of Pardons and Parole, executive director.

C. H. PECK HEIRS END 12-YEAR LITIGATION

Suit Over $700,000 Trust in $2,000,000 Estate, Is Settled.

Heirs of Charles H. Peck, realty dealer who died in 1899, leaving a $2,000,000 estate, have settled their litigation, pending for more than 12 years, over a $700,000 trust estate established by his will.

A petition filed Dec. 7, 1926, in behalf of three great-grandchildren of Peck, ultimate heirs to the trust estate, for removal of the trustees, was denied yesterday by Circuit Judge Ernest F. Oakley, who approved a stipulation in which the litigants joined. The stipulation, signed by representatives of that great-grandchildren, stated that the acts of the trustees were approved, and that there was no evidence of incompetence on the part of the trustees, who "have at all times acted with prudent business judgment."

Claimants and Trustee.

The trustees are two daughters of Peck, Mrs. Rebecca Dusenberry and Mrs. Belle Peck Bryant; Mrs. Bryant's husband, Max M. Bryant; and Mrs. Elizabeth Peck, widow of John A. Peck, a son. The great-great-grandchildren named as plaintiffs in the suit filed in 1926 were Patricia Mary Peck, Charles Henry Peck and Robert L. Peck Jr. The fathers of the children, Austin W. Peck and R. L. Under the will of Charles H. Peck, the $700,000 trust estate is to terminate 15 years after the death of the last descendant who was living at the time of Peck's death in 1899, and to be distributed among all the descendants living.

In the petition, it was charged that the ultimate interest of the minor plaintiffs was impaired by the method of administration. It charged that Mrs. Dusenberry and the Bryants were incompetent as trustees because of age and physical infirmities. It was charged that distribution of the income to the immediate heirs had been in so large an amount as to impair the principal amount. These charges were withdrawn in the stipulation filed yesterday.

Judge Oakley approved total legal fees of $30,000 to be divided equally by counsel for the plaintiffs and defense attorneys. The petitioners were represented by Jesse W. Barrett, Thomas L. WAYS TO PREVENT CRIME DISCUSSED AT PAROLE PARLEY

Functions of Schools, Churches, Police and Social Agencies Taken Up by Various Speakers.

LLOYD KING CITES VALUE OF CLASSES

Miss Sarah Schorr Says Welfare Units Should Not Assume Duties of Law Enforcers.

Functions of the schools, church, police and social agencies in the prevention of crime were discussed today in a symposium at the sixth annual meeting of the Central States Probation and Parole Conference.

Miss Sarah Schorr of the Jewish Social Service Bureau, Chicago, said service agencies should regard their task as stimulative of good official community response rather than the acceptance of sole responsibility toward community conditions. One Chicago social service agency, she said, interested itself in a field of law enforcement, which finally resulted in the police department's shouldering most of the responsibility onto the agency.

In discussing effects of public relief, Miss Schorr said: "Certainly, whether one agrees that crime is the result of personality disorganization, or a social disorganization, we can agree that uncertain, inadequate relief, poor housing, and all the strains of frustration arising from ill-planned relief are threats to well-balanced personalities."

Schools as Clearing Houses.
Lloyd King, State Superintendent of Schools, in discussing the function of schools, declared it was becoming increasingly important that all schools be organized in order to make them "happy places for children." He added that schools, carrying out their fundamental purpose of supplementing other agencies, should become "clearing houses of information on children and their homes," and develop an adequate program of guidance.

Sgt. Thomas J. Moran, in charge of the St. Louis Police Department Parole Bureau, said the work of his bureau with parolees had been effective in eliminating fear and hate of police from the minds of former convicts.
The convention, begun Sunday, was to close today with an address by Austin J. McCormick, Commissioner of Corrections of New York City and president of the American Prison Association. About 300 delegates from nine states are attending the sessions.

Probation Executive Speaks.
Although legalized parole began in 1878, several years before adoption of systematic probation, the latter service has spread more rapidly than parole, Charles L. Chute of New York, executive director of the National Probation Association, said at last night's session of the conference.

"Parole is not as far along as a system of real case supervision," Chute said. "It has remained in many quarters as an adjunct to our backward prison system, still based on the theory of punishment rather than reformation, or has been a subordinate adjunct to the Governor's office and therefore political."

"Today the sporadic and occasional co-operation of probation and parole departments has been succeeded in an increasing number of jurisdictions by co-ordination of the two services under one staff.
The development of state-controlled probation and parole services in the last few years has been remarkable. No less than 14 states and the Federal Government now have such combined staffs."

Chute said the principal handicaps of probation and parole were politics, lack of trained personnel and inadequate funds. He added that his organization was preparing a model bill for states seeking co-ordinated parole and probation services in an effort to attain stan-dardization.

Indiana Man President.
John Klingler of Indianapolis, State Director of Corrections in Indiana, was elected president of the conference yesterday to succeed
A. C. Lindholm of St. Paul, chairman of the Minnesota State Board of Pardons and Paroles.
Other officers are: Hilmer Gelman of Lansing, Mich., Commissioner of Corrections; Robert C. Edson of Jefferson City, Mo., Missouri Director of Probation and Parole;
Charles L. Sherwood of Columbus, Director of the Ohio Department of Welfare; and Joseph E. Eagen of Joliet, Superintendent of the Illinois Prison System, vice-presidents;
A. Ross Pascoe of Lansing, chairman of the Michigan Board of Parole and Probation, secretary;
Frank D. Hope of Indianapolis, Superior of Pardons in Indiana, treasurer; and John Landesco of Chicago, member of the Illinois Board of Pardons and Paroles, executive director.

School Building Taxes Voted.
The Ritenour and the Maplewood-Richmond Heights school districts, in St. Louis County, approved school building levies in special elections yesterday. The levies were defeated in the April 4 election. The Ritenour levy of .85 cents was passed by a vote of 582 to 36, and the 70-cent levy of the Maplewood-Richmond Heights district by a vote of 492 to 13.

GROUP INSURANCE FOR 100,000 FORD WORKERS

$1500 Life Policies Provided, With Company Paying Half of Cost.

DETROIT, May 3 (AP).—About 100,000 Ford Motor Co. employees throughout the United States will be eligible to receive $1500 life insurance policies under a group insurance plan which will become effective June 1.

Marek & McLennan of Detroit, which acted as intermediary for the Ford company, confirmed reports that the transaction had been completed. The firm said it was one of the largest group insurance plans in the world.

Policies will be available to all Ford employees with two years or more of service through an employee contributory plan. In addition to the life insurance, participating employees will be entitled to $15 a week in sickness and disability benefits. The Ford company will pay about half the cost.

Baby Drinks Kerosene; Dies.

WATSEKA, Ill., May 3 (AP).—Karen Sue Harness, 14 months old, of Milford, Ill., died at a hospital yesterday shortly after her mother found her unconscious from drinking kerosene.

Pendergast Bloc Continues to Lose

ment that would have limited the life of the act to four years, by which time the machine politicians figure the scattered elements of the shattered Pendergast machine can be reorganized under a new leader and the police again can be taken under machine control.

Although the vote was closer on this amendment, it was defeated, 61 for to 75 against. Several members who had voted with the Governor on the previous amendment switched over to the Pendergast crowd on this one, among them being Speaker John G. Christy of Festus.

Some members appeared to have been influenced by the argument of the machine politicians that the bill was an emergency measure, and that its purpose would be accomplished in four years of State.

Corrective Amendments Adopted. With the defeat of this amendment and the House appearing to be in a mood to vote down all amendments to which Weakley objected, the opposition to the bill succeeded in bringing about an adjournment until this morning.

It was apparent from the outset that Weakley was in control of the situation and that, with the Republicans voting in a bloc, no crippling amendments could get a majority. Weakley had a number of corrective amendments, which were adopted without debate.

Keating Again Beaten. Keating failed in an attempt to reduce the amount of money that would be available for the Police Department. Under the bill the City Council is required to appropriate the amount of the budget prepared by the board, but not to exceed one-sixth of the general revenues of the city. Keating attempted to reduce this to one-tenth, but his amendment was defeated, 46 to 66.

Representative Arthur S. McDaniels of Senath proposed that the Governor be required to choose the police commissioners from the political party designated by the city Council, but withdrew his amendment when Representative O. B. Whitaker of Weaubleau raised a question as to the constitutionality of such a provision.

Roll Call on Amendment. The vote on the important Keating amendment, which would have destroyed the effectiveness of the bill had it been adopted, was:

Voting with the Kansas City Pendergast machine and against the Governor:

DEMOCRATS—Arnold of Stoddard, Asotky of Kansas City, Egan of Gentry, Bentley of Howard, Brady of St. Louis, Burke of St. Louis, Campbell of Henry, Cleaton of Sullivan, Conrath of Lewis, Cooper of Nodaway, Crist of Greene, Devine of Cooper, Farley of Platte, Foerst of St. Louis, Gaston of St. Clair, Gill of Kansas City, Grafton of Jasper, Hale of Schuyler, Haley of Worth, Hamlin of Marion, Hanks of Jasper, Haskell of Kansas City, Hayden of Kansas City, Henry of Bates, Hogan of St. Louis, Keating of Kansas City, Lafferty of Kansas City, Lauf of Cole, Montgomery of Jackson, Murry of Macon, Osburn of Shelby, Phillips of Kansas City, Reed of Barry, Robison of Kansas City, Schechter of St. Louis, Schick of St. Louis, Searcy of Shannon, Smart of Kansas City, Studivan of McDonald, Sullivan of St. Louis, Summers of Cass, Sutton of Wayne, Taylor of Charlton, Turley of Carter, Winningham of Pulaski and Woodward of Clinton—46.

REPUBLICANS—None.

Voting with the Governor and against the Pendergast machine:

7 ST. LOUIS LEGISLATORS VOTE WITH PENDERGAST MEN ON POLICE MEASURE

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.

ALTHOUGH nearly all 19 St. Louis members of the House of Representatives were in their seats when the roll was called on the Keating amendment, which would have destroyed Gov. Stark's police bill for Kansas City, only 11 voted.

Those voting with the Kansas City political machine and against the Governor were:

Edward M. (Putty Nose) Brady, 1425 Hills Terrace; William W. Burke, 1713A O'Fallon street; Edwin G. Foerst, 1313 Warren street; Edward J. (Jelly Roll) Hogan Jr., 3035 Cass avenue; Maurice Schechter, 5890 Maffitt avenue; Oliver E. J. Schick, 2829 Ohio avenue; John A. Sullivan, 4222A Gibson avenue.

Those voting with the Governor and against the Kansas City machine:

J. Jules Brinkman, 1313 Shenandoah avenue; Edward F. Byrnes, 4242 Holly avenue; Don S. Gregson, 5359 North Kingshighway, and Dr. Jerry Novak, 3347A California avenue.

Not voting: Joseph P. Council, 6119 Labadie avenue; Harold V. Healy, 1008A Market street; David A. Hines, 1333 Haliday avenue; John T. Hughes, 6566 Tholoan avenue; Joseph L. Ivanhoe, 4245 Ellenwood avenue; Michael R. Kennedy, 3945 Page boulevard; Michael J. Smith, 6771 Nashville avenue; and Robert M. Vix, 1120 Dillon street.

The three St. Louis County members, Howard Elliott of University City, Hartwell G. Crain of Webster Groves and Forrest Mitterdorf of Overland, voted against the machine and with the Governor.

20 JOIN IN SIT-DOWN OVER DELAY IN RELIEF

Group Leaves Social Security Office at Midnight Without Winning Interviews.

Twenty applicants for relief engaged in a brief sit-down demonstration last night in a waiting room in the office of the St. Louis Social Security Commission, 2221 Locust street, protesting against delay in action on their applications.

The demonstrators, more than half of whom were Negroes, announced when the office closed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon that they would remain in the bench-filled waiting room until they obtained interviews with social workers concerning their needs. They remained in the place until shortly before midnight and left without accomplishing their purpose. A police detail found no disorder and made no effort to eject them.

It was said at the office today that the staff of five interviewers was able to see only 75 applicants a day. In recent weeks, since the discharge of about 2400 WPA workers because of insufficient funds, about 200 persons have sought aid from the commission daily.

extension of 10 days.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Searcy of Eminence after the Senate had defeated a similar House bill by Representative Claude Arnold of Stoddard County, makes no change in provisions of the law requiring motions for new trial in criminal cases to state the grounds of alleged trial errors in specific detail and with particularity.

Senate Prepares to Pass Searcy Measure Allowing 30 Days at Judge's Discretion.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—The Senate perfected today, in preparation for passage, the Searcy bill amending the present law governing filing of motions for new trial in criminal cases, to give trial judges discretion to grant one extension of not more than 30 days for the filing of such a motion, instead of the present maximum German Foreign Minister to Leave Tomorrow Night to Meet Rome Official.

BERLIN, May 3 (AP).—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop will leave for Italy tomorrow night for talks with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, it was announced today.

The meeting will be at Lake Como, where Von Ribbentrop is expected to spend several days, it was announced at Rome.

Colonel-General Walther von Brauchitsch, chief of staff of the German army, now is conferring with Italian military chiefs in Libya.

WIFE GETS DIVORCE AND $30 A MONTH FROM DR. W. G. WOOD Pair Married in 1916, Separated in 1937, She Testified; His Petition Dismissed.

A divorce was granted yesterday to Mrs. Ida Marie Wood from Dr. William G. Wood, a physician, 2214 South Grand boulevard, by Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward. A stipulation by which Dr. Wood agreed to pay alimony of $30 a month was approved by the court.

Mrs. Wood testified that they were married in 1916 and separated in April, 1937, when Dr. Wood left their home at 6143 West Park avenue. She said her husband, in addition to a private practice, was plant physician for the National Lead Co.

The original petition for divorce, filed by Dr. Wood, was dismissed yesterday and the hearing held on the cross-bill filed by Mrs. Wood.

Smart to See—Smarter to Buy!

The model illustrated is the Buick Special model 41 four-door touring sedan $990 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

NOBODY has to tell you, skimming along at that brisk Buick pace, that plenty of eyes are turning your direction!

It's a smart car to see, all right—what you're discovering there behind the wheel is how much more there is to this beauty than a look or two will uncover!

You're feeling the eager power that a straight-eight can pour—when it's a Dynaflex eight with a cyclone in each cylinder to give life, lift—and thrift—to every smooth-flowing mile!

You're finding out that bumps can be tamed, that car riding can be level as flying—when all four wheels, not just the front, ride on stout coiled springs of soft and cushiony steel!

You're discovering how pleasant it is to look out through windows enlarged as much as 412 square inches. And you're enjoying that very special Buick "feel," firm and taut and steady, nowhere any skittery looseness, or wind wander, or hunt!

In a word, you're beginning to realize that, smart as it is to see, this Buick's even smarter to buy.

Smarter for the extra contentment you'll get from owning it—smarter even if you had to pay a premium to get it.

But you don't have to pay a premium! Instead, this great-eight beauty is today priced lower than some sixes. Costs are below those of a year ago. Total outlay—counting included equipment you'd pay extra for elsewhere—is often less than for some cars with lower advertised prices.

So what to do? Easy! Simply turn around, head for the showroom, get down to the details of trade-in terms, monthly payments, all that!

Even there you'll find your Buick dealer ready, willing, eager to serve—just like the good and gallant car he sells!

BRICKEY INDICTED ON 4 ADDITIONAL STATE CHARGES

Two Embezzlement and Two Grand Larceny Bills Make Total of 10, Besides U. S. Case.

SCHOOL AND ROAD FUND DISCREPANCIES

These Are Disclosed in Audit—Former Mayor of Festus to Be Arrested Again Today.

Four felony indictments against former Mayor Norville W. Brickey of Festus were voted yesterday by the Jefferson County grand jury at Hillsboro, bringing to 10 the total number of State charges pending against him.

Two of the indictments charge embezzlement and two grand larceny. Sheriff Arch McKee said Brickey would be arrested today when he appears at Imperial for a preliminary hearing on the six other charges against him. Bond on the new indictments, which are returnable in Circuit Court at Hillsboro Monday, will be set at $5000, McKee said.

Brickey, who has been forced to resign five public jobs in the State and county in the last six months, is also charged in a Federal warrant with making false entries to the amount of $88,500 in the books of the Citizens' Bank of Festus, of which he was deposed as president last September. Similarly charged in a Federal warrant is Charles E. Porter, former executive vice-president of the bank.

The new indictments are based on recent audits which showed discrepancies in the Festus School District and the Festus Special Road District. Brickey was formerly president of the school district and treasurer of the road district.

The two indictments charging grand larceny allege that Brickey took $1021 from the road district treasury and from the treasury of the County Court, of which he was formerly presiding Judge. The road district audit had pointed out that in 1938 the district had issued five payroll warrants totaling $1021 and that five warrants for identical amounts had been issued by the county.

The warrants issued by the road district had not been signed by the alleged recipients when the audit started, but since that time, it was stated in the audit, Brickey had them signed by workmen.

Brickey is charged in the other two indictments with embezzlement of $250 from the school district and embezzlement of $35 which the Hematite School District had paid to the Festus School District for tuition.

The preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace C. H. Clement at Imperial today is on six warrants issued last month by Justice of the Peace R. F. Panchot of Festus on complaint of Prosecuting Attorney W. Oliver Rasch of Jefferson County. Three charge grand larceny by trick, two obtaining money by false pretenses, and one embezzlement. The hearing was taken to Clement on a change of venue.

KANSAS CITY SOUTHERN RAIL MERGER AUTHORIZED

I. C. C. Agrees to Allow It to Issue
Stock in Buying Louisiana & Arkansas Lines.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—
The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the Kansas City Southern Railway Co. today to acquire control of the Louisiana & Arkansas Railway Co. Under the unification plan, the Kansas City Southern will exchange its stock for stock of the Louisiana & Arkansas.

The I. C. C. authorized the Kansas City Southern, in order to carry out the plan, to issue 510,000 shares of common stock without par value.

In approving the unification, the
I. C. C. modified its 1929 plans for consolidation of railroads so as to assign the properties of the Kansas City Southern to System No. 19, known as the Rock Island-Frisco system, instead of to System No. 15, known as the Union Pacific system.

H. C. Couch, Arkansas utility man, has been chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern since 1937.

SOUTHWEST WEBSTER SEWER DISTRICT IS INCORPORATED

Bond Issue of $19,000 to Be Voted on and WPA Grant of $28,000 to Be Sought.

A decree of incorporation for the Southwest Webster Sewer District was granted yesterday by Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe at Clayton.
The district, a triangular tract of about 300 acres, has 400 residents.

The area is bounded roughly by Berry road on the west, by Big Bend road and the Webster Groves Sewer District on the north, by Sappington road and an irregular line through Crestwood subdivision to the Oakland disposal plant on the southwest, and by an irregular line from the plant to Big Bend and Rock Hill roads on the southeast.
Residents will be asked to vote $19,000 in bonds for sewer construction and a WPA grant of $28,000 will be sought.

INVESTIGATION, A

'Strain Is More Than

Stock in His Name.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3
—The search for the body of ward L. Schneider, secretary of Boss Thomas J. Pen-dergast's corporations, and impugned government witness in the income tax evasion case, a Pendergast, continued today
the Missouri River.

Mrs. Schneider has offered and business associates $10, the finding of the body of der, who disappeared Monday morning, leaving his automobile on Fairfax Bridge, with two notifying a suicidal purpose that floated ashore about three below the bridge.

Circumstances which were known today indicated Schneider may have written suicide notes four days before were left in his car on the Carl Braun, office manager of Fairfax Bridge, with two notifying a suicidal purpose
that floated ashore about three

Schneider's brother-in-law, other note found in the car to Mrs. Schneider.

District Attorney Maurice Milligan, who kept Schneider the Federal grand jury last until he gave the testimony which Pendergast was re-indicated Saturday, has not changed his attitude of doubt as to the apparent suicide.

At his request, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are seeking to establish in Milligan's words, the case hoax, a suicide, or foul play.
Higgins saw Schneider.

Otto P. Higgins, deposed director of police, disclosed today he with Schneider early Monday
ing.

Higgins said he telephoned Schneider Sunday night to offer sympathy. Schneider was at home Sunday night, Higgins and Monday morning he again phoned Schneider and told he wanted to see him. Higgins drove to the Schneider home minutes on the front porch.

"He looked awful," Higgins
ad. "There were deep purple under his eyes."

Schneider, however, did not appear unduly agitated, Higgins and gave no indication that planned suicide or a disappointment. Higgins told he had early appointment downtown did not say with whom.

Asked if he had gone to Schneider's home at the behest of Pendergast or anyone else, Higgins replied:

"I tell you. He was a friend mine and I was worried about I felt so sorry for him, I wanted to tell him."

Higgins said his conversation with Schneider was shortly before Monday morning. He had known Schneider about years and that they had a friendly interest in fishing.

Higgins resigned from the directorship several weeks ago. His husband was Pertu-rino. Mrs. Schneider was said to have accepted the fact that her husband had died in his home as usual Sunday night that, while he had been perturbed by the occurrences of the week fore, she saw nothing unusual in his conduct. She said he 6:30 a. m. Monday, gathered some papers and left in his car telling her goodbye.

In connection with the in the Pendergast indictment, stock in the Boss's companies, in Schneider's name, speculation has arisen as to whether Schneider will inherit the stock her husband's death is established.

The indictment charges that blocks of stock in four Pen-dergast companies, held in Schneider's name, yielded $28,600 dividends 1935, and $33,175 in 1936, but the dividends in fact went to Pendergast. A similar charge made as to non-dividend income from two of the companies, amounting in the two years to $4400, which was said to have been recorded as salary for Schneider but in fact to have gone to Pen-dergast.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3 (AP).—The search for the body of Edward L. Schneider, secretary-treasurer of Boss Thomas J. Pendergast's corporations, and important Government witness in the $443,550 income tax evasion case against Pendergast, continued today along the Missouri River.

Mrs. Schneider has offered $250, and business associates $100, for the finding of the body of Schneider, who disappeared Monday morning, leaving his automobile on Fairfax Bridge, with two notes indicating a suicidal purpose. His hat floated ashore about three miles below the bridge.

Circumstances which were made known today may have written his suicide notes four days before they were left in his car on the bridge. Carl Braun, office manager of the Ready Mixed Concrete Co., said that he saw Schneider last Thursday writing on his personal stationery, began with "Dear Phil." This is believed to have been the note written to Philip Abry, Schneider's brother-in-law. The other note found in the car was to Mrs. Schneider.

District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan, who kept Schneider before the Federal grand jury last week until he gave the testimony on which Pendergast was re-indicted Saturday, has not changed his attitude of doubt as to the apparent suicide. At his request, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are seeking to establish whether, in Milligan's words, the case is "a hoax, a suicide, or foul play."

Higgins Saw Schneider. Otto P. Higgins, deposed director of police, disclosed today he talked with Schneider early Monday morning.

Higgins said he telephoned Schneider Sunday night to offer his sympathy. Schneider was not at home Sunday night, Higgins said, and Monday morning he again telephoned Schneider and told him he wanted to see him. Higgins said he drove to the Schneider home and talked with Schneider about two minutes on the front porch.

"He looked awful," Higgins added. "There were deep purple rings under his eyes."

Schneider, however, did not appear unduly agitated, Higgins said, and gave no indication that he planned suicide or a disappearance. Schneider told Higgins he had an early appointment downtown, but did not say with whom.

Asked if he had gone to Schneider's home at the behest of Pendergast or anyone else, Higgins angrily replied:

"Hell, no. He was a friend of mine and I was worried about him. I felt so sorry for him, I wanted to tell him."

Higgins said his conversation with Schneider was shortly before 8 o'clock Monday morning. He said he had known Schneider about 10 years and that they had a common friendly interest in fishing.

Higgins resigned from the police directorship several weeks ago. Says Husband Was Perturbed. Mrs. Schneider was said by friends to have accepted the idea that her husband ended his life. She said yesterday that he was at home as usual Sunday night, and that, while he had been perturbed by the occurrences of the week before, she saw nothing unusual in his conduct. She said he arose at 6:30 a. m. Monday, gathered up some papers and left in his car, after telling her goodbye.

In connection with the charges in the Pendergast indictment as to stock in the Boss's companies, held in Schneider's name, speculation has arisen as to whether Mrs. Schneider will inherit the stock, if her husband's death is established.

The indictment charges that large blocks of stock in four Pendergast companies, held in Schneider's name, yielded $26,600 dividends in 1935, and $33,175 in 1936, but that the dividends in fact went to Pendergast. A similar charge was made as to non-dividend income from two of the companies, amounting in the two years to $9400, which was said to have been recorded as salary for Schneider but in fact to have gone to Pendergast.

If the stock is still in Schneider's name, it would go into his estate at his death, unless Pendergast had taken the precaution to draw some form of contract by which the stock would revert to him.

Phil Schneider, 75 years old, father of the missing man, said he doubted the theory of suicide, and that he did not believe the son "could have taken such a step."

"If I Can Figure a Way Out."

Friends of Mrs. Schneider said they learned that Schneider said to her, last week, "This strain is more than I can stand, and if I can figure out any way to get out from under it, I will." She said he took a sedative Saturday night, and seemed calmer Sunday. She said he did not, at any time, talk with her in detail of his appearance before the grand jury.

Pendergast, asked yesterday as to his opinion regarding Schneider's disappearance, said: "I only know what I have seen in the papers." The $100 reward for finding of the body was offered by Robert P. Lyons, superintendent of the Ready Mixed Concrete Co., of which the missing man was secretary-treasurer.

Pendergast's trial is set for June 12. District Attorney Milligan has said that Schneider's testimony against Pendergast cannot be used if Schneider does not appear in person, but that other evidence is available as to the transactions alleged in the indictment.

POLICE PROTECTION SOUGHT
FOR DR. KURT ROSENFELD

Prussian Ex-Minister of Justice, to Speak Here, Receives Threatening Letter.

Police protection for Dr. Kurt Rosenfeld, former Prussian Minister of Justice, was sought by the local chapter of the American League for Peace and Democracy yesterday following receipt of a threatening letter, which was turned over to postoffice inspectors. Dr. Rosenfeld, a member of the Reichstag for 12 years, is to speak on "The Secret Armies of Adolf Hitler" at a meeting sponsored by the organization at 8 p. m. Saturday at Sheldon Memorial, 2646 Washington boulevard, after a dinner in his honor at Forest Park Hotel.

The letter was addressed in phrases clipped mostly from a handbook announcing the meeting. Dr. Rosenfeld, who caused Hitler to be fined for refusing to answer

"the questions of a Jew" in a Munich court, was threatened before he spoke here in 1934, at a meeting frequently interrupted by Nazi sympathizers, a month after the "blood purge."

WALLS FALL, KILL 18 IN CHINA

Victims Watching Wedding at Shanghai, Bride Loses Life. SHANGHAI, May 3 (AP).—Eighteen persons, including the 17-year-old bride, were killed and 44 others, including the bridegroom, were injured yesterday in the collapse of two houses as a Chinese wedding was going on. Refugees living in the war-torn section gathered on roofs to watch the first wedding in the Nantao district since 1937. The overloaded walls gave way.

UPON YOUR GOOD-WILL

THE VIEWPOINT OF "AMERICA'S FINEST" BARS AND STORES
[AS INTERPRETED BY THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM]

YOU, AS CITIZENS of America, called us into existence because you wanted liquor sold and served in your community under conditions of law and order.

We realize that the public is forming its opinion of the liquor business by the conduct of the bars and stores. The jobs of more than a million workers depend, directly or indirectly, upon the sound and stable future of the liquor industry.

Most of us are striving to merit your confidence and respect by conducting our establishments in a manner that will do credit to ourselves, our families and our communities. We know that the only way to win your good-will is to earn it!

The House of Seagram, one of America's largest distillers, is proud to sponsor this Good-Will Campaign for "America's Finest" Bars and Stores. Its objectives, we believe, are in keeping with the spirit of Seagram's policy of "Moderation", which we have advocated persistently over the past 5 years.

INNING FIELD OF NOT MORE THAN 15 EXPECTED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

JOHNSTOWN AND TECHNICIAN ARE STILL FAVORED

Viscounty Jumps Into Picture With Nose Victory Over Woolf's Star in Trial Race.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP).—Whittled down from an original list of 115 by the sheer demands this mile-and-a-quarter grind makes on a horse, a field of 15 of the best three-year-old colts in the racing world loomed today for Saturday's sixty-fifth running of the Kentucky Derby—and four of those 15 were still listed as doubtful starters.

That was the consensus all over Louisville today as the blue grass trotted out its best bib and tucker to welcome the arriving multitudes.

With Johnstown still the even-money favorite and getting his first work on the cuppy track at the Downs this morning, it became apparent that the betting fraternity wasn't going to be caught napping by the current No. 1 dark horse candidate, Valinda Farm's big brown Viscounty. Just another horse named Joe? Barely 24 hours ago this son of The Porter not only got his chance to go to the post by taking yesterday's Derby trial, but his odds to win were knocked flat from 100-1 to something like 15 for your dollar in the latest quotations.

Beaten by a Whisker. His was the only apparent change in odds from yesterday's one-mile race, leaving Herbert M. Woolf's lucky Inco colt, Technician, still second choice to Johnstown at 3-1, despite the setback Viscounty had taken by the width of his bit in the trial. W. L. Brann's suddenly supported Challeddon; William Ziegler Jr.'s "question mark" El Chico; J. H. Whitney's surprising Heather Broom; Mrs. B. Franzheim's mud-running Xalapa Clown; W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite and Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett, a pair regarded strictly as sprinters; Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' No Competition, and J. W. Bell's sturdy Steel Heels were the others rated more or less certain to step to the barrier in the $50,000 gallop.

Virtually every colt in the probable starting field—eight bays, three chestnuts, a trio of browns and one black—had some sort of workout or other this morning. At the same time it became generally known that Trainer Roscoe Goose has about given up the ghost for John March's Lightspur. You can now count Lightspur out of the run for the roses.

Doubtful Starters. In addition, four others still mentioned as starting possibilities—Shady Brook Farm's Timeful, W. H. Whitehouse's American Byrd, Tom Taggart's Yale O' Nine and Mrs. C. Gregory's Lostgal, all of which were handed a thorough beating in yesterday's Derby trial, may yet join Lightspur.

This leaves just the aforementioned 11 Johnstown and Technician, naturally, can be kept only by the width of his whiskers from Woolf's hopeful, under a heady ride by Jockey Charley Bierman. The loss didn't take a thing from Technician, largely because the Inco offspring was crowded against the rail all the way down the stretch.

At the same time, those among the seven other starters lost considerable strength. Chief among these was W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, which tired considerably in the stretch after setting the pace virtually all the way to the three-quarter pole. He wound up in fourth place, trailing Junius W. Bell's Steel Heels.

Viscounty, covering the mile in 1:28.2, paid $61.60 to $2 mutual ticket holders. Trailing the field by various distances up to 25 lengths were such other frequently mentioned starting possibilities as W. H. Whitehouse's American Byrd, Shady Brook's Timeful and Tom Taggart's Yale O' Nine, as well as D. Lehan's Farm Creek and Mrs. C. Gregory's Lostgal.

Holds on Gently. After the race, there was some talk of a foul claim, because of the close going between Viscounty and Technician in the last furlong, but it got no farther than the talking stage, for there was no actual contact between the two as they galloped nose-to-nose to the wire.

Viscounty, rated behind Porter's Mite and Technician through the first three-quarters, made his bid on the outside as they rounded the turn for home and then held on to the finish, although Technician might have reversed the result of the photo if Jockey Hanford had been given room to use his bat in the closing finish.

Though Babe Dahlgren made a brilliant start as Gehrig's successor yesterday, it is probable the "iron horse" will be back in there off and on as the season stretches out and the weather warms up.

"I'll let him take a rest and then when he is feeling better I'll put him back in to see how he goes," McCarthy said. "Meantime I will give Dahlgren every opportunity to win a regular job."

But Lou has set a record that baseball students doubt ever will be approached. With that off his mind to a he should play better ball.

Technician Loses by a Whisker

Viscounty (No. 8) the Valinda Farm Stable's Kentucky Derby entrant, held off the early pace, came with a rush to beat Technician, Herbert Woolf's highly regarded entry for Saturday's classic, by a nose in the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs yesterday. Viscounty paid $61.60 for $2 to win.

Probable Derby Field

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP).—The probable field in Saturday's sixty-fifth running of the Kentucky Derby:

Howard's 2-Hit Pitching Gives Tigers Victory

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 3 (AP).—Undeclared Missouri took the Iowa State yesterday, 7 to 2, and marched on toward its third Big Six baseball championship.

Lafayette Howard, Missouri "find," who pitched five innings of shutout ball in his first start against Nebraska, won the game with a two-hit performance.

Wilbur Young, Iowa State shortstop, hit a home run in the fourth with one on.

NORMAN, Ok., May 3 (AP).—Oklahoma made it two straight over the University of Kansas baseball team yesterday, 6 to 1. Lewis Henley of Kansas tied it up in the first of the ninth, scoring on an error after getting a three-bagger. Houston Hall, Sooner pinch-hitter who went into the game in the eighth, scored the winning run.

Radbourne, Spalding, Anson, Cummings, Ewing and Comiskey Are Named to "Hall of Fame"

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP).—Baseball's hall of fame ledger, inscribed with the names of 23 diamond heroes, was closed today until the nation pays formal tribute June 12 to the 100th birthday of the national pastime.

The names of six stars of the era prior to 1900 were added yesterday to the hall of fame list. Selected by K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, President Ford Frick of the National League and President William Harridge of the American circuit, they were: Charles Radbourne, Albert G. Spalding, Adrian C. "Cap" Anson, William Arthur Cummings, William "Buck" Ewing and Charles A. Comiskey.

Baseball writers of the nation have elected 12 players to hall of fame membership. Landis, Frick and Harridge, acting as a special committee, previously named five men who contributed to the game's development. No other selections will be made until after the formal centennial observance June 12 at Copperstown, N. Y.

Radbourne pitched 517 games in 10 years as a National Leaguer, starting with Providence, R. I., Boston and Cincinnati. He won 60 games for Providence in 1884, 26 in a row. Anson, a professional 27 years, was with the Chicago Nationals 22 years, hitting better than .300 for 20 seasons.

Cummings was famed as the first known pitcher to use the curve ball—while with the Brooklyn stars in 1867—and Ewing was one of the greatest catchers of the sport. He starred for years with New York's Giants, hitting better than .300 for nine seasons.

Budge Defeats Perry.

TORONTO, May 3 (AP).—Don Budge defeated Fred Perry last night, 6-1, 6-2, for his twenty-second victory in 30 matches of their cross-country professional tennis tour. In the preliminary match, Ben Gorachakoff of Los Angeles defeated Walter Senior of Fresno, Cal., 6-4, 6-3.

EL CHICO AND CHALLENGE IN FINE WORKOUTS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP).—El Chico, the William Ziegler Jr. Kentucky Derby hopeful, went through his first stiff workout today since his arrival from the East for the Saturday classic at Churchill Downs, going a mile in 1:44.4 and a mile and an eighth in 1:59.

He was clocked at 27 at the quarter, :33.2 at the half and 1:19.2-5 for the three-quarters.

His performance, however, was overshadowed by the stepping of his own stablemate Our Mat, an eligible but not expected to go to the post in the Derby. Our Mat took 1:43.1-5 for the mile. He went the quarter in :25, the half in :50.4-5 and the three-quarters in 1:18.

Challenge, a stablemate of Johnstown—the William Woodward Derby favorite from the East—turned in an even better performance. He took the mile in 1:41 and the mile and an eighth in 1:55. The clockers caught him at the quarter in :24.4-5, the half in :50 and the three-quarters in 1:16.1-5. He is expected to go to the post in the Derby only if the track is muddy.

Xalapa Clown, the Mrs. Bessie Franzheim nominee, equaled the time of Our Mat for the mile, 1:43.1-5. He took :25 for the quarter, :50 for the half and 1:16 for the three-quarters.

No Competition, the Milky Way Farm's most promising eligible, had a light breeze without clocking.

Vandenberg Out on Option.

Hy Vandenberg is back in the International League. The Giants bought him from Baltimore. He now is with Jersey City on option.

Sport SALAD by L. C. Davis

Hearing, Seeing and Believing. As we've maintained for many years, "It looks like first division." Now give the Browns three rousing cheers—It looks like television!

So let our praises everywhere Ring out in manner choral; The game is going on the air, Both ocular and oral.

Commercially Speaking.

How to handle the commercials on baseball broadcasts bothers the sponsors. One thing they should insist on is that the product plug not be inserted following the inning in which the home pitcher is sent to the showers.

Advertising Age.

We get the point. The psychological moment for plugging a tooth paste is not right after the home hurler has been patted all over the lot. It is obvious that a pitching plug should not be followed by a plug of any description whatsoever.

Furthermore, it takes something more than a commercial plug to plug the hole in an infield.

"Mothers Pin Tittlet Win." Your ball, Watson, on the center alley.

Getting back to commercials, we don't know of a better time to shoot one than right after the umpire has been hit on the shin by a foul tip. That puts everybody in a good humor and in a receptive mood.

They say that after the Boston

Bees had taken their third straight game from the Giants, Bill Terry took off his cap to Casey Stengel and a cuckoo flew out.

Said Bill to Casey, "You're still on my trail."

"And the cuckoo in his cap went 'cuckoo'."

"Don't you ever get tired of hanging on my tail?"

And the cuckoo in his cap went "cuckoo."

Bill thought that he had seen the last of Casey when the Dodgers slipped him the blue envelope. But everywhere he goes he finds that his old Nemesis is still in the league.

Bill cast hopeful eyes towards the American League when general clubs were hiring new managers, but Casey remained a fixture in the N. L. No dice.

Help! Help!

In commenting on the comparative strength of the National League pennant contenders, Jewel Ens, Pittsburgh coach, says the Pirates will be heard from. When last heard from they were going down for the third time.

Don't take Dizzy Dean's defeat too seriously. O' Diz was there to make a showing at the gate rather than in the box.

Bowling Meeting.

The annual meeting of the St. Louis Women's Bowling Association will be held at the Elks Club ballroom next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. There will be an election of officers and selection of alleys for the 1940 tournaments.

CONCORDIA GETS 14 RUNS ON 10 HITS TO ROUT BILLIKENS

ST. LOUIS NINE IN LAST PLACE IN TITLE RACE

Concordia Seminary pushed St. Louis University down to the bottom of the intercollegiate baseball race by routing the Billikens 15 to 4 yesterday.

Coach Bill (Ed) Ortmann is proud of the victory but he admits he had some anxious moments during the game because of worry over his dilly-dallying star hurler, Al Schmidtke.

Schmidtke gives Bittz a fit, the way he puts men on base. He did it in the early innings of the game with the Billikens yesterday, but he told Bittz not to worry and to stop tearing his hair.

Well, as it turned out, Bittz didn't have to worry much. The Billikens' pitching and defense blew up and when the thing called a game was finished, the Seminars had won 15 to 4.

The carefree Schmidtke said next time he starts a game he is going to spend two hours warming up. It would be a good idea. A walk and a home run gave the Billikens two runs right off the bat yesterday.

But Concordia tied the score in its half of the first, then gave Schmidtke a working lead when he scored six runs in the seventh. This occurred about 6 p. m. and after the inning was over, the Concordia fans rose en masse and departed up the campus to the dinner table.

The league record: Washington four and three; Concordia three and three; St. Louis U. three and four.

I get a kick out of watching fellows take their first taste of four KT 4-year-old Bourbon Whisky...seeing them smack their lips, look at the glass and say things like "It's the best Bourbon whisky I ever tasted."

The best judges of fine Bourbon we know talk that way. So I guess we have succeeded in satisfying the kind of men we set out to please—fellows who know good whisky and are hard to suit.

I am sure you'll be just as enthusiastic as I am if you ask for KT Bourbon Whisky by the bottle or the drink.

600 HORSES AT FAIRMOUNT FOR SPRING RACING

By Dent McSkimming

"We could have another 200 horses on the grounds if we could accommodate them," said Dick Leigh, gray-haired racing secretary of Fairmount Park, deep in preparation for the opening day program, Saturday.

Leigh was explaining that every stall on the lot has been assigned and he is still receiving inquiries from horsemen who want to race here.

"I just came back from the feed barn where we have built a dozen stalls to accommodate a late application that we can't turn down," he added. "Ordinarily, there would be no horses stabled there because space is needed for the storage of hay. Cliff Abbo, assistant to General Manager A. C. Burnett, said yesterday he has put a double lock on his office door for fear that a horse would get out and a horse or two moved in."

"I mailed 26 letters of refusal in just one day last week," Dick Leigh went on. "A stable averages about six horses so you can see that in one hour I turned away about 156 horses. You know we can take care of only 625 horses here, so it isn't much of a job to fill the barns. We are in position to take the best of the applications and turn the others down."

Leigh assigns stable room with all the skill and speed of a mail clerk distributing letters. With his charts and plats before him he knows the position of every barn, shed row, stall and track room on the grounds and through years of personal observation he knows which one has a leafy roof, which one gets the hot afternoon sun, which one has the best track room. He doesn't find it difficult to place 600 horses because he has just come up from Fair Grounds at New Orleans where he assigns stalls to 1600 and sometimes as high as 1800 horses.

JAPANESE DEMAND
THEIR SAY IN SHANGHAI

Notify U. S. and Britain They Want Larger Voice in Municipal Council.

TOKYO, May 3 (AP).—Rensu Sawada, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, today presented to the United States and British Ambassadors demands that the Shanghai Municipal Council, governing body of the Shanghai International Settlement, be reorganized to give the Japanese a larger voice in its affairs and to permit more complete control of "terrorism" in the settlement.
The Minister invited Ambassadors Joseph C. Grew and Sir Robert Leake Craigie to the Foreign Office and asked them to communicate his statement to their Governments.
Sawada declared the structure of the Shanghai council was outmoded long ago and that "the Japanese community is not given due and fair expression in the administration of the settlement." He added that some measures must be taken immediately.
Present Representation.
Japan now has two members of the council, Great Britain five and the United States two. Before the Japanese-Chinese war there also were five Chinese members.
"The Japanese Government cannot pass unnoticed the activities of anti-Japanese elements or those hostile to the new (Japanese-sponsored) regimes in China," Sawada told the ambassadors.
Settlement authorities and all interested countries must give serious consideration to the necessity of thorough control of terrorism and take the required steps accordingly.
Stirling Fessenden of Fort Fairfield, Me., will be succeeded on June 30 as secretary-general of the Shanghai Municipal Council by a Briton, G. Godfrey Phillips. The

Commissioner Breaks Long Precedent, but Symbol Won't Be of Gold.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—City Commissioner Melvin C. Hazen, breaking a long standing precedent, decided today to give the King and Queen of England the key to the city when they come to Washington.
"For years," said Hazen, "we have not presented keys to the capital, but I might say that it has caused embarrassment."
One trouble has been that there are so many distinguished visitors to Washington.
"We would have been turning out keys like locksmiths," said Hazen. Present plans call for decision by the State Department's division of protocol as to who gets keys.
"Of course," said Hazen, "keys will be given to certain distinguished domestic persons. The State Department will decide about the foreign visitors."
The Charleston (S. C.) azalea queen, Miss Caroline Palm, visited Washington early this week, and her Congressman sought a key for her. Hazen improved one of his pastboards.
The keys which the King and Queen will get, incidentally, will not be gold, but something that looks like it.
elected council governs the settlement, which had a population of 1,149,443 in 1938. The chairman, Cornell S. Franklin, is an American.

"Shadow Over Pacific."
The United States "has moved definitely toward invasion of the Pacific," a pamphlet prepared for publication by the Navy Ministry will tell the public.
The pamphlet, to be issued May 27 in commemoration of the Battle of Tsushima in the Russian-Japanese war, emphasizes asserted aggressive plans of the United States toward the Orient.
It contains a survey of the armaments of the United States, Great Britain and Russia, all of which are accused of strengthening their navies with intent to interfere in Japan's China policy.
"The Vinson bill (for increasing the navy) has cast a great shadow over the Pacific," it says. "The proposal to fortify Wake, Midway and Johnston Islands and to strengthen other Pacific bases has been decided upon. The United States has moved definitely toward invasion of the Pacific by establishment of air routes from the mainland to Hong Kong by way of Hawaii, Wake, Midway, Guam and the Philippines."

'GERMANY, HITLER ARE ONE,' SAYS FORMER BERLIN TEACHER
To Believe Otherwise Is Wishful Thinking, Dr. Martin Weinbaum States in U. S.
CHICAGO, May 3 (AP).—Dr. Martin Weinbaum, formerly on the staff of the University of Berlin, said yesterday that contrary to American opinion "Germany and Hitler are one."
To believe otherwise is to include in wishful thinking, Dr. Weinbaum, now teaching history at the Central Y. M. C. A. College, Chicago, told an international relations section at the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.
Dr. Weinbaum was born in Germany and educated there. He left there about six years ago and taught in Manchester University in England.

HOARE ON PRESS CENSORSHIP
English Leader Hopes for "Co-operation" Not Official "Dictation."
LONDON, May 3 (AP).—Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare told British publishers yesterday that in the event of war censorship through co-operation would be preferable to "dictation."
Remarking that he was "strongly opposed to peace-time censorship," Sir Samuel said: "I would rather have the criticism of a free press than the adulation of a kept press. If I were a dictator, press flatterers would drive me mad."

'FINAL' PALESTINE PLAN
SOON TO BE GIVEN OUT

British Said to Seek Arab Assent to It First, That of Jews Later.

JERUSALEM, May 3 (AP).—Early publication of a British white paper outlining the "final" solution for Palestine was predicted today by a reliable source, that said it was being translated for simultaneous issuance in London, Mecca, Cairo and Baghdad.
The British plan, drawn up during a conference with Arabs and Jews in London, has been described unofficially as calling for an independent Arab state in Palestine with Jews constituting a permanent minority. The Jewish delegation to the conference rejected it March 16.
Observers thought Britain would make broad concessions to the Arabs in an effort to get their united agreement to a solution with the hope that Jewish assent could be obtained later.
There were persistent rumors of a general amnesty for the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Efendi Al Huseini, and other Arab exiles. The Grand Mufti was said to be moving from Beirut to Baghdad in preparation for return to Jerusalem. He fled to Syria Oct. 16, 1937, to escape British police, who accused him of stirring Arabs to revolt against British authority.
One hundred Jewish families hurried from Jerusalem, meanwhile, to settle on 2500 acres in Northern Palestine, near the Syrian border. This was the first move in the direction of settling at least 18 new farming communities in Galilee within two months.
Seventy trucks loaded with settlers and their goods left the city at dawn for the first point of settlement. It was expected that at least three new communities would be ready for occupation by night.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 3 (AP).—Legislation permitting the Federal Government to acquire 12 acres of President Roosevelt's Hyde Park (N. Y.) estate to establish a library was introduced in the New York Legislature today.
The bill would also give State consent to Federal occupation of any part of the estate which shall be donated to the United States by the President.
The President last year offered certain buildings and land on his Hudson River estate to the Federal Government for a public library to house papers and other data concerning his administration.

MISTRIAL DECLARED AFTER LAWYER, JUROR BECAME ILL

Ex-Judge Hugo Grimm, Attorney in Schrewe Will Contest, Is Taken Sick.

Illness of an attorney in a will-contest trial, after he and opposing counsel had agreed to proceed without one juror who became ill, caused Circuit Judge Charles B. Williams to declare a mistrial yesterday. The suit, that of Joseph Mulhall and his sister, Catherine Mulhall, to set aside the will of their great-uncle, Joseph J. Schrewe, will be redocketed for trial.
The attorney, former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm, representing Mulhalls, was taken ill Monday night after the first day of the trial, which had gone on before 11 jurors. The next trial will be before another jury.
Schrewe, a retired cigar manufacturer, died July 30, 1937, leaving the bulk of his $25,000 estate to Miss Mary Mueller, a nurse, 2739 Shenandoah avenue. The Mulhalls, who reside at 3923A Lafayette avenue, allege he was not of sound mind when he executed the will in October, 1936. They say that under a prior will they were principal beneficiaries, together with Miss Florence Ubanks, a sister-in-law of Schrewe.

cool, mild!

Recently, a group of scientists made this interesting laboratory test on a bigger scale. 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially. CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR THE OTHER BRANDS. (Camels were remarkably consistent. Cigarettes of some brands smoked twice as fast as others right from the same pack.) IN THE SAME TEST, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR ALL OTHER BRANDS.

Camel is the cigarette of costlier tobaccos...cool, mellow, more appealing in taste, always so uniformly delightful!

"There it is again," veteran pilot O. J. Brown exclaims to a group of friends, "...the Camel is burning slower than the other cigarette. To me, that's a perfect explanation of why Camels smoke so cool and mild. It must have a lot to do with the delicate, pleasing taste of Camels, too!"

GOV. SALTONSTALL ACTS TO PREVENT NEW STRIKE CLASH

Arranges for Conference After Police Use Gas on Picketing Seamen at Everett, Mass.

EVERETT, Mass., May 3 (AP).—In an effort to prevent repetition of a waterfront clash between striking seamen and police which resulted in use of tear and gas yesterday, Gov. Leveitt Saltonstall arranged conferences of disputants with the State Conciliation Board today while the union postponed picketing to await determination of its rights.

The area in which yesterday's clash occurred—near an oil refinery just across the Mystic River from Boston—was patrolled today by Everett police, by officers from nearby cities and towns and by the State-controlled metropolitan district police, some of whom were armed with shotguns.

Meanwhile, officers of the National Maritime Union, which seeks wage increases and preferential hiring from four oil companies operating tankers on the Atlantic seaboard, watched the developing situation from Boston headquarters, where 130 gas masks were reported to be ready for use by pickets.

Pickets Withheld. Leaders said pickets were withheld at least until after arraignment of 32 men arrested in yesterday's clash, and they professed uncertainty over the police attitude toward picketing. Everett police indicated "mass picketing" might be forbidden, but said "peaceful picketing" might be allowed. The union has sought to prevent employment of substitute workers on strike-affected ships.

The Governor, after conferences with State Labor Commissioner James T. Moriarty and Public Safety Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney, announced Moriarty would bring labor leaders and tanker operators together.

BRITAIN ENROLLS FARM WORKERS IN CASE OF WAR

Commons Told Training Courses Are Planned for Those Willing to Produce Food.

LONDON, May 3 (AP).—Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, new Minister of Agriculture, disclosed in the House of Commons today that plans have been made for the organization of agricultural production in case of war.

"Steps have been taken to enroll persons willing to work on the land in the event of war, and intensive training courses are planned," he said in response to a question. Reserves of fertilizers have been secured and plans made to reorganize the distribution of fertilizers, feeding stuffs, tractors and other machinery, fuel, implements, seeds and other requisites for wartime.

He said the Government would introduce legislation shortly designed to "bring the land into greater fertility" and estimated that the Government would finance production on at least 250,000 acres.

with State Labor Commissioner James T. Moriarty and Public Safety Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney, announced Moriarty would bring labor leaders and tanker operators together.

Asked if National Guard troops might be called out, Saltonstall replied, "Certainly not," and added, "Make that strong."

"Indefensible Attack." Thomas McGowan, business agent for the National Maritime Union, declared yesterday's conflict an "indefensible and violently brutal attack."

A. F. L. SEEKS TO AVOID COMPANY UNION TAG

Witness Speaks for Wagner Act Revision Along That Line.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Joseph A. Padway, American Federation of Labor general counsel, told the Senate Labor Committee today the A. F. of L. wanted the Wagner Act revised to prevent the National Labor Relations Board from placing any federation union in the category of a company union.

"We seek to prevent the board," he said, "from subjecting us to penalties which are visited upon company unions."

Padway expressed his views to the committee while explaining amendments proposed by the A. F. of L. to the Wagner Act. The amendments would curtail some of the board's powers and limit its authority to invalidate union contracts on the ground they were obtained by employer favoritism.

Chairman Thomas (Dem.) Utah, expressed the view that Padway was contending that no affiliate of the A. F. of L. could be regarded as a company union.

"You would not take from the board the right to judge whether a union is company-dominated just because it was affiliated with a national organization?" Thomas asked.

"We would not," Padway replied. "We have the right to say, however," Padway added, "that a nationally-affiliated organization is not company-dominated."

Padway, urging an amendment which would specifically define company unions, argued that the law originally should have contained such a definition. A company union definition, he said, was excluded from the act originally because employers objected.

GERMANY OFFERS YUGOSLAVIA $80,000,000 BUSINESS CREDIT

Suggests Its Use Over 10-Year Period to Buy War Goods; Repayment in Produce.

BELGRADE, May 3 (AP).—A German offer of a 200,000,000-mark (about $80,000,000) merchandise credit to Yugoslavia was being considered today by economic experts preparing for German-Yugoslav trade discussions.

Government quarters said Germany offered the credit with the suggestion that it be used over a 10-year period, largely for the purchase of war materials.

It was reported that payments to Germany were to be made in agricultural products and raw materials and that interest at 6 per cent would be paid on the sum due to Germany during the life of the agreement.

Yugoslavia previously had refused a similar offer, financial advisers contending that the interest and carrying charges were excessive.

Fascism and Communism Have Made Small Progress in This Hemisphere, He Says.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP).—Propaganda attacks, designed to break up the unity of the Americas, need not be taken too seriously, Adolf A. Berle Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, told the Academy of Political Science today.

"The actual fact is, so far as I can see," Berle said, "neither the Communist nor the Fascist propaganda has made a great deal of headway in South America; the dangers of one or the other are too often magnified in the United States for purposes which are by no means set forth on the surface."

"They have not had great success, and there is no particular occasion to be unduly frightened about them."

"For our purpose, it is enough to know that these movements do exist; and that they do represent a very real attempt, first, to break up the unity of the Americas, and second, to make possible the reopening of this hemisphere to the

REORGANIZATION PLAN ATTACKED UPHELD IN HOUSE

Chairman Cochran Presses Vote Today on Resolution Against Roosevelt No. 1 Proposal.

BUSINESS FAVORS TRANSFER, HE SAYS

Representative Taber asserts Shifting of Agencies Would Be Costly and Inefficient.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—The House defeated today an attempt to kill President Roosevelt's initial plan for reorganizing Government's sprawling executive agencies.

By RICHARD L. STOKES, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—A concurrent resolution, proposed by Congressman John Taber (R-New York), to the effect that Congress does not favor the reorganization plan No. 1 transmitted to Congress by the President April 25, "was taken up this morning by the House, with an assurance from Congressman John Cochran, St. Louis, chairman of the Committee on Government Reorganization, that a vote would be taken during the day."

The resolution had been referred to Cochran's committee, reported adversely by it, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House.

The St. Louisan confined his opening remarks to a few minutes, on the ground that he could conceive no necessity for defending the President's recommendations, which he said have been endorsed overwhelmingly by business men, producers and taxpayers.

"The United States Chamber of Commerce is now holding a convention in Washington," said Cochran. "Ask any member how difficult it is to find the proper Government agency with which to do business. We have heard much about reorganizing Government expenses. Here is a way to do it. We have heard about increased efficiency, greater simplification of the Government's business. The Gentlemen of the opposition now have an opportunity of bringing these things about."

Taber assailed Roosevelt's plan for the reorganization of the executive branch, first organization program. He argued that the Bureau of the Budget should be transferred to the executive office of the President, removing that "it never did have a place in the Treasury."

But assailed further proposals to transfer to the executive office the central statistical board, the National Resources Committee and the handling of personnel.

"The Central Statistical Board," he declared, "is a complete operation of law. It has been a total failure, and should be abolished."

He continued that the National Resources Committee, instead of being perpetuated, should be abolished.

"It has never done anything," he asserted, "except propose expending of public funds. This bill has no legal existence; it operated as part of the relief act of the Works Progress Administration, and will expire June 30 unless there is further legislative action by Congress."

Personnel Plan Attached. The President's proposal to transfer the handling of personnel to the executive office, under one of the six administrative assistants authorized by the reorganization act, was denounced by Taber as an attempt to get around the service laws.

Next to be assailed was the President's proposal to set up a federal security agency, which would take over the Social Security Board, United States Employment Service, Office of Education, Public Health Service, National Youth Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps.

If such an agency as the NYA, needed, said Taber, "it should be handled by the states and not a national organization headed by such a man as Aubrey Williams."

The CCC, he proceeded, expired July 1, 1940. He declared the Social Security Act to be the greatest menace that exists to underprivileged in this country.

Taber also denounced the United States Housing Authority as a "dumped $800,000,000 out the Treasury for alleged slum clearance projects," the Public Works Administration as having "unquestionably induced a commotion throughout the country to get for buildings they could not afford and the Works Progress Administration as being 'notoriously inefficient.'"

But he assailed further proposals to transfer to the executive office the central statistical board, the National Resources Committee and the handling of personnel.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

The Inexcusable Proposal of Senator Bankhead of Alabama That Congress Shelve All Controversial Issues and Adjourn on June 15—Some Things It Should Do.

WASHINGTON, May 3. SENATOR BANKHEAD of Alabama has proposed that Congress lay aside all controversial legislation and serve notice that it intends to adjourn on June 15. He says that "we ought to give the people a rest."

A rest from what, Senator? In the four months that have been in session, Congress has completed no action of importance outside the fields of national defense, reorganization and the necessary supply bills to keep the Government going. There has rarely been a session where the "do-nothing" could be more fittingly applied.

At times in the past it has been said—usually without warrant—that Congress was "upsetting business" by staying in session. That can't be said of the present Congress. Business is in the doldrums, but it is not there by virtue of any legislative action since the first of the year.

The fact of the matter is that Congress is passing up a genuine opportunity to do something for business and for the country through tax revision. What has become of the "appeasement" program on which congressional leaders and Secretary Hopkins, some weeks ago, were said to be at work? Even if the administration has cooled off, what is to prevent Congress from taking the initiative and handing up a tax bill to the President? Why should not Congress, in the exercise of a constitutional function, take the initiative in this matter and try to give effect to the glowing prospectus of his Des Moines speech?

There are so many points on which the liberal and the conservative schools of thought are in agreement that it ought not to take long to frame a tax program that would command a majority in both houses.

Tax revision is not the only item on the agenda of urgent business.

At the very top is the matter of neutrality legislation. Congress will default in a plain duty if it thrusts the neutrality issue forward, as Senator Bankhead would have it do, into the next session. The danger of the sudden outbreak of war in Europe is such that the issue ought to be faced and settled now, without delay. Otherwise the United States may find itself choosing sides in the middle of a conflict.

The solution that commends itself to this writer is the passage of the Pittman bill, permitting the sale of munitions to belligerents on the cash-and-carry basis, but the point is that Congress should take some definite action toward ending the present confusion.

Issues that likewise clamor for attention are those centering about proposed amendments to the Wagner Labor Relations Act and the Social Security Act. There is also, among other unfinished business, the matter of the President's recommendation of a simple statute to stop the issuance of tax-exempt public bonds.

The House found time the other day to pass a bill increasing the benefits of war veterans. It is a safe bet that the Senate will pass it, too. There has been no talk among the legislators about laying this measure aside until next year.

There is work for Congress to do for the whole public as well as for the war veterans. Its members are paid the sizable salary of $10,000 each. So long as there is urgent business demanding study and action, there is no excuse for Congress to run out on the job, whether in June, July, August or September. That is true in any case, and entirely apart from Senator John Wheeler's contention that Congress ought to stay in Washington indefinitely in order to keep the nation out of war.

If Congress does run out, if it does take its hands off the hands of the President, let none of its members who are party to that action cry out ever again against "executive domination" of the Government!

ANDREW'S DEFINITION OF 'HOURS OF WORK'

Term Includes All Time Employe Is Required to Be on Duty.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—Elmer F. Andrews, Wage-Hour Administrator, defined today the term "hours of work" under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

"As a general rule," he said, in an interpretive bulletin, "hours worked will include: (1) All the time during which an employee is required to be on duty or to be on the employer's premises, or to be at a prescribed work place, and (2) all time during which an employee is suffered or permitted to work, whether or not he is required to do so."

Andrews said numerous cases fell outside his general rule, and declared that since the act contained no specific guide for computing "hours of work" reasonable rules must be adopted.

His general formula, he said, would cover in ordinary cases "all hours from beginning of the workday to end, with the exception of periods when the employee is relieved from all duties for the purpose of eating a meal."

"Hours worked," he added, "are not limited to the time spent in active labor, but include time given by the employee to the employer, even though part of the time may be spent in idleness."

In the category of listed interruptions caused by machinery breakdowns, and waiting to load or unload transportation vehicles. The waiting time of messenger boys and chauffeurs, he held, should be computed as working time.

Andrews said in a speech last night success in enforcing the act was due in part "to a popular law which squares with the public conscience."

Other factors aiding the administration, he told the American Trade Association, were wholehearted support from most employers and help from trade associations.

concluded, "can result only in imposing a useless overhead on almost all of the agencies concerned. They will cost money. They will not promote efficiency, but destroy it."

"The sore spot of the program," contributed Representative Dewey (Short (Rep.), Missouri, "is that it does not abolish any of these agencies, but merely reshuffles the cards."

JAPANESE BOMBS FIRE SECTION OF CHUNGKING

Hundreds Reported Killed or Injured in Raid on China's Wartime Capital.

CHUNGKING, May 3 (AP).—Hundreds are believed to have been killed or injured today when Japanese bombing planes raided this Chinese war-time capital.

The Japanese dropped most of their bombs outside the city near new war projects, but six heavy missiles landed in the most congested part of Chungking and started large fires. Police and soldiers patrolled the streets with drawn pistols to maintain order while rescue squads began the task of removing the dead and injured from flaming ruins.

It was not determined immediately whether any foreigners were hurt.

Japanese Bomb Foochow, Wenchow, Ningpo in South. SHANGHAI, May 3 (AP).—Japanese planes bombed coastal cities in Southern China yesterday and inflicted heavy losses of life and property.

Many bombs fell near the foreign settlement of Foochow during repeated attacks on that capital of Fukien Province, but no one in the settlement was hurt. Wenchow, in Southeast Chekiang Province, and Ningpo, just south of Hangchow Bay, where a heavy export trade has flourished, were also attacked.

Japanese officers said 250 Chinese soldiers were killed at Hsuehchow, an important railroad junction in Northern Kiangsu Province, when 1000 Chinese attacked the city. West of Hsuehchow, near Kaifeng, Honan provincial capital, the Chinese were said to be fighting actively although the invaders reported they had driven off 3000 Chinese, killing 200.

ITALIAN ARMY PLANE STILL MISSING AFTER 5-DAY SEARCH
Two Famous Pilots Disappeared Soon After Takeoff From Tripoli for Libya.

ROME, May 3 (AP).—A five-day search has failed to disclose any trace of a three-motored Italian army plane piloted by two famous flyers last heard from near Misurata, Libya, an hour after their takeoff from Tripoli April 27.

The plane was piloted by Col. Alessandro Miglia and Col. Jacopo Calo Carducci, both of whom accompanied Air Marshal Italo Balbo on his flight to South America in 1930 and to Chicago in 1933.

From Tripoli they had planned to fly to Tobruk, Libya, near the Egyptian border, but they were last reported by radio from Misurata, 105 miles from Tripoli.

SENATE FIGHT IN PROSPECT ON RIVER TRAFFIC

First Test on Bill to Put Water Carriers Under I. C. C. Is Expected on Reference to Committee.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A Senate fight is threatened over the bill backed by railroads to put waterways under regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, with Chairman Wheeler of the powerful Senate Interstate Commerce Committee sponsoring the measure and Chairman Bailey of the equally powerful Commerce Committee opposing it.

Not only have active lobbies on both sides gone into action on the issue but a controversy has developed between Wheeler and Bailey over whose committee shall have jurisdiction over the measure. Wheeler insists that it belongs rightfully to him. Bailey points to the fact that the Commerce Committee has had inland waterways since 1817 and he does not propose to give them up now.

Clark to Move Reference.

The bill, it is now planned, will be introduced in the Senate next week. Bailey, who cannot be present, has arranged with Senator Clark of Missouri to move to refer the measure, or at any rate the section concerning inland waterways, to the Commerce Committee.

It is likely to precipitate a lively scrap. Once before when the late Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York was chairman of the Commerce Committee, Wheeler became involved in a controversy over the extent of his committee's jurisdiction.

The present bill, which would put all forms of transportation excepting air transport under the Interstate Commerce Commission, has the active backing of the Railroad and the best support at least of the powerful railroad unions. Wheeler says that a provision in it requiring the commission to fix rates in each field without regard to competing forms of transportation is a safe safeguard for the waterways.

Fears Rate Increase.

Bailey takes the opposite view, expressing the fear that passage of the measure would mean an immediate increase in both rail and water rates. The result would be, as he sees it, to bring both inland water and coastal shipping interests back to Congress again for still another subsidy.

"I am fully aware of the situation the railroads are in," Bailey said. "But I cannot see how it would help them to put the waterways out of business. Furthermore, I have seen recent figures showing that the waterways haul only about three per cent of the country's total freight. It seems to me doubtful that that three per cent would make any real difference."

Opponents of the regulatory bill in the Senate say it followed failure of an earlier effort on the part of railroad executives to find a sponsor for a measure that would, in effect, put a toll on rivers and canals. Railroad interests backing such a bill are said to have approached both Wheeler and Bailey.

Waterway Lobby in Capital.

The inland waterways have a strong lobby in Washington. In recent weeks it has been augmented by Representatives of shippers and barge owners from river points. Lachlan Macleay, head of the Mississippi Valley Association, and former Representative Cleveland A. Norton of St. Louis are in Washington taking an active part in the fight on the bill.

Senator Truman of Missouri is co-sponsor with Wheeler of the regulatory measure. Clark, on the other hand, has always favored inland waterways. It was his interest in water transportation that caused him to seek a place on the commerce committee.

The question of freight rates discrimination against the South is involved, Bailey said, indicating that Southern Senators would be opposed to the Wheeler-Truman bill. If jurisdiction is once given to the I. C. C. over all forms of transportation then a "fair" revision of rates will be impossible, Bailey declared.

"Coastwise shipping may well be destroyed under this measure," Bailey said. "Congress has approved subsidies for a merchant marine and now it is proposed to wipe out this effort. I am sure that many interests, including the motor carriers, will oppose the regulatory move."

HITLER DRINKS ONE PCT. BEER

Special Beverage Made for Him by Bavarian Brewery. BERLIN, May 3 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, whose abstention from tobacco and alcoholic drinks is well known, occasionally enjoys a glass of beer with an alcoholic content of 1 per cent.

A person close to the Fuehrer said his beer comes from a Bavarian brewery which volunteered to make the special drink.

INQUIRY INTO WPA IN PENNSYLVANIA TO BE BROADENED

Hearing Until Monday, Sends Investigators Back Into State.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—The House committee investigating the WPA suddenly canceled a hearing scheduled for today and sent its investigators back into Pennsylvania to develop further information on certain phases of the relief setup there.

J. O'Connor Roberts, committee counsel, said the committee originally intended to hear testimony today from the investigators concerning WPA construction and administrative matters in Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre and Philadelphia.

Roberts declined to give details as to what additional information was desired. He said most of the construction work involved road building.

High Cost of Fair Exhibit.

Representative Taber (Rep., New York), asserted today that the WPA building and exhibit at the New York World's Fair would cost more than $2,500,000—ten times the figure originally estimated by Col. F. C. Harrington, Works Progress Administrator.

The House committee investigating the WPA heard testimony yesterday from Allen W. Stephens, Treasury procurement division engineer, that $544,000 had been spent on the building alone when it was 95 per cent completed.

Taber told reporters later that testimony would be presented to show the cost of shipping WPA exhibits to the fair would total $400,000.

"That's a direct diversion of relief funds from the needy," he said, "to advertise America's distress to the world."

$400,000 at San Francisco. Taber told reporters future testimony would show that the WPA had spent more than $400,000 for the stage, scenery and lighting on its exhibit at the San Francisco World's Fair.

Taber said other items would run up the cost of the project at New York included the cost of the exhibits themselves, which he estimated would approach $500,000, and the payroll for personnel employed there.

"They're going to run a sort of continuous show there," he added, "in addition to their art and music exhibits, and I can see where there might be a payroll of around $1,000,000."

The committee decided to resume hearings Monday by receiving testimony from Mayors on how WPA functioned in their cities. Representative Woodrum (Dem.), Virginia, who is directing the committee's investigation, said a committee report would be issued.

The Official Gazette published several decisions by Goebbels, under the law of May 19, 1933, for the protection of national symbols. Among them was the decree against a picture of the two statesmen before the hotel where Hitler stayed

WIDOW OF PORTUGAL'S LAST KING WED TO SWEDISH COUNT

Augusta Victoria Married to Robert Douglas in Langenstein, Germany.

STOCKHOLM, May 3 (AP).—The marriage of Princess Augusta Victoria of Hohenzollern, widow of former King Manoel of Portugal, and Count Robert Douglas of Sweden was announced today.

Douglas is the descendant of a Scottish family which emigrated to Sweden in the sixteenth century. The marriage was performed at Langenstein, Baden, Germany. Manoel II, the last King of Portugal, died July 2, 1932. Portugal became a Republic in 1910.

DEWEY GETS MEDAL FOR CRIME CLEAN-UP

Accepts Cardinal Newman Medal in Name of Citizens Who Helped Him.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 3 (AP).—New York's District Attorney, Thomas E. Dewey, received the Cardinal Newman Award for 1938 last night for his "racket busting" war on crime and asserted in an address that "America is cleaning its own house."

"The extermination of organized crime is gradually progressing from city to city," he said. "Its sponsors are being exposed and driven from power. The people have learned they need no longer tolerate the future alliance between the upper and underworld. In high places it has been learned that clean government also can be good politics. It will take years to finish the job but the good news of today is this—America is cleaning its own house."

Plea for Spiritual Militancy.

Dewey, whose name has been mentioned frequently in discussions of Republican presidential possibilities, called for "spiritual militancy" on the part of all citizens to complete the task. He continued: "The pretended strength of government is never a substitute for the real strength of the individual. It has been shown in many countries that excessive reliance upon government has the effect of weakening the individual. Society can not endure if government is built on a mass of weakened individuals."

He denounced those who "would substitute for moral law the dictates of expediency" and the "false prophets" who "teach that the individual and his freedom must be suppressed for the glory of the state."

He urged Americans to retain the religious ideas and traditions of the country so that "when we have cleaned our own house, we shall keep it clean."

Tribute to Citizens. He said he accepted the gold medal struck in the memory of the late John Henry Cardinal Newman not as a personal prize but as a tribute to the "thousands of citizens" who aided him in his drive against the racketeers. He mentioned especially the jurors, business men and

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

An Eye-Witness Report on Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY! In any large city that name, when mentioned, brings forth such exclamations as "wide-open town," "city of graft," "refuge of criminals," "dope center," and many other all-too-truthful descriptions. It is surprising how these descriptions stick in my mind as I neared the city I was to live in.

The Union Station is a comparatively new structure, well designed throughout, and unquestionably an asset to the community. But it flashed through my mind that this was the place where a bloody massacre had taken place only a few years before, so the beauty of this place was nullified to a certain extent in my uneasy mind.

Districts, rents and cost of living will furnish any outsider with quite a few surprises. Inquiring about a place to live, I was told that the trend was toward the southern part of the city. I was cautioned to go beyond 3000 south, as districts north of there were sprinkled with any number of very indiscreet people. Later, I concluded that this caution covered more territory in the direct vicinity of Main street than any other place in particular.

A walk north on Main street, from about the 600 block, will furnish almost as much repulsive atmosphere as a person will care to stand. Here you see one element of the city, unkempt whites and Negroes, some of them drunk and all of them looking in fits that challenge the health of the city. However, nothing seems to be done about the matter, and the whole panorama is a typical example of the civic attitude of Kansas Cityans. One of the most noticeable things to me through these districts is the scarcity of policemen.

A common impression seems to be that rent is cheaper in this city than in most cities, but actually there is very little difference. Food is extremely high, and the price of cleaning is nothing short of legal robbery! Salaries, as an average, also seem to be lower than elsewhere. And what do the people do about these things? Nothing. They accept these conditions without even trying to do anything about them, their excuses always linking up with the deplorable political conditions.

It is said that this city is the most American city, but if it is, then they surely have a strong Italian faction that takes no small part in the running of things. Of course, this faction's power has been gained through intimidation, but even with the noble help of two grand juries, the American people still lag, and fail to take any active, informed part in the management of the city government. Evidently, they still feel the sting of the whip and are afraid to assert themselves.

As most people of this State know, the Prosecuting Attorney, W. W. Graves, in spite of indictments, still holds office—the County Judges, in spite of criticism, still remain in their strongholds, and make no mistake about it, the political machine of Kansas City is still functioning in its own quiet way, merely waiting for the outside pressure to ease off, a thinning of FBI agents and a return to normalcy in city affairs. When this happens, some powerful faction of the city government regime will take over the reins and this city will be back where it was before intervention by Gov. Stark and Federal agencies.

Simple deduction tells anyone that Mayor Smith, even if he is sincere, can't survive the terrible political pressure that these factions will apply later, and the new Director of Police, Boyle, will be like putty.

The only solution this writer sees at present is a city manager sent down from the heavens and a State police control, supervised and patrolled by guardian angels.

And why? Because the very people of this city, at large, seem either too ignorant to grasp this opportunity for freedom, or else they have become so used to this political graft that they feel immune, whichever way the ax may fall.

The present outlook here forecasts the future in these terms: Long as the come tax evaders have paid their debt to society, if you will, Kansas City will still be the gateway to the West for narcotics, and still a refuge for all criminals. It will still be a wide-open town, inhabited by a class of people indifferent to good city government.

Kansas City, Mo. JARCO.

O Mr. Egan!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WENDELL L. WILLKIE, president of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, one of the largest utility holding companies in the United States, recently said: "This year the TVA competition forced the sale to the Government of the Tennessee Electric Power Co. The investor is hardly to be blamed for asking, 'What power company is the next to go?'"

I am no investor—I am simply one of the great submerged who use electricity and pay their bills by the tenth of the month. But, answering Mr. Willkie's question, I hope the Union Electric Co. is the next company to go.

P. R.—I used to live in St. Charles.

TAX APPEASEMENT TAKES FORM.

The interests of what we broadly term business are not in conflict with, but wholly in harmony with, mass interests.—President Roosevelt, in a letter written in 1935.

After burrowing in the headlines and then languishing, the administration's so-called appeasement program shows some signs of taking on shape and substance. The Treasury is reported to have drafted, with the President's approval, a series of helpful changes in business taxes.

These include elimination of the taxes on undistributed profits, capital stock and excess profits, and the substitution of a flat corporation income levy. Corporations would also be authorized to carry over tax credits for losses for three years instead of one, and the capital gains tax would be reduced in cases where securities are held longer than six months.

The Treasury also recommends that the upper brackets of the income tax be reduced, with the maximum lowered from 70 to 60 per cent, but President Roosevelt has not yet given his approval. In view of the urgent need for stimulating venture capital, this appears to be a moderate enough recommendation.

In fact, the Treasury's proposals in many respects do not go nearly as far toward removing the tax deterrents to recovery as has been recommended in the studies of the Brookings Institution, Fortune's Round Table and other research groups.

Congress, it should be recalled, is already moving to defer for three years the scheduled increases in the old-age annuity taxes. But the Brookings Institution would go further. Instead of merely freezing the old-age annuity tax at 1 per cent for the time being, it would reduce it to ½ per cent.

The proposal to extend from one year to three years the period in which losses may be allowed to offset profits is good as far as it goes. In industries where profits depend on a cycle of several years, it would seem wise and fair to permit losses to be carried forward for a considerably longer period. In England, operating losses may be carried forward for a period of six years.

Let us take an example of how profits calculated on an annual basis discriminate against businesses whose earnings are likely to be cyclical. A department store that averages an annual profit of $100,000 for five years pays a tax for the period of $95,000, if it pays no dividends. But a shoe factory that nets $100,000 annually for the first two years, but loses that sum annually for the next three years, pays $38,000 in taxes, although it has had a net loss of $100,000 for the five-year period. Failure to provide some fair method of averaging the lean years with the fat means that taxes operate as a periodic form of capital levy.

But whatever their limitations, the proposed concessions are substantial. They are a definite step in the direction of encouraging our $5 billion dollars of idle bank deposits to become active in business and industry. They will not suffice in themselves to restore recovery, but they would partially remove one set of deterrents.

Some business men, it has been said, have come to feel that perhaps the administration really doesn't care whether the system of private capitalism goes on or not. The proposed tax reforms should help restore the faith of such doubting Thomases.

Confidence could be further augmented if the administration would strike a sensible medium on pump-priming expenditures and increase income taxes in the middle brackets to help bring the budget nearer to a balance. On the other hand, the proposal for a Federal sales tax, made by a speaker at the United States Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington, does not make sense, for taxes on consumption are already so high as to be a heavy drag on purchasing power.

And while business is telling the administration what to do to promote recovery, it should examine itself to see if it is passing on to the consumer the benefits of technical improvements in production. This is one of the ways in which business can help strengthen consumption and restore its own health.

SPOILING THE LEGISLATORS' FUN.

That was a modest request made in the Missouri House by Representative Don Grafton of Joplin. Mr. Grafton proposed merely that the State pay the expenses of all legislators who want to attend the Kentucky Derby Saturday. The House, impressed by the timely suggestion, aware that spring fever was getting in its ravages and that many members needed a bit of wholesome relaxation, joyously adopted the resolution, by a vote of 62 to 30.

However, one of those insufferable advocates of the public interest was present. He was Representative Frank Iffrig of St. Peters, who cast cold water on the happy occasion by saying: "It's a shame to pass a proposal such as this when we all know that old folks in this State have not even received their May pension checks." Another spoli-sport, Representative T. J. Walker of Columbia, moved to reject the resolution, and a majority of the statesmen voted, amid heavy sighs, to do so.

We have referred to Mr. Grafton's plan as a modest proposal. And it was, since there are also two world's fairs going on at the present moment.

A USEFUL LIFE.

For 20 years or more, Frank P. Walsh, whose sudden death occurred yesterday, has been a resident of New York. Even the exceptional person would be forgotten in that long span. But Missouri has not forgotten him.

It was in that bitter battle for the nomination for Governor which Joseph W. Folk and James A. Reed waged far back in 1904 that Frank Walsh came charging into state-wide stature. Before that, Kansas City had known him as a young lawyer of promise, already on the way to professional success. Jefferson City knew him, too, by reason of his occasional visits during legislative sessions. He was known in political circles as a reformer, identified often with unpopular causes, and always in full fighting regalia. His part in the Folk-Reed contest, which was really a feud, took him into virtually every county in the State. As a supporter of "the little Circuit Attorney" who had routed a phalanx of Goliaths, Frank Walsh was a battalions.

With his nomination and election, Folk seemed to be Missouri's man of destiny, but his administration, one of respectability, though not surpassing, accomplishments, marked his peak. His star declined, but Frank Walsh, by virtue of a driving force and intense conviction, entered upon a rising career, from which he was never diverted by political ambition.

Yet he received important political recognition, by appointment, from President Woodrow Wilson and, later, in New York, from the then Gov. Franklin D.

Roosevelt. He also found time and energy to establish his reputation as a labor lawyer, as the able friend in court of clients from whom, in many instances, the fee could be only gratitude.

A fighter all along the way, he had his friends, and collected a strong man's quota of enemies. The days of his 75 years were days of active, belligerent usefulness.

A LAWYER'S GRAB IS FOILED.

The efforts of Missouri lawyers to obtain a monopoly in the field of adjusting insurance claims, and to drive out the laymen now doing this work, have failed. The Missouri Supreme Court, sitting en banc and by unanimous decision, has reversed a Boone County Circuit Court ruling granting an injunction sought by the State Bar Advisory Committee against six insurance companies. Thereby the Supreme Court has done a highly sensible thing, and has scotched a shabby scheme to obtain jobs for lawyers at the expense of the public interest.

The Missouri case was a center of nation-wide interest. Many lawyers of other states also are avid to get these insurance jobs, as may be seen by the fact that briefs were filed in this case by bar associations of such distant points as Alabama, California, Mississippi, Birmingham, New Orleans and Milwaukee.

The Supreme Court's opinion, by Judge George R. Ellison, simplified the issue and went to the heart of the matter by stating that the relationship between an insurance company and the policyholder "is that of insurer and insured, and it is not that of attorney and client."

Guided by this principle, the court found no reason why lay adjusters could not investigate the circumstances of a claim, or fill in printed forms, or report to his employer, or determine the amount to be paid. In short, they may perform every step except the stating of opinions as to the various parties' legal rights.

Lay adjusters have been doing this work satisfactorily for years. It is a field in which knowledge of insurance practices, not of the law, is the prime requisite. To say that only lawyers are fitted to discharge these duties, as the State bar group asserted, is the height of absurdity.

If insurance companies were required to retain lawyers for this work, as the Boone County court ruled, hundreds of adjusters would have lost their means of livelihood, and the cost of insurance, borne by the public, would have been greatly increased. Of far greater import, however, was the fact that such a ruling, if upheld, would have opened the door to similar abuses in other fields.

Many workers have some routine contact with legal forms and contracts; for instance, accountants, credit men, transportation rate experts, real estate men, insurance agents, department store complaint adjusters, advertising salesmen and even ticket sellers for railway, bus, steamship and air lines. Were all these fields taken over by lawyers, several million persons over the country would lose their jobs, and the law schools could not fill the demand for years.

It is possible, of course, that the Missouri decision will be appealed. There is little likelihood, however, that so sensible a ruling can be overturned. Many lawyers doubtless feel that this crude effort to force legal services on the public has reflected seriously on the dignity of the profession. They should let their leaders hear from them if an appeal is considered.

JUDGE OAKLEY'S FINE RULING.

Nick and Weston asked for a supersedeas in Judge Oakley's court Monday. They didn't get it. They did get a ruling which the city might well take time off to applaud.

John P. Nick and Clyde A. Weston are the indicted former bosses of Motion Picture Machine Operators' Local No. 143. It was happy days for them before they were ousted. And a supersedeas, as Judge Oakley explained, would put them back in control of the local assets pending a ruling on their appeal by the Supreme Court. Judge Oakley could not see how an appeal bond would protect the union's members if Nick and Weston again got affairs in their clutches.

An attorney for Nick and Weston argued that it was mandatory on the court to grant a supersedeas. The court did not think so. What the court thinks, and says, is the law. In this instance, it is the Law gallantly escorted by Common Sense and Justice.

CINCINNATI REFORM UNDER FIRE.

Cincinnati has been renowned among American cities for years because of its good government. Now the system that has played a large part in making good government possible is under fire by the same political group that was ousted from control by the adoption of the city's present reform charter.

A special election is to be held June 6 on the issue of abandoning the proportional representation voting system in municipal elections. The Republican organization, unable to dominate the City Council because the P. R. system provides for minority representation, is seeking a return to the old bloc method of voting, whereby one party may more readily win control. P. R. has been urged in St. Louis, to remedy the present unhealthy condition of a one-party Board of Aldermen. In Cincinnati, it has resulted in able representatives, in what former City Manager Dykstra calls "government in the open," and in representation for varied political viewpoints.

Cincinnati has been for so long a shining light among American cities that an action opening the door to the old, discredited political gang would be most regrettable. It is to be hoped the forces that have safeguarded the city's admirable charter against previous onslaughts will again prevail.

SAFETY FOR MILITARY FLYERS.

Government aviation officials have asserted that safety first principles will be emphasized in the forthcoming expansion of military aviation. During the last two or three years, Germany, Britain and France have had exceedingly high mortality rates in their air forces. The United States Army Air Corps made the best safety record of its history last year with only 62 fatalities. But with the army and the navy both increasing the numbers of their planes, and with 20,000 college pilots expected to be trained annually, there is ample chance for higher accident records.

The navy has promised rigid adherence to safety factors. The War Department said recently that "there will be no short cuts that affect the safety of the flyers." The public still remembers the tragedies that ensued in 1924 when the army took over the air mail. Therefore, the pledges of extreme caution during this trying period of expansion are reassuring.

Fritz Kuhn and William Kunze speak English with the same anti-American accent.

ALL RIGHT IF IT DOESN'T RAIN.

Britain Becomes a Continental Power

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Current shifts in foreign and military policies are viewed by London observer as revolutionary; air menace and rise of Nazis have altered nation's position in world; new commitments in Europe and adoption of conscription to implement them thus become compulsory.

Harold Callender, London Correspondent, in the New York Times.

LONDON.

THE British are slow to change, slow to react, slow even to recognize the dangers facing them. This temperamental conservatism and sluggishness have often, as they do now, given rise to rash conclusions regarding the energies and the future of Britain. Yet, within six weeks of the German seizure of Prague, Britain has revolutionized both her foreign policy and her military policy—events whose historic significance is as yet only dimly understood.

Britain, which for so long refused to make specific commitments on the Continent and even a few months ago declined to make any promises touching Europe beyond the Rhine, is now committed to use "all her power" to repulse attacks on Poland and two Balkan countries.

Britain, which throughout her history—save only in the last war, and then not until a year and a half after it started—had refused to impose compulsory military service upon her people, has now done so in advance of the outbreak of war; or will formally do so this week as a result of the Government's announcement last week.

Does this mean that the temperamental conservatism of the British has diminished or that their nervous responses have quickened? No, it means that Britain's position in the world has altered fundamentally and that Britons—somewhat belatedly, as usual—have taken account of it and drawn logical conclusions.

Certainly, the British have done so only under the remorseless pressure of circumstances—of circumstances which result partly from what is commonly called scientific progress and partly from what may be called political retrogression. For there are two reasons for these revolutions in Britain: the rapid growth of air power and the swift expansion of the power of the Nazi Reich.

The air menace has made the British Isles a part of the Continent in a sense they have never been in all their recorded history. The rise of the Nazi realm has threatened the liberties of Europeans far more than they could be threatened by King Louis XVI or Napoleon, both of whom were unable even to imagine that concentration of economic power of which the Nazis dream.

In former times, conquest meant loot, political domination, military levies, but it did not mean complete social regimentation such as the Nazis impose wherever their realm extends. Wars were fought with relatively small armies; and Britain, shielded by her fleet, had time to train an army starting from scratch, after war began. Safe from invasion for nine centuries, thanks to her navy, Britain has been able to dispense with conscription and to develop her police and liberties without the great fear of alien despotism.

Her battles have been fought beyond the shores of this "green and pleasant land"—on the high seas by ships which few Britons could ever see, or on the soil of other nations, and often, as in Marlborough's wars, with foreign soldiers.

Visitors from the Continent are always struck by the rarity of military uniforms in Britain, save at show places like Buckingham Palace and the Tower of London. The soldier has played a small part in Britain's domestic life in modern times. His job

What Awaits the College?

Books in the News

THE four-year liberal arts college which has dotted the American landscape for a century and more—what is going to become of it? Will it pass from the scene, or is it to make itself more useful and more purposeful than it has ever been? This is the problem Dr. Norman Foerster, director of the School of Letters in the State University of Iowa, takes up in a stimulating book, "The Future of the Liberal College" (D. Century-Appleton Co., New York). To this educator, writer, critic and observer of American life, it is as important a cultural problem as the United States faces today.

He first conducts an inventory of the present, and finds the four-year liberal college already "moribund"—indeed, at "death's door." It is being overwhelmed by the ever larger state universities, those "vast department stores of courses," and by the multiplying two-year colleges. And it is being overwhelmed largely because it has gone in more and more for trade and craft training, in which it cannot compete with these rapidly expanding educational mills.

But the liberal colleges still have time to save themselves, in the opinion of this staunch friend. They must take hold of themselves quickly now and resolve no longer to be or to seek to be "service colleges or servile colleges, merely serving the end of vocational knacks and professional skills. They must return to the ways of liberal education, make the great books of the world again part of their curriculum and develop a point of view dominantly humanistic. It means, too, more study of the past than has recently been fashionable.

Why a turning back? Why an emphasis on the past? Not merely because many of the great books are old books. Dr. Foerster wants the young men and women coming out of our colleges and universities in the next few years to know "that human nature is in all times and places of recorded history fundamentally the same and that it will not be changed tomorrow." Let the liberal college point this out and it will become more Alma Mater caring individually for its sons and daughters, something which the dinosaurs of higher education "cannot do."

Dr. Foerster writes inspiringly of democracy as well as his faith in liberal education. He sums up his belief in both in these lines: "The liberal college is nothing more or less than a place which renders possible the growth of free men and women, not wage slaves or salary slaves, not slaves to the senses and passions. Its aim is not to train the masses for cheap power and service, but to send into society enough thoughtful and high-minded persons to elevate the tone of life and to provide a sound leadership, persons whose words and deeds possess a certain authority and to which others will be tempted to rally."

Let the scoffers say what he will, society has a conscience, a capacity for response to what is obviously right, an enthusiasm for nobility, which is again and again duped by demagogues and mass insanities, but is waiting to reassert itself when spurred by the right word or deed."

THE FEDERAL WRITERS' PROJECT of New York City continues its nature history series with a handsome volume, "Reptiles and Amphibians" (Albert Whitman & Co., Chicago). The book gives new sketches of all the major reptilian species and is well illustrated with photographs and charts. The project's previous volumes were on mammals and birds.

THOUGH there is still a chance that the European war can be postponed and avoided, there does not appear to be anything the President can do at the present moment to influence the outcome.

Europe has reached a point where the kind of general peace which he proposed is now feasible. It would require a degree of reciprocal demobilization both physical and moral, that is possible in the present state of Europe.

In the axis, an acceptance of President's proposal, and all implies, would mean not only annihilation of a large part of the ambitions, but the probability that if the tension were sufficiently relaxed, the axis itself would be grate and the profound, but pressed popular longing for peace would be released. In the axis, the point has been reached where three principal members, Britain, France and Poland, are bound to feel that it is not in their interest to fight, and the end hang separately.

In the immediate future, for a general settlement seem to be ruled out until the strength of the axis alliance has been put to the test. Apparently the test is to be over Poland, not over Britain, the highway across the Continent over Poland itself. For Danzig and the highway are the case, it was not until Poland the France-British alliance Hitler made Danzig and the case a great issue in Europe. In 1934, he signed a treaty, postponed for at least 10 years raising of the German claim to Poland. If these claims are made a prime objective, it is only because they are a promise of a great issue in Europe, and their guarantees in Eastern Europe of neutralizing or even subjugating Poland.

This in turn makes a settlement of the Danzig and the highway questions extremely difficult. The Poles make no concessions they may have to fight on an where their moral position is good, and their guarantees Britain and France by no means absolutely dependable.

On the other hand, if they go to Hitler, they may lose much that they have gained. Danzig and a highway 15 miles wide.

METHODIST JUDICIAL COUNCIL TO BE NAMED BY BISHOP

Conference of New Church Adopts Resolution Urging Clergy Not to Use Tobacco.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3.—The Methodist uniting conference provided yesterday for a judicial council of five ministers and four laymen to be named by the bishops.

The proposal was adopted in objection of some delegates, termed the selection by the Methodist uniting conference for the first 500,000 members each jurisdiction of the new judicial Church and one additional member for each 500,000 additional members in a jurisdiction was provided.

The church voted to urge ministers not to use tobacco, but refrained from following the rule of the former Methodist Episcopal Church forbidding clergymen to tobacco.

GIFT BY BISHOP SCARLETT TO JEWISH WELFARE FUND

Pleasure to Help Alleviate Plight of People in Other Parts of World, He Writes.

Bishop William Scarlett has taken the Jewish Welfare Fund making his contribution to the fund's drive that "it is a pleasure to contribute to a fund that to alleviate the tragic plight of Jewish people in other parts of the world."

In thanking Bishop Scarlett for his contribution, Rabbi Ford Isaacson, chairman of the fund, wrote in reply that he would "pretend the contribution 'as a symbol of the sympathy of millions of Christians for the plight of the Jews in Germany.'"

Although Isaacson said today that although Christians are not solicited actively, contributions from them would be received, fund seeks a goal of $511,937, less than half of which will be coming from Jewish refugees abroad.

'POLLY PRY' OF PRESS IS D

Mrs. Kidder, Newspaper Woman Succumbs in New York.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Augusta Raymond Kidder, known under the pseudonym of 'Polly Pry' to newspaper readers of several decades ago and a pioneer in fight for woman suffrage, died today.

The widow of Edward E. Kidder, an American dramatist, was married on the paternal side to E. Harris Raymond, founder of New York Times, and on the maternal side to Horace Greeley of New York Tribune. She wrote a column for the old New York Herald and also for the New York Herald. Funeral will be held Friday.

Thyrsus to Present 'First Edition,' a one-act play by Wayne Arnold, will be presented by Thyrsus, Washington University dramatic club, tomorrow at 4 p. m. at Brown Hall auditorium. A graduate student in English at the university.

SCIENTISTS GO TO DEDICATION OF MOUNT LOCKE TELESCOPE

Pass Through St. Louis En Route to McDonald Observatory in West Texas.

A party of astronomers and physicists representing leading observatories in North America and Europe passed through St. Louis yesterday by train en route to Mount Locke Observatory, on the west side of the state, where they will take part Friday in the dedication of a new telescope, the second most powerful instrument in the world.

The group included Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Chicago University physicist and Nobel prize winner; Dr. Harlow Shapley of the Harvard observatory; Prof. E. A. Milne of the University of Oxford, England; Dr. Bertil Lindblad of the Stockholm observatory in Sweden; and others.

The McDonald telescope's 82-inch mirror is second only to the 100-inch mirror at Mount Wilson Observatory, California.

INQUIRY INTO CHARGES OF BARGE WORKERS

Union Asserts Federal Lines Has Used Strikebreakers and Violated Wagner Act

An investigation of charges that the Federal barge lines used strikebreakers and violated the Wagner Labor Relations Act will be made by the Department of Justice, Assistant Attorney-General Brien McMahon said in a letter received at the office of the General Council of Riverworkers today.

The council is composed of A. F. of L. and CIO union members who have been out on strike since last Thursday, tying up all barge traffic on the Mississippi and its tributaries. About 800 are on strike.

In a statement issued on Monday the council charged that the government-owned barge lines had blacklisted union men, had attempted to ship nonunion crews, had attempted to coerce employees into joining company unions and had violated provisions of the Wagner act.

The council announced today that it had received an affidavit from its port agent in Dubuque, Ia., alleging that the company had used WPA workers as strikebreakers. The affidavit gave no names, numbers or details.

JOHN J. FOLEY GIVEN HEALTH OFFICE IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Only Victor on Levee Board State Gets Politically Undesirable Commissioner.

John Joe Foley, only member of the Levee Board state elected Commissioner in East St. Louis April 4, was assigned the politically undesirable post of Commissioner of Public Health when the new city administration was installed today.

Foley, a minority of one in a five-man City Council otherwise made up of members of the faction headed by Daniel McGlynn Jr., Republican leader, cast the only negative vote as ordinances were passed giving him the public health post, after removing supervision of garbage collection from that department.

With this $100,000-a-year project gone, he will have only one appointment under his control, that of his secretary.

Mayor John T. Connors was made Commissioner of Public Affairs and Police; John T. English of Accounts and Finance; Leo J. Dougherty of Streets and Public Improvements; and Joe W. Ganshietz of Public Property and the Fire Department. Supervision of garbage disposal was transferred to Dougherty's department.

Former Mayor James T. Crow, a member of the McGlynn faction, who did not run for re-election, was appointed City Comptroller at $285 a month. The former Comptroller, B. H. Allison, was shifted to auditor at the same salary.

NEGROES VOTE IN MIAMI ABOUT SAME AS WHITES

Special Polling Booth for Those Who Ignored Warning of Hooded Figures.

MIAMI, Fla., May 3 (AP).—Negro citizens who ignored a spectacular warning by hooded and white-robed figures not to vote in the city primary were shown in unofficial returns today to have made nearly identical selections of City Commission candidates as white voters.

A special polling booth where Negroes alone voted facilitated the analysis. A total of 616 votes were cast there, and except for one candidate the election preference by Negroes and whites were the same.

The exception was John T. Christiansen, who before the primary made public a letter to City Clerk Frank J. Kelley asking him to throw out any Negro votes that might be cast for him. Christiansen was in sixth place when returns were tabulated, but at the Negro booth he received only 23 votes.

Mayor E. C. Sewell led the ticket with 15,821 votes, 422 of which were polled at the Negro booth. The six high candidates face a runoff for three City Commission offices next Tuesday. Nine others ran in the primary.

The Negro Citizens Service League urged voting and sought police protection. Extra guards were assigned to polling places where Negroes voted, but there was no disorder.

BAR-BREAKING IN SING SING

Mail Order Physical Cultist Does His Staff for Convicts.

OSSENING, N. Y., May 3 (AP).—A man who broke an iron bar with his bare hands at Sing Sing prison brought more than 2000 gleeful convict spectators to their feet, stamping and cheering. The bar-breaking was a demonstration by Charles Atlas, strong man, who teaches physical culture by mail.

Prison officials did not say whether any convicts signed up for the course.

FRANCE EXTENDS LAW TO BAR MOST IMPORTS FROM JAPAN

Reason Said to Be Tokyo's Failure to Reciprocate Under 1938 Trade Pact.

PARIS, May 3 (AP).—France extended indefinitely by an official decree today a prohibition on Japanese importations first approved by the Commerce Ministry July 1, 1938.

The new law prohibits all importations from Japan except raw silk and raw camphor and articles approved by French consular officials in Japan.

The immediate reason for the extension of the previous order, commercial sources said, was Japan's failure to reciprocate under terms of the 1938 trade accord. Japan agreed to import as much or more French goods during 1938 as in 1936, but the French said Chinese war expenses reduced Japanese purchases.

FALLING COAL KILLS MINER

Edwin Lind Fatally Injured Near O'Fallon.

Edwin Lind, a miner, was fatally injured yesterday by a fall of coal in the St. Ellen mine near O'Fallon, where he was employed.

Another miner, Herbert Conklin, was working with him loading coal into a car, said Lind was partly buried beneath the fall. With the help of other miners, Conklin extricated him and he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where he died several hours later. Lind, 42 years old, lived at Lebanon, Ill.

ARE YOUR FALSE TEETH false friends?

1 DOES THEIR STAINED LOOK SHOUT "FALSE"?
2 DO THEY GIVE YOU "DENTURE BREATH"?
3 ARE GUMS SORE DUE TO UNCLEN PLATES?

Of course you clean your plate or bridge. You may even soak it in a mouth wash. But still your denture may be only half-clean. And unless it is truly clean and purified it can mean real trouble!

For "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors—is caused by half-clean plates. And their tell-tale stains can actually shout "false". Often they result in sore gums—and even in serious infection.

But even worse stains, food deposits, tarnish and odors are dissolved away with Polident. No acid or danger. No brushing. Your plate looks better and feels better. Denture breath is prevented—and your mouth feels fresher and sweeter.

Dentists everywhere recommend Polident to all who wear plates or removable bridges. Millions use it daily. Sold at all drugstores—3 oz. can 80¢—7 oz. can 60¢. And your money back if not delighted.

WORKS LIKE MAGIC
Do this daily—Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH Methods of Handling Schools' Administrative Business by Committee and Caucus Criticised

Survey Report Urges Reorganization of Executive Staff to Concentrate Authority; for Fewer Board Members.

By RICHARD G. BAUMHOFF of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

Methods by which the Board of Education handles its administrative business through committees of divided authority and private caucuses, are severely criticised in the report of a comprehensive survey of the school system made to the board by Dr. George D. Strayer of Teachers' College, Columbia University.

In addition to urging reorganization of the executive staff to concentrate authority in the hands of the superintendent, as proposed in a bill pending in the Legislature, the report advocates reduction of the board membership from 12 to seven, or possibly nine; substitution of a committee of the whole for the four standing committees and public discussion of school affairs.

A board of 12 is larger than the common practice in the United States, the report states. It suggests, for a board of seven—the odd number obviating tie votes—election of two members every two years, except that only one would be chosen every fourth time. Terms would run for eight years, as, with deaths and resignations, it might become possible to change the majority of the board at one election with terms as short as six years. The existing law calls for six-year terms, with four members elected every two years.

"Although the law," says the report, "places legal responsibility for control and administration of the schools in the hands of the board, the board functions almost exclusively through the mechanism of the four standing committees (of three members each)."

Power of Committees.

The committees have supervisory but not executive power, and consider practically all business before it reaches the board as a whole, the report states. There were several hundred items of business considered by the committees during the past three years and all committee actions and reports were by unanimous votes except about 10 cases, it is stated.

"Owing to this practice," the report continues, "the details of committee reports are seldom discussed at board meetings; board meetings are usually brief, and decisions are made without consideration of the large educational policies involved in the recommendations of the executive officers."

"Many matters which properly should have been handled by the executive officers in accordance with general policies adopted by the board have instead been referred to standing committees and approved by the board. The net result is that the time and energy of busy laymen are taken at board and committee meetings in connection with a large number of matters which could be handled more readily by the executive officers."

"Since a considerable number of board members attend committee sessions, particularly those of the finance and instruction committees, many matters have already been discussed and considered by a majority of the board members before their formal presentation in the form of committee reports. For this reason the board at its monthly meetings tends to accept in a rather perfunctory manner, without debate or careful consideration of underlying educational policy, a large number of actions recommended by its standing committees."

Meetings of Committees.

Ordinarily meetings of the committees are not open to the public or press.

"Committees," the report goes on, "tend to postpone action and thus permit unnecessary and undesirable delay in acting upon controversial questions. Committee actions frequently become board policy without discussion by the membership of the entire board, the result of which is policy determination by 'small boards' of three each. Committee action is employed to correct poor budgetary procedure. Committee actions are often concerned with matters of administrative detail which might better be delegated to the executive staff after adoption of general policy by the board."

"The committee system accentuates separation among the several departments rather than promoting a well co-ordinated organization. In general, standing committees seriously impair the efficiency of a board of education. When the burden of frequent committee meetings is added to the regular responsibility of board members, it becomes evident that service on the board demands considerable effort and time on the part of busy laymen."

For Schools' Best Interest.

Functions of some special committees might be replaced by action of executive officers, it is suggested, but the report approves the practice of employing a legislative representative and appointing a legislative committee of board members, when the Legislature is in session, provided they work for the best interests of the schools.

Concerning the board's practice of holding a private caucus prior to each regular meeting, which the report disapproves, the following statement is made:

"At this caucus decisions are reached on the basis of discussions among board members and on recommendation of the standing committees. This procedure denies to interested citizens the right to complete knowledge concerning the basis upon which policies are determined, and may just as certainly make it difficult, if not impossible, for representative citizens to present their case with any expectation of having their point of view given fair consideration by the board. It has been suggested to members of the survey staff that all of the limitations ordinarily associated with the holding of executive sessions are to be found in the practice of the board."

"The board should seek the co-operation of individuals and organized groups of citizens throughout the community. It is essential that even small minorities be given a hearing. The board has the further obligation to take every opportunity to acquaint the people, through the press, in appearances before organized groups, and in any other manner acceptable to the individual members, with the program which it has adopted. It should, as well, defend the professional staff in the exercise of its function."

There is a lack of co-ordination among the four principal departments—instruction, building, supply and finance—and resultant inefficiency, the report asserts, in advocating the executive reorganization as a major reform. It remarks that a Building Commissioner functioning as an independent officer, as at present, cannot help but "fail to appreciate the need for spaces or instructional facilities which will best house the activities to be carried on in the building which he designs, operates and maintains."

Under the reorganization, the board, instead of dealing directly with four independent executives, would consider matters of general policy brought up by a single executive, the superintendent.

Mrs. Whitson, Director of the Occupational Development Institute of the National Youth Administration, has had a vast amount of experience in the fine art of cooking. It is therefore particularly significant when she says "Only gas produces high cooking heat instantaneously. Gas is fast. On the other hand it can be easily controlled at any cooking temperature—even at the very low speeds to provide slow, minimum water cooking. Besides, gas is clean—pots and pans don't become blackened over modern gas burners."

SENATE VOTES NEW TRUST INDENTURE REQUIREMENTS

Measure Sent to House Also Sets Standards of Conduct for Trustees.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday a bill setting up new requirements for trust indentures and establishing standards of conduct for trustees. The vote was 40 to 16.

The measure would require that security holders have the service of "disinterested" indenture trustees. Trust indentures would be submitted to the Securities Commission and would become effective 20 days after filing unless the commission took action.

A trust indenture is a contract between a borrowing corporation, a trustee and the holders of bonds issued under the indenture. The Securities Commission backed the bill, which was sponsored on the floor by Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky.

479 Illinois Auto Fatalities.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 3 (AP).—The State Highway Division was reported that 479 persons were killed in automobile accidents in Illinois in the first quarter of this year. The toll was 5 per cent greater than during the first quarter of 1933, when 453 were killed. The figure was 3 per cent under the State's nine-year average. Traffic volume on the State's highways increased in January, February and March, 6.9 per cent over the corresponding 1933 period. March fatalities were 150 as compared with 119 in March, 1933.

40,000 CHEER LAUNCHING

OF 35,000-TON BATTLESHIP

Second of This Size, Built Under British Rearmament Plan, Named Prince of Wales.

BIRKENHEAD, England, May 3 (AP).—Forty thousand persons cheered as the second 35,000-ton battleship built under Britain's new rearmament program was launched today and named the Prince of Wales. The Princess Royal, sister of King George VI, christened the ship.

Immediately after sliding down the ways the ship broke one of its anchors. The other anchor was dropped and the ship was brought safely to rest in the middle of the River Mersey.

The Prince of Wales is a sister ship to the King George V, which the King launched at this dock, Feb. 21. The other three of this class, the Duke of York, Jellison and Beatty, are under construction. Four more battleships, which are expected to be of 40,000 tons or more, are authorized or planned by the navy.

The main armament of the Prince of Wales will be ten 14-inch guns with a secondary armament of sixteen 5.25-inch guns. Details of its armor have not been disclosed, but it is known that great attention has been paid to protection against aerial bombs.

The Prince of Wales will carry a crew of about 1500 officers and men.

ANTI-JEWISH LAW

ADOPTED IN HUNGARY

Race's Participation in Various Callings Limited, With Some Closed to Them.

BUDAPEST, May 3 (AP).—Legislation limiting participation by Jews in businesses and professions was adopted in final form today by the Hungarian Parliament.

The law was passed by a rising vote of the lower house. Deputies of Premier Count Paul Tely's party supported it almost unanimously and there was no count of the vote, the clerk merely announcing that the House had enacted one of Europe's most sweeping laws for the control of Jewish activities "by a large majority."

The upper house already had approved the final amendments so that only the signatures of the Premier, who refused to discuss the law with German officials in Berlin, and Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the regent, were required to give the law effect.

Broody speaking, the participation of Jews in business and professions was limited to 6 to 12 per cent of the total number of persons engaged in them. Some occupations were closed entirely to Jews. No Jew is to be allowed in public or Government service, and none may hold a leading position in journalism, the theater or the movies. Farm-land in excess of a half-acre owned by Jews may be appropriated by the state with compensation. Authorities reported that a prominent Jewish physician, Dr. Desno Kenedy, killed himself after the anti-Jewish law passed Parliament. He was widely known in Hungarian medical circles and had emigrated with his family to Argentina but returned to Budapest because of the climate.

The franchise of Jews is limited. They may vote only for a list of Jewish candidates, and Jewish members of Parliament may not exceed 6 per cent of the total membership.

It is expected that elections, probably to be conducted this month, will be carried out under the provisions of the new statute.

The control legislation probably will affect upward of 750,000 Hungarian Jews, but the number cannot be stated precisely because of last-minute changes in the definition of who is to be regarded as a Jew. (The estimated Hungarian population is 10,000,000.)

Exempted from the operation of the law are all Jews whose forebears have been Hungarians since 1848 and who professed the Christian religion in 1919 or before. The law also exempts those who were in the military or naval service of Hungary before 1919 and who were in the military or naval service of Hungary before 1919 and who were in the military or naval service of Hungary before 1919.

NEW TYPE OF PNEUMONIA

DESCRIBED TO PHYSICIANS

Rarely Fatal but Highly Contagious, It Does Not React to Ordinary Treatment.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 3 (AP).—Medical science is combating a new type of pneumonia which is rarely fatal but highly contagious throughout all four seasons of the year.

Dr. Herbert A. Riemann of Philadelphia described the malady yesterday to the Association of American Physicians, outlining its symptoms and explained what steps had been taken to combat the disease.

Called "atypical pneumonia" for want of a better name, it does not react to ordinary pneumonia treatments. Dr. Riemann said that the new type of pneumonia, which he found so effective in treating ordinary types, has only a slight effect on it.

General aches and a feeling of prostration are the first danger signs. Frequently patients recover before they succumb to the disease. He said that from 7 to 10 per cent also experience frontal headaches, eyes-aches, a dry cough, profuse perspiring and loss of weight.

CARDINAL NEWMAN

FOR CRIME CLEANUP

During the rise of organized crime, he said:

"Crime went into politics. Local overlords dictated the selection of men for public office. The relationship between crime and politics was winked at in high places. The support of such combinations of political power was accepted by those in high places and in return they gave to these combinations recognition, reward and still more power."

The medal was presented by Dr. John A. O'Brien, director of the Newman Foundation of the University of Illinois, which each year makes it upon an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the betterment of the community. The ceremony would be arranged for next year, he said.

Joint exercises for about 3000 graduates, he pointed out, would have a unifying effect on the school system and would permit the selection of a person of great prominence as the principal speaker.

CITY-WIDE COMMENCEMENT

FOR HIGH SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

Dr. Gerling Says It May Be Too Late to Arrange for It This Year, However.

The office of Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling is discussing with high school principals, students and students' parents the possibility of holding a single graduation ceremony for the 10 public high schools in the city in June, Dr. Gerling said today.

Dr. Gerling said that neither the Board of Education nor its Committee on Instruction, which met last night, had taken formal action on the proposal, and he considered it unlikely that plans for the unified exercises could be completed so near the end of the school year. If school administrators and patrons are receptive to the suggestion, the ceremony would be arranged for next year, he said.

Joint exercises for about 3000 graduates, he pointed out, would have a unifying effect on the school system and would permit the selection of a person of great prominence as the principal speaker.

ODOR BASIS OF SUIT TO BAR

COUNTY FERTILIZER PLANT

Missouri Dahila Farm Likely to Be Sued Backed by Improvement Association.

Suit to enjoin the Missouri Dahila Farms, St. Charles road and Kingsland avenue, Wellston, from operating a fertilizer processing plant on the ground that obnoxious odors constitute a nuisance to the public health was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach.

The suit was filed after the Mar. Del Improvement Association got signatures of 483 residents and business men in the area on a petition protesting against the plant.

Associate Prosecuting Attorney Fred E. Mueller told reporters Francis M. Davis, one of the trustees of the concern, had indicated that the plant would be moved to a new site with Davis as defendants in the action are his wife, Mrs. Amelia Davis, and his daughter, Miss Rhoda Davis.

ARMY HAS SAVED 10,000 TONS

OF SCRAP METAL AS RESERVE

Store Relatively Small, However; Japan Bought 1,900,000 Tons in U. S. in 1937.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—War Department officials disclosed yesterday that the army was building up a small reserve supply of scrap iron and steel.

All branches of the army, including the manufacturing arsenals of the Ordnance Department, the engineers and the Quartermaster Corps, were directed 14 months ago to withhold from sale large quantities of scrap metal of any description.

Until early last year, the army's output of scrap metal was sold like any other surplus material. The army has held out the relatively small quantity of 10,000 tons but officials said a principle was involved. Japan in 1937 bought 1,900,000 tons of metal scrap in this country.

NEW YORK BOND LIST

S. Governments Show Only Slightest Variations Either Way.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—The bond market made its way slowly to higher ground today.

Toward the final hour there were general signs of major traction to rise more than a point with only a handful of laggards.

Among them: Bethlehem Steel 3½s, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 4½s, Missouri Pacific 4s.

U. S. Governments showed only the slightest variation either way from Tuesday's levels. Prices and activity were extremely light.

Foreign bond funds, especially Central American, were the most active.

Milan 6½s were more than 2 points off.

Germany persisted through the final hour, holding prices close to earlier high levels.

There were a point or more up were N. Y. Central 5s at 55½, Great Northern 4s

Notes of a New Yorker

MAYOR LA GUARDIA's sudden interest in the swanky night clubs and other gay places and his instructions to close them if they continue to be the scenes of brawls and fist-fights—was for a good reason: In one Fifty-second street night club very recently (but the matter was not played up in the papers) a man was beaten—and he died! . . . Prices are starting to tilt now as a result of the Fair. Hot roast beef sandwiches all along Forty-second street have been boosted from 15 cents to a quarter. . . . Gamblers are already readying a numbers game on the Fair's daily attendance records. . . . New Republic has bought Daniel Lang's piece on television. . . . Television's two most important parts are the "microphone" and "iconoscope." . . . So Mr. Lang has aptly named his article: "Mike and Ike." . . . A chum of the column went to Rand McNally to buy the latest map of Europe the other morning. She was told by a very solemn, matter-of-fact salesman, that Rand McNally weren't having any latest maps of Europe. That Rand McNally had decided to make no further changes in their plates during Hitler's lifetime! . . . Prior to the premiere of its new spring production, a prominent night club placed a huge sign in front of the place reading: "Never before such a stupendous show! Never before such great stars all in one undertaking! Never before such lavish settings and costumes!" . . . The show flopped, however, after two performances, so now the sign reads: "Never Again!"

WALTER WINCHELL.

ANOTHER NEW dance vogue is threatened. . . . It's called "The Chamberlain Umbrella Dance"—somewhat of a tag dance in which an umbrella is a prop. . . . It caught on in New England where Bob Pooley's orchestra is said to have originated the craze. . . . The girl or boy carrying the umbrella hooks it to the elbow of some dancer on the floor, thereby taking over the partner of the hooked one for that dance. . . . A form of cut-in. . . . The one hooked, in turn, chases around repeating the procedure until the music stops. . . . The person caught with the umbrella when the music stops must get up and sing a chorus of "Umbrella Man." . . . What makes it a crowd-enticer is this: The person who has to "sing" may impress the management or the orchestra leader, and before the singer knows it he or she is in show business!

THE BILLY ROSE-Chorus Girls' Union controversy, which was settled amicably with a minimum of hollering, revealed this fact. . . . That the most active girl-engager in show business might have shelled everything—if he received no consideration at all. . . . "I can always get a job in Hollywood writing movies or songs or producing epics," he groaned, "and I doubt that any of you can. I can chuck all of this, you know." . . . Ralph Whitehead, the executive-secretary for the A. F. A. (the chorus girls' union) tactfully remarked: "None of us would want you to do that. We know you make it possible for hundreds of people to work in theaters and night clubs." . . . And so it was settled by a columnist serving as one-man arbitrator, who gave the girls everything they hoped for—except back rehearsal money (a matter of about $22,000, which they probably will receive anyhow—at the end of the season—if Rose's "Aquacade" attraction makes a sufficient profit.

The Tango Promenade

By ARTHUR MURRAY

From His Book, "How to Become a Good Dancer"

CHAPTER 25.

THE tango has been danced for many years as a very elaborate exhibition dance by professionals who have made it appear a very difficult and complicated affair. As a result of seeing such performances, many people have received the impression that the tango was far beyond their depth, and they have been reluctant to try it.

The original tango, which came from the Argentine, was a difficult step, and the French adaptation of it was almost as difficult. The Americanized version, however, is a very simple ballroom dance which you should have no trouble at all in learning. The steps are somewhat similar to those used in the waltz and fox trot, and I have arranged the tango here so that anyone who has mastered these dances will be able to go on easily to the tango.

The deliberate manner in which the tango is danced will enable you to develop very quickly the necessary co-ordination between mind and feet. And the poised, balanced and sense of rhythm that this beautiful step will give you will enhance all your dancing.

The tango has three basic movements:

1. The promenade, or walking step.
2. The chace, or side step.
3. The corte, or dip.

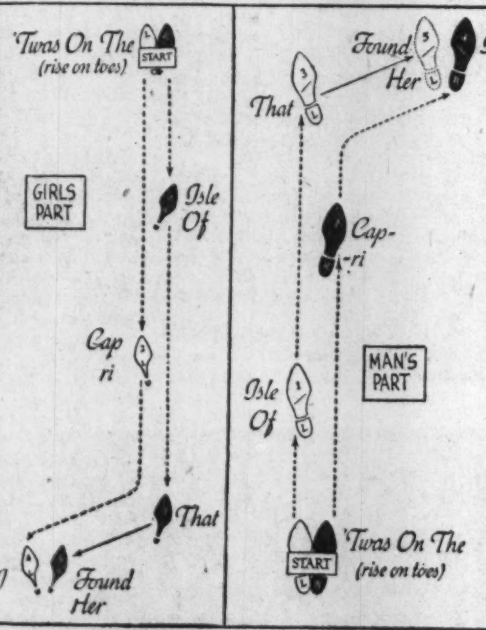

The rhythm of tango music is similar to that of the fox trot, but it is usually played much more slowly. The steps are divided into slow and quick movements.

The slow step takes about a second, and is given two beats of the music. The quick step is twice as fast as a slow step, and it is given only one beat of the music.

Generally speaking, the tango walking step is not very different from the one you have already learned in the fox trot. Tango steps, though, even in a ballroom version, should have something of the long, swinging, graceful strides of the hard-driving gauchos who originated the dance in the pampas country.

There are two points to remember in the tango walking step:

1. Place one foot directly in front of the other, and turn the toes out.
2. As you step forward with one foot, bring the other foot forward after it with a long, easy motion. Swing the shoulder opposite to the forward-moving foot in a forward direction. (Left foot forward—right shoulder forward, etc.)

Now practice the tango walking step as follows:

- 1—Walk forward slowly on left foot.
- 2—Walk forward slowly on right foot.
- 3—Step forward quickly with left foot.

Girls should practice this lesson using the man's footprints before attempting the girl's part, which is done as follows:

- 1—Walk slowly backward on right foot.
- 2—Take a long step backward on left foot.
- 3—Step directly backward quickly with right foot.

- 5—Draw right foot up to left quickly, with no weight on right. This step should be practiced for 30 minutes.

Tomorrow—The Chace in the Tango.

The Slow Child

Work Does Not Brighten

By Angelo Patri

"MRS., can Nollie come out to play?"

"No, I'm sorry, but Nollie didn't do his work in school today, so he has to stay in now and do it."

"Oh, all right."

The small boy turned away from the door and walked sedately to the gate, dashed through and yelled, "Nope. She won't let him come. She's making him do his school lessons."

"Gee!"

"Yeah. That's what she said."

"Gee! He hasn't been out this whole spring. Not once even. I'd run away if my mother did that to me. You can bet I wouldn't stay in like that."

"Yeah. But my mother wouldn't make me stay in. She'd make me do my lessons, but she wouldn't make me stay in all the time. No wonder he's so dopey and skinny. You know what? I'm going to get him out. Wait for me here."

The small boy went around the house and stood under a window and whistled. Another small boy looked down at him. "Come on out. You can shhiny down the post easy, and I'll catch you 'fore you hit the ground. Come on."

The small boy at the window shook his head. No light shone in his eyes, no eagerness shook his dot tones. No, I don't want to go out. I'd rather stay in."

Incredibly kept the small boy standing under the window silent. He tried again when he got his breath back. "Nope. I'd rather stay in," said the dull voice. The window closed and the astonished little boy below it went back to the lot. "Nope. He doesn't want to come out. He says so his own self."

"No wonder. Much a dope. Come on. Play with me."

Nollie was slow in school. When the teacher gave the class 10 examples he had only three finished when the bell rang. "You take them home and do them and five more beside," said the teacher.

"We've got to learn to work," said the teacher. "You take the 20 words to the class Nollie had four written, correctly. 'You take the list home and you write every word 10 times and you take 10 extra ones not for finishing in time. You've got to learn to speed up and get your work done.'"

By the end of the day Nollie had piled up enough back work to keep an ordinary child busy for several days, and he was not the ordinary boy. He was a rather helpless, slow child who needed extra care, special attention and much encouragement.

The teacher mistakenly punished him with extra work and his mother, mistakenly, tried to help by insisting that this work be done.

Writing words 10 times does not teach a child to spell. It teaches him to be careless about penmanship and to disregard the form of words. Doing extra work does not brighten a slow child's mind, but dulls it. Instead of giving such a child more work he should be given less. Keeping him in to do school work instead of sending him out to play does not help brighten him. It increases the cause for his dullness and makes him worse all the way round. He needs a shorter school day, a curtailed assignment, plenty of free play in the open, and much, much encouragement. His will is not at fault. His condition is responsible, not he.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, May 4.

THIS can be made the best day of the week. The expansive feelings are true, but not quite as strong as might be desired. But take them for what they are worth, in finances and all things constructive. Be on the upbuilding side all day.

The Circle of Hatred.

The way a parent reacts to a given stimulus in bringing up his child is far more important to the child than to the adult, for it teaches the child that particular interpretation of what he is—the stimulus is more fundamental than the basic character. More nearly like our root horoscope. Children taught hatred during a war are going to hate all their lives.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from your anniversary today may seem limiting, delaying, but don't force and don't make hurried changes—reasons for wise patience will appear later. Plan ahead. Seek some isolation. Danger: Oct. 13-27; Feb. 23-March 13, 1940.

Friday.

Control feelings; don't rush; many opportunities for the wise and generous.

Tomorrow—The Chace in the Tango.

SUMMER FROCKS OF COTTON

Fabric Once Discussed in Apologetic Tones Now Ranks High in Fashion World

THERE'S no need to talk of a cotton frock in hushed tones this summer, apologizing for it as if it were a house dress and explaining that it was purchased because nothing is quite so tubbable and satisfactory for St. Louis heat as a simple little cotton model!

Cotton has moved to such a new high in the fashion world that your best friend's best costume is likely to be made of seersucker, pique or even gingham. Perhaps she's fooling you this very day by rushing the season with a handsome frock that looks like a sheer wollen or a dull-finished silk when it actually belongs to the plebeian homespun family.

St. Louis women have been wearing cotton frocks summer after summer, but the majority of them have done little boasting about their choice of hot-weather attire. They have thought of utility first and attractiveness second. In fact, many of them haven't been very selective about their purchases or very demanding as to style-rightness. If they get satisfactory answers to questions about fading, shrinking and durability they literally shut their eyes to exact fitting, details of tailoring and silhouette.

Sometimes they fail to pay attention to becomingness of colorings or to appropriateness of types for various occasions. They've taken summer cottons with the same sort of resignation that they accept summer temperatures—something inevitable unless they pack up their woolsens and go to a cool climate.

During the last few years there has been a gradual change in the styling of cotton fabrics, but it has been too gradual for women to be startled by it. When a sensational fabric was introduced the designers were reluctant to hail it as cotton for fear its acceptance would be thwarted. So they used fancy names and otherwise did their best to lure the summer shopper.

Now cottons can be heralded as cottons without any shame. We're back to the fashions of another era when cotton really was queen of the fabrics and when a tissue gingham street frock or an eyelet basket evening gown was the favorite that a woman could wear.

Cottons have acquired a revived importance and there are plenty of important cottons!

Although the summer fashion season has scarcely begun, many St. Louis women have donned their cotton frocks. You may not have guessed this, because these dresses are designed with expert skill and the materials themselves are most distinctive. Consider that model at right of the panel, for example.

Several that are similarly styled have been worn at important functions by well-dressed St. Louis women during the past week. The material looks like a sheer wool alpaca, but the creator proudly announces that it is entirely of cotton threads.

Shades are interesting, too. There are soft tones of blue and a luscious raspberry tint from which to choose. The skirt is circular with cleverly designed fullness swinging to the front. The fichu ruffled at collar is of white pique and tucked as carefully as a Gay Nineties belle would have demanded. Cuffs on the short sleeves are similarly adorned. A white pique bow trims the belt and there is a jeweled elephant on the collar.

The printed cotton frock worn by the figure at the top of the panel is sufficiently impressive for the most formal of daytime occasions. The old-fashioned daisy flower print in multicolors appears on a sheer seersucker background. To enhance its quaint charm black velvet ribbon is beaded through embroidered fabric bands to trim the square neckline and sleeves.

A placed at either side of the front of the blouse and are bound with the contrasting shade. The tailored front is similarly trimmed. Tucks mark the flaring godets at the front of the skirt. A wide band of blue calfskin. A linen hat which combines the tones of the frock is an ideal addition to this costume.

The third frock sketched is a homespun combining a hyacinth blue skirt with a pink blouse. Several other color combinations that are equally as effective are available. There are petticoat dresses of ham models for play, for the street and for dancing, and many other important-looking styles which indicate the trend for summer.

Hollywood Happenings

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, May 3.

IN WRITING blurbs about "The Old Maid," Warner Brothers' publicists must see that Miriam Hopkins gets an even break with Bette Davis. As the picture went into production, each press agent received a memorandum: "Under no circumstances shall Miriam Hopkins' name be mentioned except as the co-star with Bette Davis." That may account in some measure for the lack of expected fireworks on the set.

Miriam took the precaution of protecting her billing interests in advance.

First instance of a free-lance player dictating a picture's budget came in the signing of Edward Ellis to play in "Abraham Lincoln Boggus" for Republic. Before agreeing to act in it, Ellis insisted the studio spend $400,000 instead of the $300,000 originally allotted for production cost.

Add comebacks of 1939: Mickey Daniels, freckle-faced former chief mischief maker of Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, who is to play comedy lead in "Tidal Wave" Nov. 24, and married Mickey still is plentifully spotted and, except for added height, looks little different.

At May Robson's recent seventy-fifth birthday celebration attended by several hundred industry celebrities, Miss Robson revealed she hasn't missed a season of show trouping since 1883. Also that, while she is immediately associated with drunken old hags on the screen, she never has tasted a drop of liquor or puffed a cigarette in all her life.

Her professional name is the result of a typographical error in a theatrical program when she made her first appearance on a stage in Brooklyn in a play called "Hoop of Gold." Rightfully it is Mary Robison. When she protested, associates assured her it was a bad omen for a beginner to rectify such a mistake and convinced her it would bring luck to retain the piddling billing.

An epidemic of sore throats, with subsequent tonsil operations, is sweeping the colony, and Dr. Joel Pressman, husband of Claudette Colbert, finds it no professional handicap to be married to a glamorous star, for he's getting practically all the important actor patients.

Doug (Wrong-Way) Corrigan is disgusted with himself as a movie actor, and, viewing meager returns from "The Flying Irishman," RKO has not been disposed to grab its option on him for a second feature. The same studio has also pulled off on negotiations to star Eddie Cantor to do a comedy feature.

First story treatment on "It Can't Happen Here" has been finished, and those who've read the script say it will prove the greatest influence the screen has ever exerted for freedom of the press. Lewis Stone will drop his Judge Hardy mantle momentarily while he impersonates Editor Doremus Jessup, whose bold and unimpaired opinions save the country and point to press freedom as the most important factor in the democratic set-up.

Sprain means pain—and that kind of pain calls for Penorub to bring quick relief. It's soothing, cooling, refreshing—penetrates the superficial layers of the skin—and "it sure does feel good." 25c. 50c. 75c. Sold by dealers everywhere. Try

Treatment for Round-Worms
Is Very SimpleParasite Often Enters Body When Child Places Dirt in Mouth.By Logan Clendening, M.D.

SCIENCE believes that the parasites which are found in man's body have existed as long as man. Avicenna, the Arabian physician who was born in 981 A. D., gave a very good description of the round-worm.

Any mother or housewife could describe it, but to construct its life cycle was a real piece of research. The life cycle of all parasites is complicated. If parasites could think and observe what is going on they would lead the most exciting lives in the whole animal kingdom.

For instance, the round-worm. Unless a round-worm finds a human host, it leads a completely different life. It can live on the cold ground, in ponds, rivers or plants, but it does not under these circumstances grow or reproduce.

It is extremely resistant to chemicals, and my friend, Prof. J. B. Day, who has devoted his life to the study of worms, showed me last year a round-worm that he had kept in a solution of formaldehyde for 48 hours.

It may enter the body from eating contaminated fruit. But, curiously, the usual way is by eating dirt. Strange as this sounds, children habitually pick up dirt and eat it.

The parasite passes through the stomach, and in the upper part of the intestine it goes through a varied performance. The larvae worms work their way through the wall of the intestines, enter the blood stream and get to the lungs. A condition that closely resembles pneumonia often results. The parasite who is thus afflicted coughs up the worms, swallows some of them and in the intestine they start life all over again. By this time they are so adult that they do not attempt to penetrate the intestine any more, but are dormant.

Diagnosis in the late stage is easy, but during the period when the worms are in the lungs many a doctor has been fooled into calling the syndrome pneumonia. The mother has a much better chance of making the proper diagnosis providing that she knows of the possibility of round-worm infection of the lungs, because she is more likely to see the worms coughed up.

Treatment is very simple and satisfactory. In spite of the fact that Prof. Day's worm lived in formaldehyde, there is one chemical that the round-worm cannot stand. That is oil of chenopodium; it is given in doses of three to five minims.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 4.—Lloyd C. Stark's Kansas City bill, taking the Police Department out of the hands of the Pendergast political machine and placing it under State control, was perfected in the House after two days of effort by Kansas City Representatives to wreck it by damaging amendments. The bill was not injured in process.

At the last moment there was a scramble of rural legislators, some from St. Louis, who had reported the Kansas City machine amendments, to vote for the bill that they might have the record of having supported the Governor. The roll call showed 104 members voting for the perfection of the bill, 33 against it and 14 either sent or not voting. On the amendments the Governor's supporters generally had about 35 votes, indicating that about 20 members to cover on the perfection roll.

For May 27 Adjournment. After the vote on perfection, Majority Floor Leader Roy Hamblinn, an opponent of the bill, took advantage of the temporary absence from the House of W. B. Weakley of Pike County, to introduce a resolution for adjournment of the Legislature May 27.

With the aid of Speaker Chas. W. McDaniel, the resolution was adopted by the House, and the protest of Representative Raymond R. Caldwell of Ralls County, who insisted that it would be impossible to get the bill to the Senate and for it to reach a vote by that date.

The resolution took the House by surprise, but it was adopted by a standing vote, receiving 103 yeas. There was no call for the yeas. The Republicans, who had supported the bill as a unit, generally voted for the adjournment resolution, thus taking a position which could easily undo all that was accomplished through their support of the bill on perfection. To be effective the resolution must be adopted by the Senate. It is customary for the House to adopt such resolutions and for the Senate to take no action on them until the House decides to adjourn and then for the Senate to adopt a new resolution and send it to the House for its action.

With a bill bitterly contested as this, however, the Senate may agree to the House resolution to avoid voting on the bill. How the Members Voted. Members who voted with the Pendergast machine Tuesday in an effort to obtain adoption of an amendment which would have permitted the act to a vote in Kansas City, but who rushed to be re-elected by voting with the Governor's faction of the bill, are: Arnold of Stoddard, Cleaton of Sullivan, Cooper of Nodaway, Gentry of St. Clair, Hale of Schuyler, Henry of Bates, Murry of Macdonald, and Studman of Shelby, Reed of Boone. Those who were absent in support of their seats without voting on the bill for perfection of the bill, are: John T. Hughes of St. Louis, Ralph L. Ivanhoe of St. Louis, Richard of Clay, Parrish of Green, Michael J. Smith of St. Louis, Robert M. Uxa of St. Louis and Ward of Ray.

St. Louis members split on the perfection vote. Eight voted against the measure, seven against it. Those voting with the Governor were: J. Jules Brinkman, Don Ferguson, David A. Hess, Hugh Mahoe, Dr. Jerry Novak, Smith Uxa. Those voting against the Governor
